Embezzlement Is Charge in Indiana.

M. J. Insull Wins Delay

TORONTO.—Canadian judge reserves judgment on Martin Insull's petition for freedom under writ of habeas corpus. Judge indicates final decision faces considerable delay.

ATHENS.—Samuel Insull plans to go to England after permit to reside in Greece expires.

CHICAGO.—Federal Judge Evans takes under advisement the question of allowing fees to receiver for Insull Utility Investments, Inc., involved in charges of collusion in his appointment.

Charges that the treasury of the Northern Indiana Public Service company, prosperous operating electrical unit, was looted for the benefit of Insull holding companies were made yesterday in a report by the Lake county, Indiana, grand jury to Judge William J. Murray at Crown Point.

The grand jury also voted seven indictments against officials and directors of the operating utility. The names were ordered suppressed by Judge Murray, but it was reported last night that Samuel Insull Jr., vice chairman of the corporation, and Morse Dell-Plain, president, were among the accused.

Among the specific allegations in the report were:

1. That a bookkeeping error of $10,600,000 was purposely made to deceive the Indiana public service commission and justify high rates for service.

2. That huge expense accounts for certain officials, covering trips to California and Atlantic City and the sending of vast quantities of flowers to hotels, were an unjustified charge against Northern Indiana Public Service.

3. That properties, in many instances worthless, and without exception worth far less than the value charged, were transferred to the treasury of Northern Indiana through a system of interlocking directorates. This was done, the report declared, to "milk Northern Indiana Public Service of surplus earnings."

4. That the funds and assets of the operating company are still being "constantly depleted by the domination of Midland Utilities and other parent organizations of the Insull group."

Rate Cut Suggested.

The grand jury asserted that it was convinced that Northern Indiana Public Service company, if not burdened with the task of supporting holding companies and helping weaker affiliates, could serve the public efficiently at rates 50 per cent below those now charged. It was suggested that the Indiana public service commission and the federal government take up the investigation to see that the rights of the consumers are cared for.

In the Insull utility empire setup Northern Indiana Public Service was controlled by Midland Utilities, a holding company with offices nominally in Indianapolis, but with its destinies actually controlled from Insull's office here. Midland Utilities was in turn controlled by Midland United company, the common stock of which was owned by Commonwealth Edison company, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, and Middle West Utilities company.

It was through interlocking directorates that the managements of the operating unit and the holding companies were able to transfer assets at will and, according to the grand jury, always to the detriment of the supporting company at the bottom, which produced and sold electricity while the holding companies took the cream of the profits.

Report Juggled.

The $10,000,000 figure jugglery, it was alleged, was made in the 1929 report to the state public service commission. There appeared an item, the grand jurors wrote, showing $7,320,000 as a balance invested from surplus earnings and reserves. This item should have been carried as a red ink figure of $2,679,000.

Somewhat involved, the explanation was that the company had received from the sale of securities much more than it invested in plants and other physical equipment, and that large sums were turned over to the Midland Utilities. Thus the inclusion of this money as investment in plant was deceptive, it was claimed.

Also, it is alleged in the report that the reports made to the public

Teachers Will Get Christmas Pay

Banks Make School Loan; Rush Checks

A Christmas pay day for 14,000 teachers and 4,000 other school employes in Chicago was assured last night. Mayor Kelly and President McCahey of the board of education made the announcement following all day conferences that five loop banks had agreed to supply the $1,860,000 needed for the pay roll.

The pay day is for the first two weeks of April of this year. McCahey said that every effort would be made to place the checks in the mail today. The checks are ready, having been prepared for several months, and the only possible delay will be in winding up the final details with the banks.

The banks agreed to purchase $1,860,000 in school board tax anticipation warrants. The total pay roll for the two weeks period is $2,078,946 and the board has sufficient cash on hand to cover the remainder.

A Two Weeks' Campaign.

Efforts to bring about a school pay day by Christmas began two weeks ago. Through threats of eviction, three lessees of school property in the loop paid up $90,000 in back rents to a special committee headed by Trustee Andrew O. Jackson. The next step was the sale of $103,000 worth of warrants to the telephone company by McCahey.

Then started the daily conferences with the bankers. Among those who participated were the mayor, McCahey, City Controller Upham, Frank S. Righeimer, special counsel for the school board, and City Treasurer James A. Kearns.

The final word from the banks was flashed to the officials waiting in the mayor's office at 6:15 o'clock last night. The banking officials had been in executive session during the late afternoon.

Banks Divide Up Purchases.

The banks that agreed to purchase the school securities were the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, First National, Harris Trust and Savings, Northern Trust company, and the City National. The percentage of the total amount to be purchased by each bank is as follows: Continental, 39.8; First National, 36.4; Northern Trust, 11.2; Harris Trust, 7.5 and City National, 5.1.

Mayor Kelly expressed satisfaction over the bankers' action and declared that the plan to sell the school board's $40,000,000 worth of bonds should be pushed through as rapidly as possible.

The mayor's plan is to sell the bonds to the federal government, offering as additional security about $30,000,000 worth of school property in Chicago that is not used for school purposes. The program will require legislation both by congress and the Illinois legislature.

22 Millions Due in Wages.

With the coming Christmas pay roll subtracted, the pay roll obligations of the board of education will total approximately $22,000,000 at the end of the year. If the school bonds are sold all back salaries could be paid and the board could go a long way toward financing the 1934 pay rolls.

Practically all the $30,000,000 borrowing power of the school board in anticipation of its 1933 taxes will be used up in the present pay day.

The teachers and other school employes, including the engineers, janitors, firemen, and clerks have received one month's compensation in cash this year up to the forthcoming pay roll. They have also received two months' pay in tax anticipation warrants which the school workers were obliged in many cases to sell at a discount of ten per cent.

Canal Board Pays in Full.

The 900 employés of the sanitary district will be paid up to date today, according to the announcement of Trustee Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the finance committee. The cash for the $240,000 pay roll was obtained through the sale of 1933 tax anticipation warrants. The south park board is the only other major municipality in the city with its pay roll obligations met up to date.

Checks are being distributed to the city employés for the last two weeks in September. The pay roll for the first half of September was met last week.

Four thousand employés of the county board, who had been promised a pay day yesterday, will be compelled to wait until Friday because it will take longer to prepare the pay roll than had been anticipated.

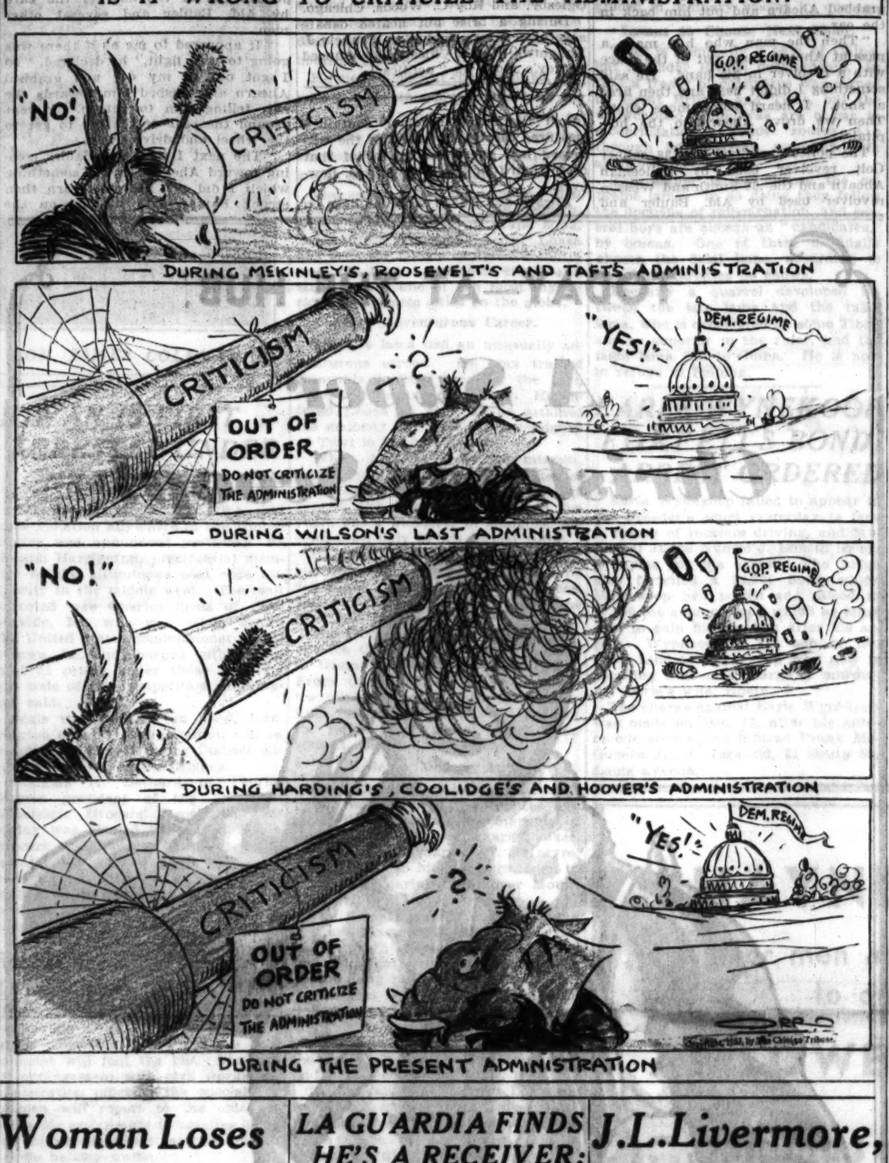
IS IT WRONG TO CRITICIZE THE ADMINISTRATION?



Woman Loses Fight to Save 2 on Ice Boat

Far from human aid, caught in a driving rainstorm and the cold waters of Fox river, two men and a woman fought a gallant but losing battle last night against the forces of nature.

Both the men, John Pendl, 48 years old, Lake county deputy sheriff, and his son, Frank, 20 years old, were drowned. Left to carry the news of their tragic death to the authorities was Mrs. John Pendl, who had made a heroic effort to drag them from the river after they had plunged through the thin, mushy ice that lay over it.

Fatal Accident Near Home.

The Pendl family home is a little cottage on the banks of the river, six miles west of Antioch, and the fatal accident occurred only a few hundred feet from the doorstep.

About ten days ago, when the river froze, Pendl and his son constructed what they called an ice yacht. It was a crude contraption, hardly more than a sled. It had iron runners and the two men, who were experienced hunters and trappers, enjoyed gliding over the ice on it. One would push and the other ride.

Last night, disregarding the rain, they left in this craft to visit a neighbor a few miles down the stream. They were returning home when Mrs. Pendl, alone in the cottage, heard cries for help. She recognized the voices of her husband and son, and ran out.

Goes Back to Aid Son.

With difficulty Mrs. Pendl descried both men clinging to the edges of the thin ice. Seizing a long rope she hurried out to them. Approaching as closely as she dared, she tossed the end of the lifeline to her husband. With its aid he drew himself out of the water, caught a breath or two and then crawled around to the spot where Frank was trying to pull himself up.

The move was unfortunate. Under the weight of both the ice gave way again. This time the father and son stayed under.

Mrs. Pendl, left alone, ran nearly a mile through dense swamp and the rain to the home of Mrs. Frank Hays, a neighbor, to tell of the tragedy.

LA GUARDIA FINDS HE'S A RECEIVER; NO BRASS BAND

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Maj. Fiorello H. La Guardia, mayor elect of New York, tonight exposed himself as something of a wisecracker before 1,200 persons at a banquet in his honor reminiscent of the former Mayor James J. Walker.

In announcing there will be no special ceremony at his inauguration on Jan. 1 Mr. La Guardia said:

"I never have heard of a receiver taking possession of a business with a brass band."

When a champagne cork popped and the audience yelled the mayor elect halted his speech and said in the best Jimmy Walker style:

"The La Guardia administration has been properly christened."

"Ordinarily one looks forward to inauguration day," Mr. La Guardia continued, "but in this case there seems little to enjoy left in city hall, and what little there is is rapidly being taken away."

At another point he remarked that it made him feel "timid" to see so many bankers before him.

"I used to have," he added, repeating those words for emphasis, "great regard for bankers. But they're only human after all."

New York, Dec. 20 (Wednesday).—The police sent out a confidential message over the teletype system at 2:30 o'clock this morning saying that Jesse L. Livermore, the stock market operator, of 1100 Park avenue, is missing and has not been seen since 3 p. m. yesterday when the stock exchange closed.

The message was broadcast about an hour and a half after two detectives had been sent to the Livermore apartment at the corner of 89th street and Park avenue in response to a telephone call.

Wife Is Alarmed.

The message gave no details beyond a brief description of Mr. Livermore, giving his age as 56. However, it was said his wife, the former Mrs. A. Warren Noble, concert singer, had become alarmed because she had not received the hourly telephone calls which her husband had been in the habit of making lately while he was away from home.

Also it was reported that Mr. Livermore, a center of interest in many of the wide fluctuations of the stock market during the last twenty years, had failed to keep an appointment with a friend at the Waldorf yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Livermore was described as being 5 feet 11 inches tall, with blue eyes and fair complexion. He wore a brown suit, white shirt with collar attached, brown and red tie, brown low shoes, gray kid gloves, and blue soft hat.

Made $3,000,000 in Day.

Mr. Livermore was known at one time as "the boy plunger" who made and lost more than $3,000,000 in a single day after starting on "a shoestring" in New England.

On Sept. 16, 1932, he was divorced by Mrs. Dorothea Fox Wendt Livermore, who received a decree in Reno. She had charged deseration. A few minutes after she obtained the decree she was married to Walter Longcope of this city, a prohibition undercover agent in 1927.

Sax was driving to his home at 3300 Lake Shore drive. He had driven through a red light shortly before the other car overtook him and believed its occupants to be policemen.

PATH OF LIQUOR BILL CLOGGED BY AMENDMENTS

Total of 158 Forces Adjournment.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Several obstacles were encountered tonight in efforts to revise the Horner administration liquor control bill by a process of multiple amendments in the state senate.

Many of the 64 amendments resulting from the Horner-Kelly conference last Sunday, and others suggested for technical reasons by the legislative reference bureau, were adopted with little controversy, but some of the most important ran into such hostility that further consideration of them was postponed until tomorrow.

In addition, after working part of the afternoon and the entire evening the senate still had to consider another 94 proposed amendments introduced by individual members, the combined total of 158 being the largest seen in Springfield in many years. The second batch of 94 had not been printed, so they could not be considered tonight.

Forced to Adjourn.

The senate was forced to adjourn for the night, thereby shattering the early day thought that the revised bill might be sent up to third reading before midnight so that a final vote could be had tomorrow, passage in that event meaning that the bill would be ready for its last test in the house of representatives.

The most serious opposition on one of the major proposals, which forced a day's delay upon it, came on the Horner-Kelly amendment placing the licensing and revoking power in the hands of mayors, village presidents and county board presidents, instead of in the hands of the legislative bodies of the local governments such as the councils of cities.

Language of Proposal.

Part of the language of this proposed change follows:

"Unless the council, the president, and board of trustees of the county board, as the case may be, shall for good cause otherwise provide, the mayor or president of the board of trustees of each city, village, or incorporated town and the president or the chairman of the county board, shall be the local liquor control commissioner for their respective cities, villages, incorporated towns, and counties, and shall be charged with the administration in their respective jurisdictions of the appropriate provisions of this act, etc."

Another important section tied up was the one fixing the state gallonage taxes—there was emphatic protest against a Horner amendment to tax whisky 50 cents a gallon instead of 25 cents, as provided in the bill when it was passed by the house. Still another delayed section was the one to fix state license fees.

Kelly Plan Delayed.

"Sec. 8—Any order or action of a local commission granting or refusing to grant a license may be appealed from by any resident of the political subdivision under the jurisdiction of such local commission or any person interested, the state commission after such order, in which the matter of the propriety of such order or action of such local commission shall be tried de novo as expeditiously as the circumstances permit. Except in a city, village or incorporated town having a population of over 500,000 inhabitants, any order or action of a local commission revoking a license or refusing to revoke a license or refusing to grant a hearing upon a complaint to revoke a license, shall be appealable in like manner to the state commission. In cities, villages and incorporated towns of over 500,000 inhabitants, such appeal shall lie to the Circuit or Superior court of the county in which the premises licensed are situated."

Determine Location of Licenses.

Another of the Horner-Kelly amendments bearing on the powers of the various local commissioners read as follows:

"Determine the location of local licenses which shall be issued in the interest of public good and convenience in the territory within his jurisdiction

ALDERMAN SET FREE ON BAIL IN SHOOTING CASE

A charge of assault with intent to murder was placed last evening against Ald. Mathias [Paddy] Bauler of the 43d ward who shot and severely wounded Policeman John J. Ahearn in front of Bauler's cabaret and tavern at 343 West North avenue early yesterday morning.

The alderman was released after a $5,000 bond had been provided for him. He had been taken into custody by the police a short time after the shooting and held until the bond was provided by Mrs. Tillie Bauler, wife of his brother, John. The bond was approved by Municipal Judge Robert J. Dunne. Bauler slipped out the back door of the Hudson avenue police station and disappeared alone into the dusk. He is to be arraigned in the Felony court today.

His Saloon Is Closed.

His big saloon, opened a few months ago in the building formerly occupied by the Immigrant State bank, was closed last night on orders of Police Commissioner Allman. It will not reopen. Mayor Kelly upheld the commissioner's recommendation that Bauler's beer sale, food dispensing, and cabaret licenses be revoked. The mayor also announced that the alderman's application for a liquor dealer's license would be denied.

The assault charge was placed against the alderman after several witnesses testified that he fired first at Policeman Ahearn. The latter returned the fire and one of his bullets struck Assistant Sheriff Frank Wright who was standing nearby with Sheriff William D. Meyering. Bauler was unhurt.

Both Seriously Wounded.

Both Ahearn and Wright were badly wounded. First reports that the policeman received only a minor wound were denied by physicians at the Alexian Brothers' hospital. The bullet struck Ahearn in the right hip and described a circular course around the body, lodging near the spine on the left side. Even if he recovers, Ahearn may be crippled for life, it was said.

Wright, who is secretary as well as chief assistant to Sheriff Meyering, was given only a fifty-fifty chance to live by doctors at St. Joseph's hospital. The bullet passed through his body, piercing his right lung and liver.

Many Conflicting Statements.

Much difficulty was experienced by the police in obtaining a clear story of what had happened. It seemed obvious that an alcoholic fog had dimmed the sight of some of the witnesses and that a reluctance to involve persons prominent in the political world had influenced the testimony of others.

After twelve hours of questioning and cross-examination, the investigators had in their hands scores of conflicting statements. Sifting these, the police came to the conclusion which led them to book Ald. Bauler for the shooting. Commissioner Allman, after weighing the evidence, took their stars from Policeman Ahearn and Policeman Edward Hayes, his partner, who was present at the shooting. The commissioner suspended the policemen temporarily.

Background of Shooting.

Some preliminary explanation must be presented if the reader is to be given a clear picture of what happened at the corner of Sedgwick street and North avenue some time before daybreak yesterday and why a number of political notables happened to be present when the bullets began flying.

Two "Christmas basket fund" entertainments were scheduled for Monday night. The number of these entertainments is limited each year only by the number of ward committeemen—Republican and Democratic—in Chicago. They are designed to accumulate funds with which baskets of food are purchased for deserving voters in the ward.

It has been a pleasing custom for the political leaders to lend their presence to these entertainments and thus stimulate profits. The social obligations of the leaders were further complicated on Monday evening by the fact that a wake was being held for Frank T. Ford, a police lieutenant.

Bauler Master of Ceremonies.

The program of the evening called for a visit to the bier of Lieut. Ford, a stop at the Belmont theater, where County Commissioner Charles H. Weber was in charge of the Christmas basket festivities, and finally a trip to the Plaza theater, 320 West North avenue, where the jovial Ald. Bauler was master of ceremonies at the 43d Ward Democratic club Christmas basket benefit celebration.

Some of the leaders, including Mayor Kelly, discharged their duties expeditiously and departed for home, thus missing the early morning excitement at the Bauler saloon. Others varied the monotony of the amateur theatricals at the Christmas basket shows by stops at Commissioner Weber's tavern at Southport and Oakdale avenues and other places where refreshments might be obtained.

When the 43rd ward entertainment at the Plaza theater ended about 1 o'clock in the morning, many of the crowd wandered joyfully half a block westward to the Bauler saloon. Three hours later, there were many still present, roaring at the humor of Host Bauler, who includes among his specialties a number of lusty ballads.

Policemen Visit Taverns.

In the meantime, Policemen Ahearn and Hayes also were touring the north side, according to the evidence gathered from their own stories. They picked up Miss Mary L. Tyler, 1209 Sherwin avenue, a cousin of Ahearn, who has been courted for some months by Policeman Hayes. They visited four or five taverns, they said, including the Weber saloon, and decided, about 3:30 a. m., to drop in at Ald. Bauler's place.

Within the brightly lighted Bauler saloon, dozens of celebrants were toasting each other in one final round when the coupe containing the two policemen and Miss Tyler drew up.

When questions concerning the sobriety of the principals in the shooting were asked, the uniform statement was made that none was intoxicated. Despite the number of places visited previous to that hour, Policeman Hayes said he was "perfectly sober" and that his partner, Ahearn, "appeared to be." Ald. Bauler, also, according to his friends, had drunk only a little beer.

At 3:55 a. m. Policemen Ahearn and Hayes and Miss Tyler appeared in the vestibule of the Bauler saloon and demanded entrance. The door was locked and Ald. Bauler from within waved to them to go away. Policeman Hayes and Miss Tyler went back to their car, but Ahearn insisted that he saw Sheriff Meyering within and wanted to have a drink with him.

Accept Version of Witnesses.

Thus far the statements of witnesses were not contradictory. What happened from then on is partly lost in a maze of conflicting statements.

The theory finally adopted by the police and assistant state's attorneys in charge of the case was based upon what a majority of the witnesses said. This story did not coincide in its details with what Ald. Bauler or Policeman Ahearn said had happened, but the investigators were inclined to believe that it most nearly approached the truth.

Policeman Ahearn insisted upon gaining entrance, according to this story, and finally Bauler, accompanied by others, came to the door and told him to move on. A quarrel ensued, during which Ahearn called Bauler a few names. Policeman Hayes tried to persuade Ahearn to withdraw and pulled him out on the sidewalk.

Policeman Is Wounded.

Ald. Bauler then either procured a revolver or pulled one from his pocket, according to the testimony. Ahearn swung at him and hit him in the shoulder. Then Ahearn was pushed into his automobile, and as he was sitting there or getting in the alderman fired two shots, one of which wounded the policeman.

Ahearn then drew his own gun and also fired two shots. His aim was wild and one bullet struck Deputy Sheriff Wright, standing at one side, felling him.

In a fragmentary statement made to the police soon thereafter Ald. Bauler asserted that he had been knocked down and fired upon by Ahearn, and that he had then fired his own gun. Later he refused, upon advice of his counsel, John K. Murphy, to make a statement.

"It is not necessary for Ald. Bauler to make any statement," said Attorney Murphy. "He was in the right. Two hoodlum policemen came to his place of business and tried to make a forceful entrance. He was emerging from his place with a large amount of money, the receipts of the Christmas basket party, when he was attacked by the policemen. He carried a revolver to protect his money and he defended himself as he was justified in doing."

Names Bauler as Assailant.

From his hospital bed, Policeman Ahearn first said he did not know who had shot him. Later, he named Bauler as his assailant and declared the alderman had fired upon him without provocation as he sat in the automobile. He returned the fire, he declared, only after Bauler had fired two shots.

"I was always a good friend of Paddy Bauler's," said Ahearn in his statement. "We had been at Charlie Weber's place and we decided to go to Bauler's because we wanted to spend some money to help him with his Christmas fund. Instead of being let in, we were kept out at the door. Then, Paddy came out, very drunk. He said we couldn't come in and made a few passes at us.

"Hayes stepped up and said: 'Don't you know us? We're your friends. What's the matter with you?'

"I hear that some one said that Sheriff Meyering helped me get back in my own car. I returned to my car of my own volition with Miss May Taylor, who was with us.

His Story of Shooting.

"Before I could close the car door after sitting down Paddy came running out with a gun, shooting as he came. I knew I was hit. I had trouble getting my own gun out of my hip pocket. I felt very weak. I fired the gun, but my hand was trembling."

Ahearn insisted, as did his partner, Hayes, that they had had only two or three glasses of beer and a whisky sour apiece before they arrived at Bauler's place.

Sheriff Meyering said he saw Ahearn come to the door and saw Ald. Bauler wave him away. Shortly thereafter, he said, he left the saloon and Ahearn ap[illegible] to him.

"I did not know Ahearn, but his face was familiar," the sheriff said. "He was angry about not being admitted and I tried to reason with him and quiet him. Some one pushed me out of the way and I heard shots being fired. I saw Wright crumple to the ground and I ran to him. My chauffeur, Joseph Marrian, helped carry Wright to our car and we rushed him to the hospital."

Girl Tells Her Story.

Miss Tyler told police that she met Hayes and Ahern at 12:40 a. m. at 4247 North Western avenue. She told of visiting several taverns, in each of which they had something to drink. She insisted that neither of the policemen nor herself was intoxicated when they arrived, several hours later, at Bauler's place.

"We walked into the vestibule," she said, "but some one motioned us away from the door. Eddy [Hayes] and I walked back to the car, but Ahern said he had seen Sheriff Meyering in the place and that he intended having a drink with him.

"Hayes said there were other places where they would be glad to have us, but Ahearn walked back to the door. A few minutes later he came running out and three or four men followed him. One of them made a pass at him and he hit back at him. Hayes then jumped out of the car and grabbed Ahearn and put him back in the car.

"Then the man who had made a pass at Ahearn came out of the place with a revolver in his hand. He said something I didn't hear and then fired a shot. I heard some more shots. Then we drove Ahearn to the hospital."

The police examined the .38 caliber Colt revolver used by Policeman Ahearn and the .38 Smith and Wesson revolver used by Ald. Bauler and found that each revolver contained two fired cartridges. Most of the witnesses had expressed the belief that more than four shots were fired, however.

Ahearn and Hayes each had been on the force four years. Ahearn is 33 years old, lives at 6148 North Francisco avenue, and has a wife and three small children. Hayes is 31 years old, lives at 2425 North Oakley avenue, and is assigned to the detective bureau. Assistant Sheriff Wright, 43 years old, is a bachelor, and lives at 1549 East 67th place.

The longest statement taken from any witness was that given by Policeman Hayes, who was indignant about his suspension, contending that he had done nothing wrong. He gave a story of the shooting in more detail than any other witness.

"After parking our car," he said, "Miss Tyler, Ahearn and myself walked into the vestibule of Bauler's place and found the second door locked. A doorman and Ald. Bauler motioned through the glass door for us to go away."

After retreating to the car, Ahearn suddenly announced his intention of gaining admission to the saloon, Hayes said.

"Ahearn said: 'The sheriff is in there. Let's go in,'" Hayes asserted. "I told him that I didn't want to go in if we were not wanted and that there were a thousand places where we would be welcome. But Ahearn insisted and went back."

"Pushed Out of Door."

About four or five minutes later, Policeman Hayes said, he saw Ahearn pushed out of the door of the café by Ald. Bauler and several other men.

"It appeared to me as if there was going to be a fight," he declared, "so I got out of my car and grabbed Ahearn and pushed him towards the car, telling him to get in. I went around the rear of the car to get to the wheel and drive away.

"The next I saw was Bauler coming toward Ahearn, saying something which I did not hear. Ahearn then struck Bauler with his fist on the right shoulder and I ran back to the sidewalk and grabbed Ahearn and pushed him into my car."

Bauler, after being struck by the policeman, drew a revolver, Hayes said, and fired it at Ahearn, who was in the automobile. Ahearn drew his own gun and fired back.

"Ahearn shouted to me that he was shot," Hayes said.

"I jumped into the car and drove him to the hospital."

He was questioned as follows:

Q.—Who fired the first shot? A.—Mathias Bauler.

Q.—How were you and Ahearn as regards sobriety? A.—I was perfectly sober.

Q.—What was Officer Ahearn's condition? A.—He appeared to be sober.

MOVE FOR BAULER PROBE SIDETRACKED IN STATE SENATE

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Seven Republican members of the state senate today backed an attempt to make a demonstration against Mayor Kelly of Chicago based on the shooting affray early this morning at the saloon of Ald. Mathias J. Bauler.

The movement was begun by Earl B. Searcy of Springfield when he introduced a resolution asking for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the shooting. "This reported outrage is a direct challenge to President Roosevelt, to Gov. Horner, and to Illinois citizens generally who desire to see the handling of liquor surrounded by decent control," said Searcy.

Under the rules such resolutions go to the executive committee, but Searcy moved to suspend the rules—requiring a two-thirds vote of 34—and the roll call showed a 7 to 27 vote against suspension. Thereupon the resolution went to the committee, which will not act upon it. The six who supported Searcy were all Republicans—Charles W. Baker, Rockford; Richard J. Barr, Joliet; Thomas P. Gunning, Princeton; Noah M. Mason, Oglesby, and Roy C. Woods, Chicago.

COMMONS TRIES HAND AT DEBATE BY CANDLE LIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 19.—Old days in the house of commons were revived tonight when the building was plunged into darkness by the failure of the electric lights. Outbursts of cheering and laughter among the members were increased when Sir Percy Harris availed himself of a rule existing from the days when candles were the only illumination in the chamber and loudly moved the old time motion "that the candles be now brought in."

BAULER'S FAMILY LONG A POWER IN CITY'S POLITICS

Paddy a Product of Old Ward Battles.

Ald. Mathias "Paddy" Bauler, central figure in the shooting which occurred in front of his tavern early yesterday, is a product of the rough and tumble era of a quarter of a century ago when the old 22d ward, now the 43d, was noted for its turbulent politics.

The Bauler family always was politically powerful in the ward since Herman Bauler Sr. settled there nearly sixty years ago. He raised a family of seven sons and six daughters. The senior Bauler died many years ago, but his widow, Mrs. Mary Bauler, 1542 Cleveland avenue, mother of the alderman, is still living and is still a proud hostess to thirty grandchildren.

"Paddy" was the third Bauler son to sit in the city council. Back in 1909 his elder brother, Herman J. Bauler, was elected alderman and served for three terms, until his death. During his term of office the ward districting plan was changed and the 22d ward became the 43d.

"Paddy" Elected Last Spring.

The second son, John H. Bauler, ran for the office which had been left vacant by his brother's death and was elected. He served four subsequent two year terms. "Paddy" sought the office first in 1925, but was not successful until last spring.

All three brothers were saloonkeepers and dictated the ward's politics from their places of business. They were also in the brewing business. The yellowed newspaper clippings of Herman J. Bauler's time reveal that he was involved in many disputes with the police on the complaint of neighbors that he ran a gambling house in the rear of his saloon.

It was in this saloon, near the one in front of which yesterday's shooting occurred, that the jovial young "Paddy" Bauler first came to attention about 1908, when he was 18 years old. He was an entertainer in the place and was noted for a roaring bass voice with which he still regales his customers on festive evenings.

A Minor Political Figure.

Through his brother's influence, young Bauler was given various small county jobs. He became a precinct captain, but he was only a minor political figure until about 1928, when he made the acquaintance of the late Anton J. Cermak, then president of the county board, through County Commissioner Charles H. Weber.

Bauler's practical jokes and somewhat uncouth humor gained him the title of "court jester" to the Cermak court when Cermak became mayor. He accompanied the mayor on his trip to Europe, along with Commissioner Weber and a few others, and became known as a close personal friend of Mayor Cermak. His political prestige was enhanced by this acquaintanceship and he had no difficulty in assuming a dominant political position in his ward, being elected Democratic committeeman.

Host to Politicians.

In his saloon, housed in the former Immigrant State Bank building at 342 West North avenue Bauler entertained most of the leading Democratic politicians of Chicago at various times. He was master of ceremonies, leader of an orchestra, chief comedian, and was noted for his ability to quaff a half-gallon of beer at one swallow.

The political leaders would roll in their seats with laughter as "Paddy" staged imitation wrestling or boxing bouts on the dance floor, throwing his 275 pound frame about in reckless abandon. He would refer to himself at these moments as "just a city father at play."

He took his nickname "Paddy" as a young man, when for a time he contemplated a prize fighting career. The adoption of an Irish name was considered essential to success in the ring.

Arrested as "Child Thief"

MRS. ILO BLUMENTHAL AND SON, JAMES COLEMAN JR.

Both Lodged in Cell

Mrs. Ilo Fegan Blumenthal, 28 years old, was arrested in her apartment at 6383 Sheridan road last night on a warrant charging her with kidnaping her son, James Coleman Jr., 6 years old, from a school in South Bend, Ind. She and the child were taken to the detective bureau and lodged in a cell.

Mrs. Blumenthal told Sergts. Harry Schuler and James McGinnis that she took the boy a week ago when she went to South Bend to visit him. She obtained a divorce two years ago from the boy's father, James B. Coleman of South Bend, but he obtained custody of their son, she said. She was given the privilege of seeing the boy, and when she visited him last week and saw what a meager lunch he had been sent to school with she decided then to bring him back with her.

Both she and Coleman remarried, she said. Her present husband, Julius Blumenthal, is a salesman employed at The Hub store in the loop. The request that she be arrested and held for Indiana authorities was received by Chicago police from Sheriff Walter I. Fegan at South Bend, who stated that he held a warrant charging her with "child stealing."

IOWAN IS FIRST ARRESTED UNDER NRA COAL CODE

The first arrest for an NRA coal code violation anywhere in the United States was announced yesterday by Joseph Harrington, presidential member of the bituminous coal code authority in the middle west. The man arrested was Charles Seals of Centerville, Ia., who was taken before the United States commissioner at Ottumwa, Ia., and charged with selling coal at prices under those fixed by the code of fair competition, Harrington said.

Seals was released on bond, Harrington said. The prosecution will be handled by United States District Attorney Colflesh of Des Moines.

Douglas H. Bethard of Peoria, former president of the American Wholesale Grocers' association, yesterday was elected by the wholesale grocers of Illinois to be state administrator of the trade's NRA code. The code is now before President Roosevelt. The dealers announced they expect to begin operations under the code within a few days.

SUPREME RULER OF MYSTIC TIBET TAKEN BY DEATH

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The Daily Mail's Kalimpong correspondent in Bengal said tonight he was informed from a usually reliable source that the dalai lama of Tibet, who died Sunday, was poisoned.

LHASA, Tibet, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The death of the dalai lama, the supreme religious ruler of Tibet, who was regarded throughout all Buddhist Asia as the reincarnation of a Buddha who died several centuries ago, was announced today.

He died Sunday at the age of 60, but wise men in this mysterious land believe that a lama does not cease to exist—he merely discards the "mortal envelope" and his spirit reappears in the person of an infant.

The grand priest had supreme civil and religious power in the country, where the dalai lama, or grand lama, is worshiped as a virtual deity. Lhasa has been the lama's capital for centuries. It is a "forbidden city," and still remains one of the most mysterious and remote cities on the globe.

Had Adventurous Career.

The late lama had an unusually adventurous career. He was trained from his earliest days for the high office in a remote monastery. He entered Lhasa as soon as he attained his majority and took the sovereignty of Tibet in his own hands.

When, in 1904, a British mission, which eventually opened the gates of the forbidden city to foreigners, appeared, the dalai lama fled, and for years was a wanderer in Mongolia, accompanied only by his former tutor.

He returned to his capital in 1909, but only for a few weeks. Then he fled again, this time from the Chinese, and took refuge in India, where he lived for three years.

The Tibetans' uprising in 1912 drove out the Chinese, and the lama made a triumphant reëntry into Lhasa. From that time on he wielded extraordinary power, temporal and spiritual. Spiritually he war the head of the Buddhist priesthood, which numbers at least a half million.

Rode in Modern Auto.

An indication of his great civil power was given a few months ago when three Eritons, the marquis of Clydesdale, Col. L. V. Stewart Blacker, and Flight Lieutenant D. F. McIntyre, had to apply to him for permission to make their daring flight over Mount Everest.

The flyers gave the supreme lama the assurance that they would rise high enough over the "home of the gods" so that they would not disturb the dwelling place of the gods.

The late dalai lama defied traditions two years ago and ordered an automobile, in which his Chinese chauffeur drove him to many parts of the area. Where the car could not go bands of coolies carried it.

The prevailing religion of Lamaism is a form of Buddhism. The dalai lama is chosen by priests, and there is no check on his power. He is known as the "jewel of majesty" and the "sovereign treasure," but is guided in ordinary usages by custom.

Lamas to Choose Next Chief.

Tibet is nominally a part of China, but is under British overlordship. In 1893 a treaty of commerce was signed by Great Britain and Tibet, but the snowcapped Himalayas are a bar to modernization. Trade routes lie through lofty passes, some as high as 18,000 feet.

The higher lamas choose the supreme lama. In so doing they follow the doctrine of reincarnation, and several boys are chosen as "candidates," by omens. One of them is finally chosen the dalai lama, according to the characteristics he shows.

Recently a quarrel developed between the late lama and the tashi lama, who is considered by some Tibetans as superior to the ruler, and the tashi lama fled to China. He is now in refuge in Peiping.

HIGH PRIEST DIES

The dalai lama, supreme religious and civil ruler of mystical Tibet, died Sunday at Lhasa (indicated by arrow). One report said he was poisoned. The lama had millions of followers, who regarded him as a virtual deity, a reincarnation of Buddha.

EARLE WYNEKOOP FORFEITS BOND; ARREST ORDERED

Earle Wynekoop failed to appear in the Speeder's court yesterday to face a charge of reckless driving, and Municipal Judge Nuncio J. Bonelli issued a capias for his arrest. The judge also forfeited a $1,500 bond which Wynekoop had posted and raised to $5,000 the amount bond which he must post to gain his freedom after his arrest. Wynekoop is the son of Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop who now is awaiting trial on a charge of murdering Earle's wife, Rheta.

The charge against Earle Wynekoop was made on Dec. 13, after his automobile struck and injured Frank McGovern Jr., 9 years old, 31 South St. Louis avenue.

TEAR GAS ROUTS MOTHER UNABLE TO PAY THE RENT

A destitute mother of two children, who was unable to pay her rent and used a revolver to defend her quarters against her landlord, was routed last night by policemen who used a tear gas bomb. Choking and gasping, the woman, Mrs. Margaret Bettis, 33 years old, staggered out of the flat at 900 Dakin street with her son, Melvin, 5, in her arms.

Town Hall police were summoned after Louis and Anne Paul, operators of the rooming house, had failed to get Mrs. Bettis to pay $84 rent she owed or to open the door of her three room flat. During the argument, they said, Mrs. Bettis fired a bullet through the door which narrowly missed Mrs. Paul.

When the police arrived they found Mrs. Bettis barricaded, still refusing to open the door. Then the tear gas bomb was tossed through a window. Mrs. Bettis was taken to the Town Hall station, where she was charged with assault with intent to commit murder. Her husband, Gus, and her daughter, Ladine, 8 years old, were not at home at the time. Gus, who has been unemployed except for occasional work supplied by relief agencies, was out looking for another flat.

MISS PERKINS TO ADDRESS RAIL UNION LEADERS

Railway union leaders will meet here today in a series of conferences and the annual banquet of the Railway Labor Executives' association in the Palmer house. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins is to be the principal speaker at the banquet tonight.

At the conferences representatives of the 21 rail unions will discuss the legislative program of the association. Among the subjects for discussion are shorter hours, pension rules, the effect on communities of proposed consolidations and railroad refinancing.

Other speakers at the banquet will include A. F. Whitney, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen; George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad and Steamship Clerks, and Edward Keating of Washington, editor of Labor. It is estimated the 1,200 general chairmen and officials of local unions will attend.

WHISKY PRICES UNDER SCRUTINY OF U. S. CONTROL

Wide Variation Is Shown by Quotations.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Wholesale whisky prices now being received by six important distilleries were submitted today to the scrutiny of the federal alcohol control administration.

Posted under the provisions of the distillers code and subject to federal rejection if the FACA regards them as too high, the price lists served to shed the first authentic light on the margin of profit being realized by retail purveyors of liquor to the general consuming public.

The lists, which were transmitted to the FACA by Dr. James M. Doran, head of the distillers code authority, disclosed wide variation between the wholesale prices at which a number of well known brands of domestic blended liquor is now being sold.

Wide Variance in Prices.

Meadville rye, product of the Frankfort distilleries of Baltimore, for example, was quoted at $35 a case, including federal taxes, and subject to percentage discounts according to the quantity purchased.

Joseph H. Choate Jr., federal liquor czar, said the FACA has not yet investigated the prices quoted by the six distilleries today.

Supplies Not Sufficient.

In transmitting the price lists to Mr. Choate, Dr. Doran stated:

"The most important factor in the present situation seems to be the lack of supply to meet the current insistent demand."

The list prices quoted by the Penn-Maryland company of Peoria, subject to quantity discounts as high as 25 per cent on carload lots, follow:

BLENDED WHISKY.

	Per quart.	Per case.
Spring Garden	$3.60	$43.20
Green River	3.50	42.00
Red Top	3.10	37.20
Mellwood	3.00	36.00
Shenandoah	2.05	24.60
Belle of Nelson	2.00	24.00
Richwood	1.50	18.00

Frankfort Distilleries—Four Roses, $31 a case; Paul James Rye, $29; Old Oscar Pepper, $27.50.

MICHIGAN BUYS LIQUOR SUPPLY FOR HOLIDAYS

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—The state liquor control commission was closing negotiations today for purchase of a huge consignment of liquid "Christmas cheer," part of which it is hoped to place on sale in state liquor stores by Saturday.

Approximately a million dollars worth of whisky, both bonded and blended, and another million worth of gin and wines were being ordered from various liquor firms. The whisky, totaling 50,000 cases, is to include about 15,00 0cases to be retailed at from $1.40 to $1.50 per quart.

NEW YORK WHISKY LABELS MUST SHOW WHAT IS IN BOTTLE

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Acting on the series of chemical analysis by which it established during the last few days that distilleries were taking liberties with the name of whisky, the board of health today amended the sanitary code and made it the law of this city that labels on all whisky manufactured and bottled after Jan. 5 shall show what is in the bottle.

Whisky must be labeled either "straight," "blended," or "imitation," according to definitions enacted and the contents must be shown on the label under the following specifications:

"Straight whisky is the liquor resulting from distillation of a fermented infusion of grain, the process being carried out in a pot still or some other form of still, constructed so that the resulting liquor contains not only the alcohol but also the greater part of the congeneric substances which are vaporized with the alcohol.

"Blended whisky shall be taken to mean a mixture of two or more straight whiskies or a mixture of straight whisky with diluted grain [ethyl] alcohol, with or without added color or flavor.

"Imitation whisky is grain [ethyl] alcohol colored and flavored in imitation of straight whisky and which is not a straight whisky or a blended whisky."

PATH OF LIQUOR BILL IS CLOGGED BY AMENDMENTS

and to make rules and regulations not inconsistent with law, to prescribe forms of application for local licenses or for the renewal thereof."

These two sections present the principal points of victory won by Mayor Kelly in the Sunday conference, while Gov. Horner's triumphs were shown in amendments which chiefly affect state revenue. One amendment puts in state licensing for retailers, the fee being fixed at $50 a year. Other amendments boosted the distillers' and brewers' licenses from $50 to $500, and for distributors from $50 to $500.

Beer Tax Unchanged.

Another proposed revenue change, at Gov. Horner's instance, increased gallonage taxes. The tax on beer was left at 2 cents, but light wines were boosted to 10 cents, strong wines to 25 cents, and that on whisky and other strong drinks to 50 cents a gallon. This same amendment provided for the use of state tax stamps to cover the gallonage impost.

Another result of the Sunday conference was seen in a proposal to eliminate the provision forbidding the sale of intoxicants on trains and boats except with food.

The flood of independent proposals included almost every possible suggestion. One from Senator Martin Lohman, Democrat from the Peoria district, a distilling center, asked the senate to strike out the house section requiring that blends of whisky containing less than 75 per cent of four year old whisky shall be labeled "imitation whisky."

SHOOTS HIMSELF TO DEATH.

James Zabawa, 35 years old, shot and killed himself yesterday in the bedroom of his apartment at 805 North Marshfield avenue. Zabawa's widow, Victoria, told police that her husband had been despondent over ill health.

ARVEY OPPOSES FUND TRANSFER IN POLLS CASES

Says Aldermen Haven't the Authority.

Ald. Jacob M. Arvey [24th] before the city council finance committee yesterday opposed a transfer of funds for the payment of John F. Cashen Jr., prosecutor of the cheating polls officials.

Cashen has been engaged in prosecuting vote frauds disclosed by the Heller-Hasten Municipal court contest of the election of November, 1932. All the cases prosecuted to date have been through contempt of court proceedings in the county court. County Judge Jarecki pointed out yesterday that the law gives him, as head of the county election machinery, specific power to order the board of election commissioners to employ attorneys to prosecute polls frauds.

Hearing Before Committee.

The transfer of funds within the election board's appropriation had been approved once by the council, but Ald. Arvey asked that it be reconsidered. Yesterday he was given a hearing by the finance committee and read from various statutes, telling the aldermen that if they made the transfer they would be guilty of malfeasance and subject to removal. The committee sent the matter to Corporation Counsel Sexton with a request for an opinion.

"I would not have said anything about the transfer if it had not been for the un-American attitude of Mr. Cashen," Arvey told the committee. "He has been a persecutor, not a prosecutor. He stood silent in court and let lesser punishments be meted out in other sections of the city, but he was vociferous in demanding drastic punishments for those charged with violations in my ward. Vote frauds should be punished, but that is a function of the state's attorney."

Assails Election Stealing.

"Prosecuting election frauds is the most American thing any court can do," Judge Jarecki remarked later. "Elections are the foundation of our republic, for there are only two ways of changing a government, by elections or by revolution. Stealing an election is akin to treason, for it gives aid and comfort to the enemies of orderly government."

Prosecutor Cashen denied he held any prejudice against Arvey's ward, from which 23 election officials have already been punished for vote frauds.

"We have prosecuted more people from that ward because the violations there were the most flagrant in the city," he said. "In many precincts they just didn't bother to count the votes. If penalties have been more severe, it was because the violations were worse. I guess Ald. Arvey is angry because I wouldn't talk to some of the fellows who came to see me from his ward."

Fred Sargent Will Leave Rochester in Few Days

Rochester, Minn., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—After spending the last six weeks in Rochester, during which time he underwent an operation for kidney stones, Fred Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western Railway company, plans to depart for Chicago in two or three days, he announced tonight.

15,000 IN PRISON FOR 1,500 YEARS DURING DRY ERA

Approximately 15,000 residents of the northern district of Illinois served 1,500 years in prison sentences and paid $2,000,000 in fines for liquor law violations during the 14 years of prohibition. This was revealed yesterday by figures obtained from the United States district attorney's staff, as Chicagoans prepared for the holiday drinking season under repeal.

More than 6,000 establishments were padlocked during the years of prohibition, records showed, with a loss in rentals estimated at $5,000,000. Accurate statistics were kept on prohibition cases from 1926 to 1933, and figures for the first six years of the "noble experiment" were furnished in estimates made by attachés of the district attorney's office.

Between 1920 and 1926, veteran employés said, attempts to enforce the law were pasmodic. Reasons for this state of affairs were set forth as fourfold.

1. A great many drinkers clung to the remnants of a pre-prohibition supply.

2. The new school of drinkers [of college age and younger] had not yet acquired the speakeasy habit.

3. A laissez faire spirit obtained among the bootleggers and the powerful syndicates of later years had not been formed.

4. Officials hoped that the law would enforce itself with the aid of a well-formed public opinion.

For the years during which statistics were kept the records show a steadily mounting number of convictions and sentences until 1929, the high mark of the period. During that year 2,424 defendants were sentenced to serve a total of 155 years and paid fines totalling $406,296.

SECRETARY WOODIN MOVED TO SANATORIUM FOR THROAT AILMENT

Tucson, Ariz., Dec. 19.—(AP)—William Woodin Sr., secretary of the treasury, forced to come west because of a throat ailment, was removed to the Desert sanatorium near here today for prolonged confinement.

His physician said he was not "seriously ill," but that he could undergo treatment more easily in the sanatorium.

Woodin came to Tucson from Washington two weeks ago.

Last Saturday he was ordered to bed and denied visitors. At that time members of his family said there was no cause for worry and the move was just a precaution to enable him to get more rest.

His son, William Jr., has lived here several years, and the elder Woodin, with Mrs. Woodin, has spent a number of winters in this vicinity.

AIR MEANDERING LINDBERGHS ARE BACK AT HOME

Gone Five Months, Visit a Score of Nations.

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh came home today after an absence of five months and ten days and 30,000 miles of flying. They alighted in the East river off College Point at 2:38 p. m., taxied ashore at the ramp of an aircraft company and less than an hour later left by automobile for their home.

In New York they stopped for a brief greeting at the home of Col. and Mrs. Henry Breckinridge and then drove to Englewood, N. J. Awaiting them there were Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, and their 16 month old baby, Jon.

It was almost 6 o'clock when the Lindberghs drove through the gates of the Morrow estate. The trip from their plane to their home had taken half as much time as the flight today from Charleston, S. C., to New York.

North Pole to Equator.

Since they flew away last July they had visited four continents. They had flown north of the frozen arctic circle and touched the tropical waters south of the equator. They spent nights in more than a score of nations. They spanned the South Atlantic nonstop on their way home. They flew from summer to winter, back to summer, and finally into winter again.

They were tired, tanned, and happy as they came to the journey's end.

The Lindberghs left Charleston, in the morning, where they had been the guests of the United States navy for the night. Six hours later their red and black Lockheed glided to the waters of the East river.

As has been their custom on the long tour, they announced no destination when they took off in the morning. Not even officials of Pan-American Airways—the company for which the flight was made to explore airways between the new world and the old—knew where they would land.

Crowds Wait in Vain.

Mayor John P. O'Brien, believing they might end their trip at Floyd Bennett field, sent Richard E. Hoyt of the Curtiss-Wright corporation there to welcome them home. A hundred patrolmen and a squadron of motorcycle policemen also spent the afternoon keeping a road clear from the ramp on Jamaica bay to Flatbush avenue. At Glenn Curtiss airport, North Beach, Queens, another crowd waited and mechanics and reporters kept watch at the seaplane base at Port Washington on Manhasset bay.

But the Lindberghs, who had made known their wish to avoid an official reception, picked the secluded and guarded pier of the Edo Aircraft corporation at College Point, where, in addition to employés and newspaper, camera and radio men, only twenty persons awaited them. A sergeant and a patrolman were on guard and there was no more excitement over their landing than if they had been returning from a ten minute flight.

Off On Last Leg.

It was 8:41 a. m. in Charleston when they waved to Rear Admiral James J. Raby, their host of last night, and started the last leg of their journey.

It was a hazy morning as they roared along the Atlantic coast. At 10:05 the big monoplane was sighted crossing the waters off Wilmington, N. C. After passing Wilmington they headed across the hills of Virginia, over the Potomac and the headwaters of Chesapeake bay.

As they approached New York the colonel picked out other planes, photographers' craft bent on escorting them to the end of the flight. Then began a chase in which Col. Lindbergh pitted his skill against that of the pilots of his unwelcome escort. He shook clear of all except one, a Lockheed owned by Miss Laura Ingalls and rented for photographic duties for the day.

Air Race with Photogs.

This machine hung closely to the Lindbergh's Sirius as the flier, instead of going straight to New York, swung westward over the Jersey meadows. It swooped down for a picture, and the colonel dropped still lower and widened out on his throttle. The chase passed over Teterboro airport and then north toward Englewood. There Lindy circled three times in greeting over the Morrow home. The chase continued out over Long island, and finally the Lindbergh plane shot down at College Point, the camera machine close behind.

The colonel guided the pontoons to the edge of the ramp. Lines were made fast, the plane was hauled up a few feet, and the flier hopped to the deck.

Clad in a gray tropical worsted suit, wearing no vest over his soft blue cotton shirt, Lindbergh appeared ill clad for the raw weather. His face was burned and blistered by tropic suns and the winds of thousands of miles, but he looked well and was smiling.

Mrs. Lindbergh Less Tanned.

He assisted Mrs. Lindbergh to the deck. She was much more warmly clad. Her face was ruddy, but had been spared the blistering burns that her husband had. Informed that hot coffee was waiting inside, she said, "good," and hurried inside.

Over in the offices of the airways company is a pile of closely scribbled penciled memoranda, which has come by mail and special messenger from Greenland and Iceland, from Europe and West Africa—the data the flyer and Mrs. Lindbergh have accumulated on their survey. Much of this is marked "confidential" and on the information it contains may depend the decision when and where a trans-Atlantic service will be started.

An examination of the plane revealed it to be in surprisingly good condition after its five months of flying. At Miami it was painted, except for the white lettered name, "Tingnussartoq," a tribute to the Greenland Eskimos meaning "big bird."

What the immediate future plans of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh were they did not say.

Frankie Lake Bailed Out on Charge of Vagrancy

Frankie Lake, beer baron partner of Terry Druggan, who deserted Chicago to become a Detroit iceman, was released from a detective bureau cell last night when he posted a $10,000 bond. He was arrested Monday night on an old vagrancy warrant while visiting the city over the holidays. The bond was produced by a professional bondsman after Lake had spent the night and part of the day in cell. He is scheduled for arraignment in the Felony court today.

BULLITT PLANS BIG EMBASSY FOR STAFF IN RUSSIA

U. S. Envoy Decides to Build New Quarters.

MOSCOW, Dec. 19.—(AP)—United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt has decided definitely, it was understood today, to build an American embassay here. It was said that construction will begin as soon as plans can be drawn and the United States congress has approved an appropriation.

After more than a week of inspection of all available buildings in Moscow, the ambassador found none suitable to house the large staff he will have here. Hence he was represented as being convinced that it would be more economical to build his own quarters than to try to convert an old building to his needs.

Will Take Temporary Quarters.

In this way Bullitt will be able to locate the American embassy and consulate offices under one roof, in line with present state department policies.

As temporary quarters the new ambassador is expected to rent a house of the central executive committee at Spasso Peskovski square, which is now used as a residence by Leo Mikhailovitch Karakhan, former soviet minister to China, and in which President Mikhail Kalinin holds the annual diplomatic receptions.

This rambling, two story, thirty room house formerly was the palace of a wealthy textile manufacturer.

A site on the Moscow river a mile or so below the Kremlin was understood to have been selected tentatively for the new embassy.

Will Please Soviet Officials.

The decision to build is certain to please soviet officials, who point out that no other nation has done such a thing so far.

Bullitt probably will leave Moscow Thursday and sail to America on the United States liner Washington from Havre, France, Dec. 28. He is expected to return here early in February to take up his duties.

There is a possibility that Alexander Troyanovsky, designated as ambassador to the United States, accompanied by a staff of several secretaries and attachés, may travel to Washington on the same ship.

Keith Merrill, the state department's embassy construction expert, will remain here a few days after the ambassador's departure to study available materials and prepare tentative plans.

WOUND FATAL TO WOMAN'S SLAYER.

Riverside, Cal., Dec. 19.—(AP)—A. Preston Huddleston, formerly of Shreveport, La., who shot and killed Mrs. Anna K. Jones Oct. 24 and later attempted suicide, died in the county hospital today from a bullet wound in the head.

LINDBERGHS HEAR THEIR SON JON TALK FOR THE FIRST TIME

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Master Jon Morrow Lindbergh gave his parents this evening as memorable a thrill as any they experienced throughout the 29,000 mile flight they had just completed. He talked.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh had never heard their son talk before. When they left here five months ago Jon had not learned to utter much beyond the usual gurgles of infancy.

That was partly because he was then only 11 months old. Now, at 16 months, and glowing with health, he gave his parents a surprise by showing off his vocabulary. What he said to them when he welcomed them home, to the Morrow mansion in Englewood, N. J., he refused to divulge to the press and his parents and other relatives abided by his refusal.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh reached the Morrow residence at 5:50 p. m. Betty Gow, the infant's nurse, led them up to the nursery on the second floor. That all were glad to see each other was an easy guess.

YOUNG INSULL AND 6 REPORTED IN TRUE BILLS

Embezzlement Charged in Indiana Company.

service commission differed greatly from those made to the stockholders.

The expense accounts, it was asserted, included $16,000 a year for the chairman, who was Samuel Insull Sr., and $20,000 for the president. In addition to the flowers and the long trips paid for, it was asserted that large sums were spent for "propaganda."

How Transfers Were Made.

In discussing the transfer of properties and securities, the grand jury gave a specific instance. A sale of 732 shares of stock of the Shore Lines Shops was made to Northern Indiana Public Service for $73,200, it was stated, while at the time the shop properties were actually worth $60,000 and had $90,000 of funded debt that was a prior claim.

The investigation was given its start when Howard W. Duncan, former assistant treasurer of Northern Indiana, confessed he had embezzled $132,000 of the company's money and lost it on the race horses. Duncan pleaded guilty to the theft of $1,500. He offered to tell the inside story of the Insull high finance and was allowed to do so. The investigators then followed out the lines he laid down for them to follow.

FEE CASE UP TO JUDGE

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.

Federal Judge Evan A. Evans yesterday took under advisement the question of allowing fees to Calvin Fentress, former receiver for Insull Utility Investments, Inc. A decision is expected within a week.

To the evident relief of the assembled attorneys for other bankrupt Insull companies, the judge declared he would rule on the Fentress fees alone and would not consider at this time the validity of multiple other receiverships of the Insull debacle.

Former Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson, challenging the allowance of any fees to Mr. Fentress as the alleged collusive nominee of Samuel Insull and his bankers, had questioned the integrity of all the Insull receiverships—Middle West Utilities company, Corporation Securities company, and others. Permitting him to develop testimony along this line, Judge Evans had indicated that if collusion were shown he might be constrained to void the questioned receiverships and penalize the parties concerned.

Lawyer Speaks for Trustee.

But the anxiety of the lawyers was allayed when, at the close of spirited arguments on the Fentress fees, Attorney Leo F. Wormser spoke up for the Insull Utility Investments trustee, Harry A. Bigelow of the University of Chicago. The point he raised was that the voiding of the receiverships would necessarily also entail the voiding of the expensive suits which Trustee Bigelow had filed for Insull creditors against the banks.

"The question is limited to the matter of Mr. Fentress' fees," Judge Evans said. "Mr. Ettelson was permitted to go into the receivership of the other Insull companies to give fullest latitude to his charges that collusion occurred. But the issue before this court concerns Insull Utility Investments alone."

Throughout the arguments, in which Mr. Ettelson again hurled the charge of "frameup" against Insull and the bankers while Mr. Fentress' attorney defended his client's integrity, the judge interspersed observations of his own.

Observation on Collusion.

Mr. Ettelson had just cited a legal definition of collusion: "A secret and dishonest arrangement between apparently conflicting interests to deceive the court and prejudice the rights of others——" when Judge Evans interposed his first observation. He said:

"Assuming there was collusion—and I am not saying at this time that there was—but assuming the primary court was imposed upon by the appointment of two receivers, Mr. Fentress and another, nevertheless, it would seem that Mr. Fentress was not a party to the collusion."

Mr. Fentress' co-receiver was former Judge George A. Cooke, an Insull attorney, who afterwards resigned.

"There is no question but that the bill of complaint in this receivership stated a cause of action," the judge continued. "The company was hopelessly ripe for a receiver. In fact, it was ripe for bankruptcy and should have been in receivership ten months before it was."

Ettelson Renews Charges.

Seeing an opening Mr. Ettelson broke in with a flood of arguments to support his charge.

"I agree with your honor that the honest action would have been to file a voluntary petition in bankruptcy," he said. "But the whole proceeding, instead, is steered by Samuel Insull. He names the petitioner, appoints the lawyer, and has a time note of one of his own companies changed to a demand note so that grounds for a receivership may be laid. All these receiverships are arranged and Insull lawyers, the favored sons of a crooked utilities czar, bob up everywhere to execute his bidding."

Ettelson cast a glance around the courtroom, filled with prominent lawyers associated with the Insull case.

"I say it was a frameup," he went on, "and that unscrupulous lawyers imposed upon Judge Walter Lindley, the original jurist in this case. I hate to say it, for these are not shysters, but the whole thing is infected with fraud."

Judge Interposes Again.

Again Judge Evans interposed.

"We don't want red herrings drawn across the trail just because we see red," observed the judge. "With reference to Fentress, the record shows that Insull did not want him, at least not as sole receiver. He may have been the tool of the banks, but not of Insull. The banks had a right to name somebody, but the common stock holders evidently had no interest in the proceedings."

"O, Samuel Insull was to look out for them," Mr. Ettelson said sarcastically, apparently referring to the testimony on Monday of Abner J. Stilwell, vice president of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company. Mr. Stilwell, asked whether the common stockholders had been represented at a single conference on the receivership, replied that it had been considered that they would be properly represented by Insull.

Ettelson Asks Some Questions.

"Samuel Insull was to look out for them," Mr. Ettelson continued. "He had looked out for them before, and he would continue to do the same after the receivership. When Mr. Fentress was drafted for receiver, as he says, why did he agree to serve with Insull's nominee, Judge Cooke, and why did he not join in suits against the banks? Immediately when Prof. Bigelow succeeded Mr. Fentress, he instituted suits against the banks."

Again there was an observation by Judge Evans.

"Suppose I absolve Mr. Fentress and the bankers—what about Insull, the largest stockholder?" the judge mused. "Was he actuated by fraud? The point is well made that when the receivers and attorneys in the Middle West case found Samuel Insull suspected of alleged illegal acts, they asked him to resign [as co-receiver]. But if the court should decide to grant Mr. Fentress fees, would that not be an encouragement to others?"

Attorney Defends Fentress.

Defending Mr. Fentress, Attorney E. H. Cassels averred that "you can't make out a case of fraud by epithets, suspicions and inferences." So far as Fentress was concerned, he maintained, it was plain that there had been no collusion.

"In a case where there has been collusion and where the receiver in question is absolved of collusion, that receiver is entitled to compensation from the bankrupt estate," Attorney Cassels said, replying to a question from the judge. "The evidence is perfectly clear that no one had an ulterior motive in filing these receivership suits. Mr. Fentress did nothing to favor the banks, as the record shows."

Attorney Cassels then cited a line of decisions in which the upper courts held collusion charges were unfounded and argued that the present case was analagous to these.

Introduces Stilwell Letter.

At conclusion of the arguments Attorney Isaac Mayer, representing the Continental bank, introduced in evidence a letter from Mr. Stilwell disclosing that at the time of Mr. Fentress' appointment as receiver, his concern, Baker, Fentress & Co., was indebted to the bank for $45,000.

Earlier in the case Mr. Ettelson had elicited testimony that other companies, of which Mr. Fentress was director, were indebted to the banks, but there had been no previous statement that his own company was thus indebted at the time he was named receiver.

10,000 GEORGIANS GATHER FOR FISHING FETE AT DRAINED LAKE

Lakeland, Ga., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Approximately a thousand men rushed into the shallow waters of Banks lake at 11 a. m. today and began dragging out big and little fish in a festival that officials said was witnessed by 10,000 persons.

The lake is normally about eight miles long and four wide, but it had been drained down to 500 acres of knee-deep water in preparation for the fish festival made necessary by a moss growth that would have killed the fish anyway.

At the 11 o'clock pistol shot the men waded into the lake and began catching the fish in nets and sacks. One observer said he counted more than 100 bass weighing about ten pounds. Another fisherman got 125 pounds in less than an hour.

Fish stands were set up for the hungry and the fish could be cooked as soon as brought to shore. Many persons carried away enough to last for many days, piled in automobiles, trucks, wagons, and other vehicles.

CANADIAN JUDGE DELAYS DECISION ON M. J. INSULL

Reserves Judgment After Long Arguments.

BY GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 19.—Justice Charles Garrow of the Ontario high court of justice reserved judgment this afternoon on the habeas corpus appeal of Martin J. Insull, former Chicago utilities magnate, for discharge from Canadian custody and reversal of Justice A. C. Kingstone's recent judgment ordering the extradition of the fugitive on charges of larceny, embezzlement and larceny by bailee in connection with the collapse of the Insull utilities empire.

Insull, who was released pending a final decision on $10,000 bail, today again sat through two and one-half hours of argument concerning his alleged embezzlements which resulted in the loss of millions of dollars to stockholders in Insull enterprises.. He left for his Orillia, Ont., home tonight after announcement by the presiding judge that judgment might be delayed.

Insists There Was No Theft.

"It is really a case in which there never would have been a thought of prosecution," declared Insull's leading counsel, I. F. Hellmuth, "if it had not been for the subsequent collapse of these institutions. You cannot look at the circumstances in favor of the prosecution because these properties have turned out subsequently to be of little or no value."

And again Hellmuth argued: "Admitting everything to be true in these depositions, there is no prima facie crime of theft made out."

Justice Garrow [in a surprised tone]—Admitting everything to be true?

Hellmuth—Admitting everything.

Hellmuth and his assisting counsel, J. C. McRuer, occupied 90 per cent of the time of today's sitting with arguments for the release of the former Chicagoan and the upsetting of the edict ordering his detention for extradition.

Prosecutor Assails Insull.

Edward Bayly, deputy attorney general for Ontario, who is acting for the prosecuting state of Illinois, occupied only twenty minutes. Outside of Bayly's injunction that it was in no wise Justice Garrow's responsibility to retry the case as heard before Justice Kingstone, and his citation of a dozen legal precedents calculated to strengthen Illinois' case for extradition, Bayly's sole response to the lengthy pleadings of the Insull counsel was:

"The two Insulls were immensely wealthy men and they got into the habit of treating the companies they controlled as if they owned them. They gave orders to pay off debts of Mr. Insull. When he did pay off the debts the securities which he put up were released. I don't suppose the employés of large companies are apt to question the judgment of the president."

Again and again in his argument as to the absence of criminal intent in the doings of Insull, Hellmuth stressed the contention that everything was done openly and entered upon the books of the companies. Whether it was prudent or wise, and whether the transactions might not be the subject of civil action, it "was the business of the company," Hellmuth contended, "to buy securities" and whether they were Insull securities was beside the point.

Justice Garrow—Was it within his power as officer of the company to instruct the purchase of securities without consulting anybody?

Hellmuth—Absolutely so.

Dealing with the Middle West Utilities company, of which Martin Insull was president and in connection with which $66,000 embezzlement charge is laid against him, Hellmuth argued that "these securities, which were purchased by the syndicate through the Middle West, were purchased at their full market value.

Judge Questions Argument.

"My submission is that these securities became the absolute property of the Middle West or the syndicate which had been got up, and in the evidence it is shown that within four weeks of their purchase these securities had grown in value so that there would have been a profit to the company had they been then sold."

Justice Garrow—What difference does that make if the original transaction was a theft. The real point is, what were the circumstances under which he or O. E. McCormick (treasurer of the company) got money of the company to make this purchase?

"There was not a scintilla of evidence of theft," Hellmuth insisted as he reviewed the embezzlement charge involving $344,000 of the Middle West Utilities company's money. "There is not a tittle of evidence of intent to steal or to commit a theft, and the case must fall to the ground."

Justice Garrow—Was Insull being pressed by his brokers?

Mr. Hellmuth—We have no evidence. The very fact that he gave what was equivalent for what he got takes away the stain of criminality.

In respect of the Mississippi Valley Utilities Investment company embezzlement charge involving $104,000, Hellmuth cited what he alleged to be the custom to "advance large sums of money from time to time to their employés, including the president," without interest. There was not the slightest doubt that full collateral was forthcoming, he said.

Justice Garrow—I thought the charge related to the repayments of sums borrowed.

Hellmuth stressed the "open character of the transactions" and contended that "the mere getting of the funds does not constitute crime. It is the taking of these funds with an evil mind." It would not constitute theft under Canadian law, he said.

FEDERAL PROSECUTOR PREPARES NEW MOVE FOR INSULL RETURN

United State's District Attorney Dwight H. Green announced yesterday that he had undertaken the assembling of documents and papers relative to the effort of the government to bring Samuel Insull, now a fugitive in Greece, back to Chicago.

Insull has been ordered to leave Greece by Jan. 31, 1934, and the district attorney is preparing once more to hasten his return to Chicago if he flees to a country with which the United States has an extradition treaty. Efforts to extradite Insull from Greece failed.

Most of the work confronting the federal prosecutor consists of translating the various documents to the language of the court in which the expected extradition case will be heard.

FORMER WEST POINT GRID STAR INDICTED ON WOMAN'S CHARGE

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Lieut. John Murrel, commander of Company M, 9th infantry, Fort Sam Houston, was indicted today by a federal grand jury on a charge of assault on the military reservation Oct. 22.

Blanche Ralls, twice a divorcee, was the alleged victim.

Murrel, formerly of Cedar Rapids, Ia., attended the University of Minnesota and the United States military academy, where he was graduated and where he was an all-American full back.

The attack is alleged to have occurred about daylight on a Sunday morning following a party celebrating the Texas university-Centenary football game here, at which Murrel was an official.

SAMUEL INSULL LAYS PLANS FOR TRIP TO LONDON

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Samuel Insull was said by his acquaintances today to be planning to go to England when the expiration of his police permit on Jan. 31 forces the fugitive Chicago utilities operator to leave his erstwhile refuge here.

British authorities in Athens, however, said the 74 year old former Chicagoan would not be granted a British visa until instructions were received from London.

[Official quarters in London said the British government will conduct a full inquiry into the merits of Samuel Insull's case if he seeks to enter England and that he would be treated like any other American if his revoked United States passport is reinstated.]

Since he was told he would have to leave Greece Insull has been in bed most of the time, suffering from the effects of his long legal battles against returning to the United States to face criminal charges. He was first informed that he would have to go on Dec. 31, when his permit regularly would have expired, but a month's extension was granted him.

He was advised then that his passport would be visaed to any country he chose, but that document has been revoked and it was pointed out he would have to travel on temporary papers.

Insull, however, was understood today to be negotiating in regard to the passport.

[A report in London said the United States minister in Athens already had received instructions to reinstate the passport if the Greek government requested it.]

ZANDER NAMED HOLC MANAGER TO CLEAN HOUSE

Real Estate Man Chosen to Succeed Donne.

BY AL CHASE.

Henry G. Zander Jr., former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, received a telephone message from Washington yesterday informing him that he had been appointed Illinois manager for the Home Owners' Loan corporation to succeed William G. Donne, who resigned Monday. Mr. Zander announced he takes office with the White House pronouncement that he can go as far as he likes in cleaning the local HOLC of politics and favoritism. He assumes the office, taken out of the hands of Donne by the Washington authorities, next Tuesday.

Almost simultaneously with the arrival of the last of three Washington HOLC officials, sent here by airplane and train to clean up the local situation as much as possible before Zander takes office, Donne bade a good-by to his staff and departed. He had offered his services to the three easterners, but they had been declined.

Washington Men Here.

The Washington officials are William H. McNeal, mortgage and title expert; Philip W. Kniskern, official adviser on appraisals, and Daniel McNamara Jr., associate general counsel. They took over control of the Chicago offices of the HOLC and at once started a housecleaning which is expected, according to McNeal, to last several weeks.

McNeal declared the practices which led to Donne's resignation, such as favoritism shown contractors in repair work and to certain insurance companies and organizations which charged fees to mortgagees for action which they seemed able to get in preference to the ordinary home owner, would be stopped at once.

Mr. Zander, in announcing his appointment and outlining his policies, declared politics would not interfere with any steps he deemed necessary, no matter what political power he bumped into.

Appointed to Clean Up.

"The appointment has been confirmed by the HOLC offices in Washington, with the approval of President Roosevelt," he said. "It's the desire of the President to clean up this local situation. I've been appointed without any political ties of any sort and with carte blanche from the White House to go as far as I like.

"I'm interested only in expediting efficiently the making of loans to home owners. There'll be no favoritism shown in any affairs of the office. I'm not interested in any way in the political side of the picture."

Zander said John H. Fahey, chairman of the federal home loan bank board, told him "the only people we want in the HOLC offices are those who are in sympathy with what Roosevelt wants to do. And we all know how the President wants the HOLC to function for the benefit of the home owner."

Voted as a Democrat.

Mr. Zander is thirty-six years old and a resident of Kenilworth. He said he had always voted the Democratic ticket, but declared he has never been in politics except to hold a village trusteeship on a local party ticket. Zander said his appointment had not been solicited.

Zander has been in the home building, home financing, and real estate business during his entire business life except during the war. He recently completed a year as president of the Chicago Real Estate board. He has been active in the affairs of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, of which his father, Henry G. Zander Sr., was president. His father is chairman of the board of the Federal Home Loan bank of Chicago.

Reveals Marriage

HELEN FREEMAN.

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The marriage of Helen Freeman, New York stage actress, and Edwin Corle, writer, in Ensenada, Mexico, more than one year ago was disclosed today by Miss Freeman.

She said she selected Mexico as a romantic place to wed because she had been reared near the border and had spent much of her life in the interior of that country.

They were married Dec. 2, 1932, she said. Two Hollywood friends accompanied them to Ensenada for the ceremony.

GRAFT CHARGES CAUSE STIR IN NRA DOLE RANKS

Several Officials Fired; Others Warned.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.] — President Roosevelt's New Dealers were wrestling today under a mass of minor scandals and irregularities growing out of the doling out of billions of dollars in federal easy money.

Several officials have been fired, others have been warned, and many are under investigation on various charges of grafting and misuse of funds.

John Fahey, chairman of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, revealed today that he had delivered to the department of justice evidence concerning solicitation of commissions for obtaining loans. Complaints have come from other states than Illinois, he said, although the Illinois case, which resulted in the resignation of William G. Donne as state manager of the corporation, is one of those under investigation by the justice department.

Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes has discharged a number of engineers and other officials of the public works administration.

Reports of misconduct in the treasury department are being investigated by Henry Morgenthau Jr., new acting secretary of the treasury.

Complaints in Wisconsin.

It was charged the federal easy money was being used in a number of counties in Wisconsin for putting cement floors in barns on private dairy farms, and that federal easy money was being paid even to private home owners for repairing their own homes.

The breaking out of these scandals in such epidemic form was held to be largely coincidental. The President from the beginning of his administration has warned that he would endure no corruption, and before making any appointments it is known he made strong efforts to assure himself of the honesty of applicants before granting them jobs.

Fear Investigation.

But at the same time it was reported that the department and bureau heads are anxious to protect themselves as much as possible against investigations by the congress which opens its session two weeks from tomorrow.

No one in the administration relished the senate investigation last summer into the purchase of toilet kits for the CCC camps, and in the coming session there have been rumors that many senators have plans to launch similar inquiries into other expenditures by the recovery administrations. In the spending of billions of dollars, much of it in a hasty fashion calculated to "put the money to work" quickly, it is regarded as inevitable that even such vigilance as has been manifested by Secretary Ickes should fail to prevent some of the money from sticking to political fingers.

The last man to feel the Ickes ax was Searcy B. Slack of Atlanta, who was dismissed as an engineer on the state PWA board of Georgia. Slack, according to the secretary's charges, notified Gov. Eugene Talmadge of Georgia that he would obtain a public works grant of 2 million dollars for highway building in the state if the governor would agree to give Slack a 5 per cent commission on the allotment.

Robert Denies Recommendation.

Reports from Atlanta that Slack had been recommended by L. W. Robert Jr., assistant secretary of the treasury, were denied by Robert. The assistant secretary is a member of the special public works board and the report was that as a prominent contractor and builder from the state of Georgia he has interested himself in the appointment of the state public works setup.

"From what I have of Slack's past," Robert added to his denial, "I would gladly have indorsed his application had I been asked. I was not asked about it, however. I know Slack as a very high class fellow of good reputation and a crackerjack engineer."

It was learned that Slack has been discharged from a previous public job as engineer for the state highway board in Georgia, for "gross incompetency." Robert said he had not known of this incident.

LOCKED DOORS BALK ROBBER WHO FAILED TO PLAN HIS RETREAT

When Walter Sakaitis, 19 years old, 4735 South Lincoln street, took up robbery he failed to learn that a bandit should always keep his line of retreat open.

Early last evening Sakaitis entered the dry goods store of Theodore Macewicz at 1841 West 4th street. Flourishing his pistol, he held up the proprietor and his clerk, Gregory Burba. They surrendered $4.75. Sakaitis wasted more valuable time in a fruitless search for more money. Then he started to leave.

But the front door, he found, was locked. He ran to the rear door and that was locked, too. Back to the front again hastened the bandit and he threatened Macewicz with death unless he opened the door. Macewicz had no key. While the debate continued a squad of police led by Sergt. Eugene Mahoney arrived from the New City station and was admitted by Mrs. Hattie Macewicz, wife of the store owner, who accompanied them. Sakaitis surrendered.

Mrs. Macewicz had locked the door. Hearing the bandit's commands from her home on the second floor, she slipped down a side stairway, locked the two doors, and then called the police from a pay station nearby.

SCHOOL ADVANCE UNDER SOVIETS TOLD AT DINNER

Educational expansion in Soviet Russia as compared with czarist Russia was outlined last night by Wilhelm A. Kurtz, president of Intourist, Inc., the Soviet travel agency, and member of the central executive committee of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. With Mrs. Kurtz, he was guest at a dinner in the Stevens hotel given by the Society for Cultural Relations with Soviet Russia. Among others at the speaker's table were Prof. Samuel N. Harper of the University of Chicago, Walter T. Fisher, W. O. Thompson, Arnold R. Baar, president of the City club, and Prof. Frederick L. Schuman. P. B. Belesky, local manager of Intourist, served as interpreter.

At noon Mr. Kurtz was guest at a luncheon given at the Chicago club by Ernest R. Graham, architect, attended by a group of business men interested in trade relations with Russia.

MILLION FUND TO TENNESSEE USER OF ELECTRICITY

Roosevelt Corporation to Hit at Prices.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Having appropriated 50 million dollars of public funds to develop electric power in the Tennessee Valley, President Roosevelt today set aside another million dollars of government funds and invited the Tennessee folk to use it for buying irons, refrigerators, toasters, and other electrical "what-nots."

In order to build up a market for the electrical energy he is calling into being, the President in an executive order today set up a million dollar mortgage loan corporation, using public works easy money, and directed the corporation to finance electrical appliance purchases in the Tennessee region.

Manufacturers of electrical household goods are enthusiastic over the prospect of having the government furnish funds with which their products can be bought, Stephan T. Early, secretary to the President, said in an official explanation of the order.

"The purpose of the corporation," Mr. Early explained, "is to enable the government to extend cheap credit to all home owners and residents within the Tennessee Valley Authority area for the purchase of electrical appliances."

MILLIONS FOR CORN

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Thirty-five million dollars will be spent by Nebraska farmers in the next sixty or ninety days. Seventy-five to 100 millions will be spent by Iowa farmers in the same period. It will be the greatest era of selling and buying this western country ever experienced.

This spending and buying is not a matter for the distant future, nor is it just around the corner. It is right now and right here. It has already begun. The money has already started moving. In the next two or three months more money per capita will probably be spent in Iowa and Nebraska than in any other section of the country.

"Corn" is the answer to the question as to where all this money is coming from.

There's a world of corn in Nebraska and Iowa and the government is advancing 45 cents per bushel to any and all farmers who make application with their corn as security. This fact is known all over the country. But the amount, and the effect, of this government advance to the farmers is just beginning to sink into the consciousness of business men.

ESTATE CHARGES ASSESSOR WITH BREAKING FAITH

He Denies Agreement on Tax Valuation.

Attorneys for the estate of Julius Rosenwald, seeking a reduction in the 1932 personal property assessment against the estate, charged before the board of tax appeals yesterday that Assessor Jacobs had reneged on an agreement made a year ago to assess stocks held by the estate at less than their market value.

The assessor promptly denied having entered any such agreement, and the board of appeals sustained his assessment of $1,304,704, on which the taxes will be about $92,000. The two appeals board members, long at swords points with the assessor, remarked that even if he had entered an agreement they were not bound to abide by it.

Assessment Method Shown.

The proceedings disclosed that for both 1931 and 1932 the assessor had appraised stocks held by the Rosenwald estate at 20 per cent of their full value to obtain the so-called full valuation. This valuation was then reduced to 37 per cent to obtain the assessed value, against which the tax rate is applied. Attorneys Herbert M. Lautmann and Charles Lederer claimed on behalf of the estate, however, that the assessment was still too high.

The principal item in the estate is 780,000 shares of Sears, Roebuck & Co., which for 1932 the assessor first valued at about $27 a share, its quoted price on April 1 of that year, or a total of $17,542,491. This was cut to 20 per cent, and with other stock similarly treated, gave a so-called full valuation of $3,508,498, and an assessed valuation of $1,304,705. The attorneys, however, contended that the full valuation should have been only $955,628.

Tell of 1931 Valuation.

The estate representatives based this figure on the 1931 assessed valuation as finally approved. This was $955,628, on which a tax of about $63,000 was paid. For 1931 the assessor valued Sears, Roebuck stock held by the estate, then quoted at $55 a share on the stock market, at $15 a share. This was reduced to 20 per cent, or $3 a share for the "full valuation," and then to 37 per cent, or $1.11 a share, for the assessed value. The $15 figure was used in computing the inheritance tax on the estate, it developed.

"We went to see the assessor," Attorney Lautmann told the appeals board, "and after a long talk with him in which we contended that the executors should not be taxed at all, because the estate was not in existence on April 1, 1931, Mr. Rosenwald being alive then, it was agreed that we should pay $63,000. It was agreed that we should consider the 1932 schedule in the same way. Our conference pertained to both years."

Jacobs Denies Agreement.

"I made no such agreement," said Assessor Jacobs.

"Will you deny that there was any conference at which an agreement was made?" asked Attorney Lautmann.

"You may have written to me about it," said the assessor, "but I never acceeded to any agreement."

"Why should we be party to any such agreement?" asked Reviewer George F. Nixon. "And why should we consent to an arbitrary reduction in stock valuation, when the small property owner is assessed the full value?"

"We must sustain this year's assessment and can take no cognizance of that for last year," said Reviewer Fred W. Brummel.

Cook County Sets Record for Collections.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday were $240,515, making a total of $96,622,816 collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began on April 28. The day's collections of real estate taxes and the uncollected taxes for the last four years follow:

	1928.	1929.
Dec. 19	$ 15,617	$ 28,438
Uncollected	15,925,825	42,498,455
	1930.	1931.
Dec. 19	$ 94,497	$ 101,983
Uncollected	67,441,985	66,937,733

In a little more than the last twelve and a half months Cook county has paid a total of $214,051,274 in current and delinquent taxes, it was shown by a report made public yesterday by County Treasurer McDonough.

The exact period in which these collections were made was from Dec. 1, 1932, to Dec. 18, 1933. George N. Hagenauer, auditor for the treasurer, was unable to furnish collection totals as of Dec. 18 last year, but he pointed out that even after taking into consideration the extra 18 days, the tax collection record is the most impressive in the history of the county.

Never before have the total collections in a single year reached the $200,000,000 mark. It was the collection of delinquent 1928, 1929 and 1930 taxes which set the record. Payments on the 1931 levy, placed in collection this year, have been only $158,595,601 so far, out of a total tax bill of $263,756,604.

Point to Kerner-Skarda Act.

The success of the Kerner-Skarda act, permitting appointment of the county treasurer as receiver to collect delinquent 1928, 1929 and 1930 taxes on income producing properties, is demonstrated by the classification of delinquent taxes during the period of a little more than a year, county officials said. Out of a total payment of $55,455,673 in delinquent taxes, $53,618,684 was on real estate.

Railroads paid only $1,028,107 in delinquent taxes, having paid virtually all their bills when they fell due, and only $808,882 was collected in delinquent personal property taxes.

Even at the start of the collection period, a lower percentage of personal property taxes than real estate taxes had been paid, and the heavy payments of back real estate taxes wide ended still further the delinquency gap between the two classes. The county still has to collect 70 per cent of any levy on personal property made since the 1928 reassessment.

Record Interest and Penalties.

In addition to payments of principal, delinquent taxpayers have paid more than $6,000,000 in interest and penalties during the last 12 months and 18 days, an all time high for these payments.

Had it not been for the uncertainty instilled in small taxpayers by the long and bitter fight over the plan for a 15 per cent cut in 1931 assessments of homes and small flat buildings—a fight which is still going on—an additional $20,000,000 in taxes might have been paid by this time on the 1931 levy, county officials estimated.

The first installment of 1931 real estate taxes is now 74.24 per cent collected, and the second installment is only 51.24 per cent collected. The drop in second installment payments is attributed largely to uncertainty of home owners as to whether they would get the 15 per cent cut, and unwillingness to pay until they made sure.

ROOSEVELT SETS UP BOARD TO CO-ORDINATE RECOVERY AGENCIES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today organized his national emergency council to take over the field work of the many recovery agencies and ordered local representation for consumers in all cities.

Under the direction of Frank C. Walker of New York, the council, which met for the first time today at the White House, will seek coördination of the government recovery units under state directors.

The directors will be appointed shortly and probably hold a meeting here next month at which administration officials will outline the purposes and objectives of the recovery campaign.

After today's meeting Walker said the council was intended to consolidate many of the existing government agencies out in the field and to abolish others.

Members of the council include Mrs. Mary H. Rumsey, head of the consumers' council in the national recovery administration; Secretaries Ickes, Wallace, Roper, and Perkins, and Hugh S. Johnson and Harry L. Hopkins.

INDUSTRY JOINS FIGHT ON INCOME TAX PROPOSAL

Blow to U. S. Foreign Trade, Hearing Is Told.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—American industrial and transportation representatives today joined the administration in opposing the house ways and means committee's proposed abolition of consolidated corporate income tax returns and credit for foreign tax payments.

These proposals, designed by a subcommittee to prevent income tax evasions and to bring in 30 million dollars additional revenue annually, were assailed at hearings as interfering with domestic business practices and striking at American foreign trade.

Dickinson Hits Program.

Acting Secretary John Dickinson of the commerce department followed up the criticism made last week by Acting Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury against the recommendation that American concerns operating abroad not be allowed to take credit in taxes paid to the United States treasury, but to deduct the amount paid foreign governments from their gross income.

"It is hardly a favorable time to impose an additional tax burden on our foreign trade," Dickinson said in describing the committee's proposal as "double taxation" and explaining that he favored the principle of single taxation.

The proposal to abolish consolidated returns, also opposed by Morgenthau was assailed by representatives of industry and railroads.

Means Ruin, Says Rail Man.

George P. P. Bonnell of Pittsburgh, tax consultant of the Armstrong Cork company, said if each subsidiary of a big business were compelled to file a separate return, it would not only result in a possible loss of revenue to the treasury, but in the liquidation of many affiliated companies.

The prediction that if railroads were not allowed to continue to file consolidated returns all would be forced "into the canyon of bankruptcy" was made by Ben C. Dey of New York representing the Southern Pacific Railroad company.

Jacob Arnson of New York, representing the New York Central, described railroads as a huge department store, with some departments paying and the others losing money.

"Where the subsidiaries are wholly owned consolidated returns should be permitted," said Arnson.

Farm Bureau Plan Offered.

The tax program of the American Farm Bureau federation was received from Chester Gray, its Washington representative.

He indorsed the subcommittee's provision for continuing the 1932 income tax rate and the new proposals on surtax rates; recommended an increase from 13¾ to 15 per cent for the corporate tax; urged the boosting of the gift tax to the present estate levy of 1 per cent of the first $10,000 to 45 per cent on $10,000,000 and above, a $2.50 liquor tax, and broadening the base for individual incomes by lowering exemptions.

In addition, he said, the bureau recommended that:

Capital net gain not be checked against by losses.

Consolidated returns be eliminated.

Incomes from future issues of tax free securities be not made deductible in figuring income taxes.

BARRY FREED OF VAG CHARGE.

John [West Side Jack] Barry, alleged hoodlum and racketeer, was freed yesterday in felony court when the police admitted there was no evidence to support a vagrancy charge.

DOCTORS DIFFER ON EFFECTS OF SCHOOL MERGER

Nation-Wide Dispute Said to Be Threatening.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Nation-wide medical controversy is threatening as a result of the proposals to merge Northwestern university and the University of Chicago. Disclosure of such controversy, which already is reaching considerable heat, was made yesterday by Dr. David S. Hillis, head of the obstetrical department of the Cook county hospital and a member of the staff of Northwestern medical school.

While the controversy still is in the informal stage, Dr. Hillis said, he added that the time is not far distant when the effects of the proposed merger will be thoroughly studied by the local and national medical associations. He pointed out that the methods of medical instruction at the University of Chicago are in complete conflict with those of the "orthodox" medical schools.

Method at University of Chicago.

The University of Chicago is committed to the Flexner-Rockefeller type of medical instruction, which, Dr. Hillis explained, tends toward the eventual destruction of the medical profession and the "sovietizing of medicine, generally." It proposes that greatest progress in medical arts results from approach to those arts by way of the biological sciences, with its schools of medicine manned by teachers who are practically excluded from the private practice of medicine, he said.

Dr. Hillis described the method of medical instruction of Northwestern as being diametrically opposed to that on the Midway. In place of instruction being left in the hands of "cloistered scientists" who are out of contact with the practicing profession and its problems, he said, the professors at Northwestern are practicing physicians as well as clinicians.

"Every one who knows the inside of our universities and their medical schools," said Dr. Hillis, "looks at the Midway medical school and feels sorry for the dismal failure of that experiment. The only schools which have undertaken the Rockefeller-Flexner method have been 'bought' with Rockefeller money. I think there are about a dozen in the country. At the University of Chicago, the leading Rockefeller-Flexner school, the benches are nearly empty. The better students there eagerly look toward their third year when they can transfer from the Midway to Rush Medical college where the profession of medicine is emphasized as it is at Northwestern.

More Northwestern Applicants.

"While the Rockefeller-Flexner approach has been a gigantic failure at the University of Chicago, the Northwestern Medical school has ten times as many applicants for admission as the school can accommodate. The Flexner idea has been thrown out of English medical schools, and I am told that Dr. Flexner recently repudiated it himself."

Dr. Hillis then spoke of the development of clinicians under the plan devised by the founder of the Northwestern Medical school, Dr. Nathan S. Davis. The storehouse of clinical experience available to the Northwestern faculty, he said, is found in the large amount of free treatment of poor patients. This, according to reliable figures, is given at a cost of nearly $150,000 annually. About 150,000 cases will be handled this year, according to leaders of the Women's faculty club who aid in raising funds to sustain the free clinics.

According to William Shaw, 141 West Jackson boulevard, the free clinics have been in operation continuously since the fire of 1871. He added that 50,000 families are on the current rolls of the clinics. Mr. Shaw explained that while it is unfair to select individual physicians from the list of more than 200 who form the medical faculty giving portions of their time, as renowned clinicians, to aid the sick needy, yet he pointed out Dr. Isaac Abt, pediatrist; Dr. Loyal Davis, surgeon; Dr. Arthur Curtis, gynecologist; Dr. A. C. Ivy, physiologist, and Dr. L. J. Pollack, neurologist, and many others.

Rockefeller Plan's Purpose.

Dr. Hillis pointed to what he called "the ruthless determination" of the Rockefeller foundation interests to stamp out conflicting interests in medical education in Chicago.

He pointed to the fate of the Illinois Training School for Nurses "as an example of what will happen to Northwestern Medical school if the merger is completed." The Illinois Training School for Nurses was merged with the University of Chicago in 1929 over the opposition of medical leaders, who declared the merger was "the most colossal blunder in nursing education ever undertaken in America."

Use of Endowment.

According to Dr. Hillis, the University of Chicago was expected to use the endowment of about $500,000, together with donated and publicly maintained equipment to carry on a nurses' training school under its auspices.

"In place of that," Dr. Hillis continued, "the University of Chicago not only took the endowment and equipment and did nothing about the creation or continuation of a nurses' training school, but is now charging the county training school an $18,000 annual rental for the building and equipment."

At the time the merger was completed, the late Anton J. Cermak, then president of the county board, charged the building had been maintained at public expense for more than 40 years and that during the previous 15 years county funds had paid depreciation costs. In 1928, the year before the merger, the county had spent $1,156,374 on the school. Mr. Cermak charged the school board had refused to submit a budget, and that "now they give the building to the University of Chicago after it has been virtually paid for by the taxpayers."

LOCATE 'HOMESTEAD' TEST IN INDIANA AT TOWN OF DECATUR

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—One of the subsistence homestead communities contemplated by the Roosevelt administration under its social adjustment program is to be established at Decatur, Ind., it was announced tonight.

A corporation to administer the enterprise will be organized there as a subsidiary of the federal subsistence homestead corporation, of which Secretary Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior, is chairman. This subsidiary will be responsible for constructing the homes and selecting the occupants.

The homestead community at Decatur is the second one in the country definitely to be planned.

Options have been obtained on 80 acres of farm land adjoining the Decatur city limits. From 40 to 48 homesteads will be established, with tracts for each of one or two acres. Occupants will be selected from among workers ordinarily engaged in a variety of occupations.

The occupants will receive a tract for buying, and will make small monthly payments to acquire title.

POLICE SLAYING DEFENDANT IS FREED BY JURY

Emil Manzone, the last of the alleged police slayers in custody, was acquitted last night by a jury in Judge Walter P. Steffen's Criminal court. He was charged with complicity in the murder on Jan. 20 of Policeman Maurice Marcusson during an attempted robbery of a dress shop in a building at 323 West Jackson boulevard.

Manzone was arrested in New Orleans several months ago. The witnesses for the prosecution, who had identified other men arrested in the case, however, failed to identify Manzone positively when given an opportunity to see him recently in court. Attorney Charles Bellows for the defense said that his client was a victim of mistaken identity.

Tony Rocco, who actually fired the shot, was convicted in the Criminal court recently and sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary. Peter Manzone, a brother of Emil Manzone, was also recently convicted of the murder of another west side youth, and is under a 25 year penitentiary sentence.

Needham Denied Separate Trial in H. O. Stone Case

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday denied a motion for a severance for Attorney Leslie A. Needham, one of five officials of H. O. Stone & Co., defunct real estate investment concern, who are to go to trial Jan. 15 on charges of using the mails to defraud. The defendants were sentenced to 20 years each in the penitentiary at a previous trial, but won a reversal in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. The other defendants are Henry F. Norcott, Harold D. Bennett, W. Scott Carroll, and Charles P. Packer.

HITLER SUBMITS WRITTEN ARMS DEMAND TO PARIS

French Leaders Advocate "Big Stick" Policy.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 19.—Germany's demands for legal rearmament reached the French government today in written form, and at the same time the two men who dominate France's foreign policy made known, each in his own way, what the answer should be.

Edouard Daladier, minister of war, who believes in speaking softly to Chancellor Hitler, but in carrying a big stick, informed the chamber of deputies in a surprise debate on the modification of the French conscription system that by next summer France will be able to count on a well-equipped army of about 1,000,000 trained fighters. This will be composed of 470,000 men in active service and a picked body of 500,000 crack reservists, whom Daladier intends to prepare for instantaneous mobilization.

With much force, the stocky war minister declared that France need fear no one and is ready for any developments, diplomatic or otherwise.

Plans to Extend Forts.

Daladier assured the chamber that the army would be kept at its present strength during 1934 and 1935, and that credits would be asked for extending the steel chain of underground frontier fortresses "to the sea." Improvements in equipment are also envisaged.

Daladier did not indicate whether the proposed new defenses would follow the Belgian frontier or would extend farther south. The French, fearing a repetition of events of 1914, have openly expressed worry over the quality of the Belgian defenses.

A different policy is favored by former Premier Edouard Herriot, president of the foreign affairs committee of the chamber and chairman of the Radical Socialist party, to which Daladier belongs. Insiders are convinced it is the voice of Herriot which, under the signature of Mme. Genevieve Tabouis, influential journalist and confidante of the former premier, in one of the leading morning newspapers, suggested an alliance with Turkey, Russia, and the United States, and threatening Germany with an economic boycott.

According to Mme. Tabouis, who accompanied Herriot on both his American and Russian trips, President Roosevelt showed himself resolutely opposed to German rearmament and gave the French envoy "certain promises" in this respect.

Proposes War Debt "Gesture."

Mme. Tabouis expresses the opinion that a "gesture" on the part of France toward the defaulted June 15 war debt payment would render these "promises" effective and that Germany, whose economic situation is very precarious at the moment, would be forced to modify its policies.

A memorandum which was handed to Ambassador Andre Francois-Poncet in Berlin yesterday was scheduled to be brought here today by the counselor of the French embassy. It is understood the document contains no new offers, but embodies in more or less formal manner the point of view expressed verbally by Hitler in conversations with Francois-Poncet.

It notably explains the impossibility of abolishing the brown shirt militia for internal political reasons, and attempts to prove that Germany is not preparing for war.

Offers Nonaggression Pact.

It is reported that the German demand for a reichswehr [regular army] of 300,000 men is reiterated, but that for the first time Hitler admits officially his willingness to accept supervision of armaments. The memorandum is said to close with an offer of a nonaggression pact.

It is understood that no formal decision will be taken regarding the German memorandum until after the visit of Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, who is due here Thursday to try to moderate the French stand.

NATIONS REJOICE AS SLAUGHTER IN GRAN CHACO ENDS

Jungle War Stops Last Midnight.

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A respite from war came tonight to the Gran Chaco and the Americas. Along a 300 mile front in the sub-equatorial wilderness over which Bolivia and Paraguay have been in dispute for 50 years, firing from the thatched trenches was ordered to stop at midnight.

At these miserable outposts in the last 17 months 150,000 Paraguayan and Bolivian soldiers have battled; 30,000 have died, 20,000 have been taken prisoners, and unnumbered thousands have been casualties of bullets, dysentery, scurvy, and typhus.

Great Rejoicing.

As the truce of at least 11 days was being arranged by a league of nations commission with the backing of President Terra of Uruguay and Pan-American republics whose delegates are now in session here, expressions of the deepest joy were voiced on all sides.

Indian mothers tonight plodded up the steep streets of La Paz, the capital of Bolivia, or across the rough pavements of Asuncion, Paraguay, to reread from torchlit blackboards the word that peace at last had come with the Christmas season.

In high places, too, there was heartfelt rejoicing that finally the two nations would cease the dispute over the border area of 300,000 square miles of jungle, plains, and swamps which Paraguay has claimed is a part of her territory and which Bolivia has claimed and desired because it would give her a river outlet to the sea.

Peace Parley at Montevideo.

From La Paz the president of the league Chaco commission, Julio Alvarez del Vayo; the secretary, Juan Antonio Buero, and the French member, Gen. Freydenberg, hastened to Montevideo to assume charge of the peace negotiations, for which Montevideo was chosen as the site.

The present truce came after the Paraguayan army last week had smashed the spearhead of four forts protecting the Bolivian Chaco vortex, Fort Munoz, and then pushed on to besiege the fort. On Saturday Bolivia, through the league Chaco commission, consented to an indefinite armistice if the arbitration were carried to the world court at The Hague and if other conditions, not made public, were met.

Paraguay yesterday counter-proposed a truce to enable consideration of the Bolivian proposal and to see whether it offered adequate insurance against a resumption of fighting and whether the two countries were sufficiently in agreement on essential points so that a longer armistice could be effected. Bolivia acquiesced.

Peace Credit Given Hull.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 19.—The armistice between Bolivia and Paraguay which goes into effect tonight is considered largely a result of Secretary of State Hull's efforts. South American foreign ministers give him much credit for the persistent manner in which he worked behind the scenes with the fixed determination that the Pan-American conference should not adjourn without terminating the Chaco war.

11 BOMBS ROCK HAVANA IN WAR OVER LABOR LAW

BY GUSTAVO RENO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Dec. 19.—Eleven bombs exploded in Havana early today, injuring five persons and damaging stores and buildings.

The bombings were preceded by an announcement from a pirate radio station run by the ABC revolutionary organization that "from this date until Jefferson Caffery [representative of President Roosevelt in Cuba] ousts the Grau San Martin regime and establishes a government acceptable to all Cubans and capable of obtaining recognition from the United States, no fewer than ten bombs will explode nightly."

Laid to Labor Law Foes.

Some of the bombings were attributed to foreigners opposing the government's recently enacted law making it compulsory to employ at least 50 per cent native labor, 25 per cent naturalized Cubans, and not more than 25 per cent foreign labor.

A general business strike ordered by the National Federation of Labor became effective today in protest against what the federation called the Grau régime's "Fascist laws, for the liberty of 350 imprisoned laborers, and for the opening of all labor centers."

Soldiers Force Doors Open.

Business houses appeared totally closed at the regular opening hour this morning. An hour later soldiers and police started forcing doors open and compelling owners to remain inside, even though their employés had not reported for work. Soldiers and sailors acted as waiters and clerks, causing considerable confusion and extremely unsatisfactory service. Few patrons took a chance on entering the stores.

Strikers and strike breakers clashed during the day, and several persons were injured. A mammoth parade is being scheduled for Dec. 21. It is intended to show Caffery that a majority of Cubans are behind President Grau, in the belief that this will rush United States recognition.

30 DAYS FOR THEFT IN CHURCH.

Anthony Semkus, 62 years old, was sent to the Bridewell for 30 days yesterday by Municipal Judge Harold P. O'Connell for stealing a purse from a young woman during services in St. George's Roman Catholic church, 33d street and Auburn avenue.

NINTH ARREST MADE IN DRIVE ON THE T-N-T

Robert Waldt, president of the Material Teamsters' union, local 786, surrendered yesterday in the Criminal Court building on a warrant charging him with conspiracy to extort $250,000 from Chicago business men. It was the ninth arrest in the drive against the Trucking and Transportation exchange T-N-T, once powerful racket by which hoodlums are alleged to have taken $500,000 yearly from legitimate business.

Meanwhile the grand jury, which is hearing evidence on the operations of the T-N-T, spent the entire day listening to the testimony of 15 witnesses.

Assistant State's Attorney Donald Thompson announced that the grand jury investigation is expected to reach the indictment stage next week. The prosecutor said that the presentation of evidence is being speeded up so that the jurors may vote true bills, if the testimony warrants before the end of their monthly term.

Christmas Paroles for 67 Convicts in Kansas

Topeka, Kas., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Christmas freedom was assured to 67 convicts in the state penitentiary today when Gov. Alf M. Landon granted them paroles.

Alleged Tax Fixer Is Sent to Bridewell for 10 Days

Harry M. Levand, 50 years old, 6215 University avenue, was sentenced to ten days in the bridewell and fined $25 yesterday by Judge Alfred O. Erickson on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Frank C. Kipp, head of the Automotive Trust Bearing company, 2021 South Michigan avenue, testified that Levand took $25 on the pretext that he could adjust a tax bill of $900 for that sum.

Brother of Swedish Match King Is Taken to Prison

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Torsten Krueger, brother of Ivar Krueger, the late "match king," was taken to Longholmen prison today. There he will serve only five months and 15 days of his one year sentence for fraud because of the length of time he was in custody during trial. Krueger also was ordered to pay 1,500,000 kroner [about $390,000] to the stockholders of one of his concerns.

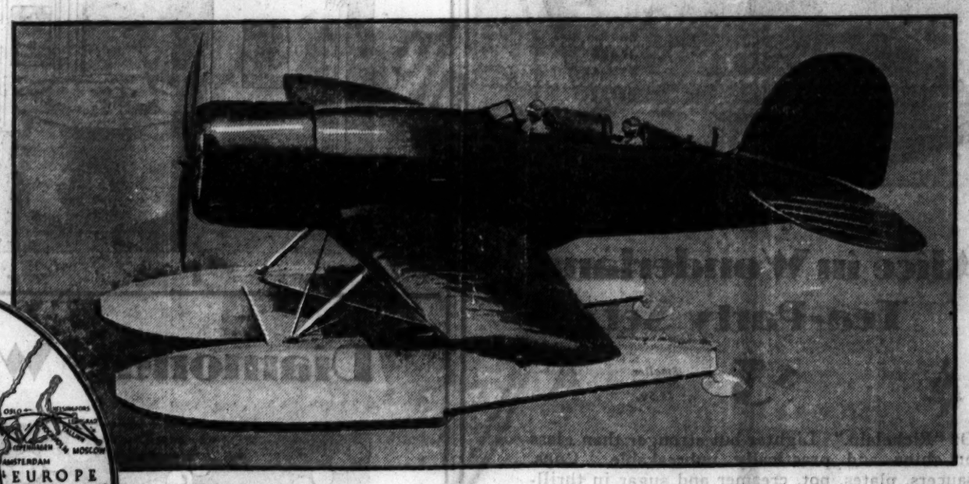
WELCOME HOME
COL. AND MRS. LINDBERGH



We heartily welcome Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on their return home to the United States. Covering 30,000 miles over Labrador, Greenland, Europe, Africa and South America, including east and west crossings of the Atlantic Ocean in temperatures ranging from sub-Arctic cold to the intense heat of the tropics—they skillfully conquered distance and weather alike.

Powered by a 715-horsepower Wright Cyclone Engine, a Lockheed Sirius Monoplane carried the Lindberghs all the way. What is more, their Wright Cyclone functioned perfectly throughout the entire flight—a proud performance.

Wright Engines and Colonel Lindbergh have made history together. A 220-horsepower Wright Whirlwind carried him in the "Spirit of St. Louis" to Paris on his first magnificent flight across the Atlantic. A 575-horsepower Wright Cyclone bore the Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh from Washington, D. C. over the icy wastes of Northern Canada and Alaska to Japan and China. And a 715-horsepower Wright Cyclone served them well on this latest and longest journey.

Colonel Lindbergh is technical advisor to Pan American Airways System and Transcontinental & Western Air, two of the world's largest transport systems. From this flight, made in the interest of Pan American Airways System, he brings back technical data and information of the greatest importance to the program for an American trans-Atlantic air service.

We again salute the skill of Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh.

LAWYERS LAUNCH DRIVE AGAINST JEWS IN AUSTRIA

Ask Government to Draft Anti-Semitic Laws.

VIENNA, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The Jewish question moved into the forefront of Austrian politics today with news of the formation of an "Aryan Bar association."

An appeal to the ministry of justice for issuance of a decree gradually introducing anti-Semitic clauses into the local profession has been made by the association. Some reports said the ministry was preparing a preliminary draft of such a decree.

Jewish attorneys appeared unpleasantly impressed by the prominence of numerous members of the new group, which includes Walter Riehl, formerly active in the Nazi movement, and two cabinet members, Dr. Karl Buresh, minister of finance, and Dr. Otto Ender, minister without portfolio.

It was emphasized in government quarters, however, that whatever measures might be forthcoming they would not resemble anti-Jewish restrictions in effect in Germany.

"It's a long way," one spokesman said, "between drafting a decree in the ministry and its actual proclamation by the government.

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, Dec. 19.—Many arrests of youths who are members of Nationalist Anti-Semitic organizations followed attempts today to interfere with Christmas shopping at Jewish stores. Many shop windows were smashed, stench bombs were thrown and panic was spread by false fire alarms.

In Posen a clerk, Karl Hill, was injured by a stench bomb explosion in a newly opened chain store, alleged to be operated by Jews.

Prussia Hits Jewish Students.

BERLIN, Dec. 19.—(AP)—An order of the Prussian minister of education today decreed that Jewish medical students in Prussian universities must give up their German citizenship if they want a doctor's degree. The only other course open to them is to change their status to that of resident foreigners.

Reichstag Fire Body Meets.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The so-called "legal commission of inquiry" into the burning of the reichstag for which five communists are on trial in Germany, held its final public session at Caxton hall here today. The commission, which has no official standing, was composed of attorneys from the United States, Great Britain and France. Only about 30 people attended the session, most of whom were newspaper representatives.

After a brief summing up by Maitre Bergery, French representative, and the introduction of a few minor details of fresh evidence, the session closed. Tomorrow the judges will spend the day in a private session and issue a report of their findings in the evening.

U. S. HELPS PLACE BAN ON INTERVENTION AT PAN-AMERICAN PARLEY

MONTEVIDEO, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A Cuban sponsored resolution outlawing intervention among American nations was approved today by the international law committee of the Pan-American conference.

The United States voted for it, with reservations, after Secretary of State Hull had told the committee: "I feel safe in undertaking to say that no government need feel any uneasiness about intervention by the United States during the Roosevelt administration."

The reservations specified by the United States delegation suggested that certain fundamental terms in the subcommittee report which the law committee adopted required definition. Included in the resolution was a declaration that "no state has a right to intervene in the internal or external affairs of another," and assertions that existence of a state is not dependent upon recognition, that fundamental rights of a state cannot be affected by another state, and that foreigners cannot claim more complete rights than the nationals of a country.

49 TERRORIZED BY GUNMEN IN TWO ROBBERIES

Eight women and 18 men were terrorized yesterday when four robbers armed with sawed off shotguns and revolvers invaded the Mallott & Johnson company, wholesale grocery, at 2914 Lincoln avenue, where they are employés, and emptied a cash drawer of $500.

The men were forced to lie on the floor and the women were ordered to stand in a corner. Two of the gunmen forced Robert W. Mallott, president of the company, to open the cash drawer. They fled in an automobile driven by a fifth man.

A short time before this crime four bandits carrying a shotgun and revolvers entered the offices of the Inderrieden Canning company, 516 West Erie street, and forced 25 customers and employés to lie on the floor while they collected $800. Seven women employés were not molested, but the men, eight of whom were customers, were robbed as they lay on the floor.

While two of the bandits were rifling wallets the other robbers forced W. F. Diedrich, company treasurer, to hand over $200 in the cash box and made Frank Geselbracht, another employé, open the vault, from which they took $400.

SPANISH Ppremier BOWS TO TERMS OF CHURCH PARTY

Anti-Religious Laws to Be Modified.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, Dec. 19.—The church in Spain, victorious in the recent elections, is demanding that the government reverse its recent anti-Catholic policies and undo much of the work of the old parliament which aimed its blows at the church.

Speaking before the cortes, which is very different from the constituent body dissolved a few months ago, Jose Maria Gil Robles, chief of the triumphant clericals, told Premier Alejandro Lerroux their terms for keeping his or another Republican government alive.

Demand Pact with Vatican.

The clericals are asking first, a concordat with the Vatican; second, abolition of the ban on the educational activities of monks and nuns; third, modification of the socialistic land reforms through recognition of the "Christian system of small property holdings."

"We don't think the moment has come for us to take the power," Gil Robles said. "Having been victims, we don't care so soon to assume the role of executioner.

"We consider these elections went not against the republic but against its policy. However if these policies are not rectified quickly, clearly the next elections will go against the régime itself."

So speaking, Gil Robles relieved anxieties widely entertained by making it clear that the bloc of 116 clericals and their 40 odd allies will not take the warpath against the republic but will frankly support it as long as they get what they want.

Lerroux, who has risen at last to the point where he is about to get a vote of confidence as Republican prime minister—he ruled last fall for a month without one and fell—was a plaintive figure as he bowed to the mastery of elements he has fought all his life.

"My first task," he said, "will be to nationalize the republic and reconcile all Spaniards to it and in it. How? By respecting the constitution, but interpreting it with flexibility."

This was taken to mean he is going to be a good minister and do as he is told. Constitutional bans on teaching by monks and nuns, which is one of the major tenets of Republican faith in a country where the church educated nearly 50 per cent of the youth, will simply be allowed to lapse, it appears.

"Redistribution of the land," Lerroux went on, "will be accomplished on a basis of individual ownership, leaving to future generations whatever more just transformations may be advisable."

Former Allies Listen in Scorn.

Thus Lerroux, spread eagle orator of the republic, stood up in a frock coat and meekly read the speech crowning his career. His former ally, former Premier Manuel Azana, and others obliterated at the polls because of his alliance with the monarchist elements, watch him in silent scorn. Then the rotund but vitriolic Socialist, Indalecio Prieto, asked Lerroux an embarrassing question:

"This legislation you are going to nullify—did you not help to pass it?"

He was referring to the frenzied night in October two years ago when, with Lerroux in the government, the historic anti-religious program was voted into the constitution.

BRITISH PEERS PASS MEASURE TO REFORM THE HOUSE OF LORDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The urgent need for stronger safeguards against the danger of radical legislation following the accession of another Labor government was stressed by the marquess of Salisbury in the house of lords tonight in presenting a bill for a reform of the powers and the constitution of the house. The bill was given first reading by a vote of 84 to 35.

Under Lord Salisbury's proposals the membership of the house of lords would be reduced from 374 to 300 members, apart from princes of the blood royal, archbishops, and a limited number of bishops and law lords. Of the 300, half would be elected by the present hereditary peers from their own ranks and 150, who would be known as lords of parliament, would be elected for a period of 12 years only.

The bill also provides that the lords be granted power to hold up legislation pending a general election and that money bills should be subject to certification by a joint committee of both the house of lords and the house of commons.

Lord Salisbury said the only object of the bill is to give the house of lords power to prevent the country from being hurried into vast changes without having time to consider.

U. S. Army Flyer, Missing in Panama, Reported Found

BALBOA, C. Z., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Lieut. Joseph Bulger, United States army flyer, feared lost somewhere in the interior of Panama, was reported tonight to have been found alive at Pueblo Nuevo on the outskirts of Panama City. Bulger had been missing with his plane since 9 o'clock this morning with a gasoline supply sufficient for 80 minutes. It was not known whether the pilot crashed with his pursuit ship or descended safely in a parachute.

CHICAGO'S OWN YULE PARTY TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Proceeds Will Aid 40,000 Needy Children.

Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit, sponsored by Mayor Kelly and other leaders will be held tonight in the Chicago Stadium at 1800 West Madison street. The proceeds are to provide 40,000 underprivileged children with warm clothing and to give them the joy of Christmas toys that otherwise they would not have.

For weeks theatrical stars, choruses, orchestras, dancers and others have joined the imposing array of celebrities who will entertain at the benefit. The money from ticket sales and advertising space, expected to reach approximately $200,000, is to be turned over in its entirety to A. A. Sprague, secretary of the benefit.

Incidental expenses are to be paid for privately. A purchasing committee composed of D. F. Kelly, John T. Pirie, and Joseph Cudahy will supervise the spending of all funds. Every charity group in the city will assist in the distribution of the Christmas packages to avoid duplication and omission.

Symphony Orchestra to Play.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra conducted by Frederick A. Stock, will be one of the features of tonight's program. It will be the first appearance of the orchestra at a charity benefit of this type, according to Will J. Harris, producer of the show. Masters of ceremonies for the performance will include Harry Richman, Phil Baker, Pat Barnes, De Wolf Hopper, Truman Bradley, Paul Ash, Bob Nolan, and Don Santo.

The Paulist choir, the Mundy Spiritual choristers, Wayne King's orchestra, Fay Epperson's whistling ensemble, Rosa Raisa and Margery Maxwell, opera stars, the Duncan Sisters, and many other favorites will take their turn on the stage.

"As mayor of Chicago I feel a personal responsibility for the comfort and happiness of needy children on Christmas day," Mayor Kelly said yesterday. "It is with this thought in mind that the benefit was conceived. Chicago will save its needy children from heartbreak through Chicago's Own Christmas Benefit."

Rotary Club Celebrates.

Pre-Christmas celebrations among clubs, charitable organizations, and other groups are increasing day by day. Yesterday the Rotary club held its Christmas luncheon in the Hotel Sherman with 550 members in attendance. Paper caps and shopping bags full of presents were distributed to each, and at the close of the luncheon special prizes were given out. C. A. Rehm presided as chairman and Harry K. McEvoy as master of ceremonies.

The Central Lions club members took presents to be distributed among needy children to their luncheon in the Hotel La Salle. Dr. Ernest Graham Guthrie, general director of the Chicago Union of Congregational churches, spoke.

Historical episodes leading to the nativity of Christ will be a feature of the annual Christmas concert to be given tonight by the Loyola university Musicians' club at St. Ignatius auditorium, 1300 Loyola avenue. Numbers by vocal and instrumental soloists and the Loyola men's and mixed choruses are on the program. An organ overture by Henry Hungerford will open the concert.

Association of Commerce Party.

The Association of Commerce will hold its pre-Christmas party this noon in the Palmer house. Edgar A. Guest, writer and philosopher, will be present. A short address will be given by Lawrence Wood, chairman of the commitee on public relations of the Chicago Grand Opera company. Rosa Raisa will sing.

About 1,600 disabled veterans in Hines hospital will see the stars in "Lady Be Nice," musical revue at the Blackstone theater, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The show will be the company's Christmas present to the veterans.

AVENUE THRONGS TO HEAR CAROLS AGAIN TONIGHT

Homeward going throngs along Michigan avenue will hear Christmas carols again tonight as they approach the Tribune Tower. They will be broadcast by a system of amplifiers. The program, which originates in the W-G-N studios in the Drake hotel, will be heard from 5 to 6 o'clock on Michigan avenue. From 5 to 5:15 o'clock it will be broadcast over the radio. The first program of carols was given on Monday night. The carols will continue until Christmas eve.

The Northwestern university choir will sing several numbers. Ernest F. Pechin, cornet soloist, will play "Inflammatus." Leonard Salvo, organist, will accompany the W-G-N quartet. Solos will be sung by Mark Love, W-G-N basso.

Among the numbers to be played by the W-G-N orchestra under the direction of Adolphe Dumont will be "Adeste Fidelis," Bizet's "Carillon," and Christmas carols from many lands. Selections from suite, "Around the Christmas Tree," will include "Dance of the Chinese Dolls," and "Dance of the Clowns."

Dairy Companies Discuss Effects of Price Cutting

The possible effects on the dairy industry of the Chicago area of a reduction in retail milk prices in Chicago and suburbs were discussed yesterday in a closed meeting of the Milk Council, Inc. The council, composed of the larger dairy distributing companies of Chicago, is trying to outline amendments to the existing milk marketing agreement put into effect by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace last August. Meanwhile, according to D. N. Geyer, manager of the Pure Milk association, whose 18,000 farmer members were expected to benefit from the federal milk code's operations, no action is contemplated by the organized farmers.

Milk Foundation Aids Good Fellows

The Milk Foundation will be a Good Fellow to hundreds of boys and girls at Christmas time. Carl Deysenroth, executive secretary of the foundation, has given a check for $50 to The Chicago Tribune Good Fellow fund, the money to be used to provide quarts of milk for the baskets. STORES ELATED AS YULE BUYING RUSH CONTINUES Marked Gain in Sale of Luxuries.

Christmas buying yesterday continued at the fast pace set by shopping throngs of last week. Some State street store executives predicted that the buying would continue at full tilt until the shops close on Saturday night.

Yesterday's crowd equalled Monday's and was not far behind the record rush of Saturday.

"The crowd is fine today," said one store executive. "People are spending more than usual and our business is far ahead of what it was last year. Shoppers are buying presents in goodly quantities, plenty of the useful and practical things, but also a marked increase in the luxury items such as jewelry and perfume. They are buying things for the home, too, rugs, occasional tables, and such."

Big Improvement in Sales.

A marked improvement in sales, both as to value and volume, was reported by another merchant. He said his store was "more than satisfied" with the volume of Christmas trade.

"We are having larger crowds than ever before in our toy department," he added. "We consider this an exceedingly good sign. The buying, however, is consistent throughout the store. There is a much better selling of luxury items, such as jewelry, watches, and fur coats."

One had only to be shoved through the aisles by jostling crowds in any store on the street to realize the truth of the store managers' statements. But for all the jostling the shoppers remained good humored.

Once, however, a dour woman, her arms loaded with packages stopped the elevator operator to speak her mind because three elevators had passed her up. The passengers in the elevator appeared shocked and one turned to the operator and said: "Now that's the first unreasonable shopper I've seen this year."

Many Men Among Shoppers.

Many men were present in the shopping crowds. One middle-aged man was seen mopping his brow after looking over the entire array of mysterious perfume bottles. Finally a sympathetic clerk asked him if he wanted a certain kind of perfume.

"Well, now, lady if you'll just show me the box I'm sure I'll know which it is," he replied.

Near the purse counters a worried young man wandered from the afternoon purse to evening bag and back again. He tried the zippers, opened the coin purses, felt the leather, and examined the ornaments. The woman clerk offered a word of advice, for which he thanked her profusely.

Crowds swarmed about counters for Christmas wrappings. Women flocked to the telephone booths reporting on shopping progress or advising their husbands that dinner would be late. Children's wear, especially for the baby who is spending his first Christmas, appeared popular. Book sections did a large business.

COURT RELEASES 4 BOYS CAUGHT WITH REVOLVER

Four youths were discharged before Judge John Gutknecht in Boy's court yesterday on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. They are: Rudolph Luciani, 21 years old, 1109 West Erie street; William Graziano, 19 years old, 1114 West Ohio street; Frank Salotta, 18 years old, 523 North Curtis street, and James Costellano, 1101 West Erie street.

They were arrested Dec. 16 when several pieces of rope and a revolver were found in their automobile.

FINED FOR STEALING TAXI.

Theodore Murray, 29 years old, 1148 Washington boulevard, was fined $25 yesterday by Municipal Judge N. J. Bonelli when he admitted driving away earlier in the day with the taxicab of Walter Gadomski, 4740 South Avers avenue.

FUN ALL OVER? THERE'S THRILL FOR SPORTSMAN

Good Fellow Can Find Joy This Yule.

BY BOB BECKER.

Mr. Sportsman, the waterfowl season is over. Those of us who like to crawl into a blind in a duck marsh and watch the mallards circle against a rose-red sunrise, hear the quacking of live decoys, and get a thrill out of making a difficult shot, must wait another year to repeat such experiences.

The upland game season in Illinois also has passed on into history. No longer can one hike through the weed thickets and the marshes to rout the crafty ringneck pheasants. The pleasures and the thrills of that sport are gone for 1933. The curtain has been rung down on quail hunting. We have to lay aside our upland game guns until 1934.

But Fun's Not Over.

But, don't think that this waning year offers no more thrills, no more shooting. There is one thing that we can do this week which will bring us even more pleasure than outwitting a crafty greenheaded mallard in the marsh. It's a form of "shooting" that nets neither a wild fowl or any wild game, but, on the contrary, the deepest and most lasting satisfaction. And no hunting weapon is required. All you need is a heart and the desire to "shoot" some Christmas spirit and happiness into a home that needs your help. Be a TRIBUNE Good Fellow; take a destitute family in Chicago, provide happiness for the youngsters in that home and you'll never forget the tremendous thrill of your good deed.

There are thousands of families which will not know the joys of the holiday season unless they are contacted by a Good Fellow. And it costs so little to help them. The price of a few boxes of shotgun shells will turn the trick.

Read These Letters.

Sportsmen, read these two letters and then start your Christmas shooting.

"Dear Sirs:

"Will you kindly remember me and my family when you distribute your Christmas baskets among the poor. I have five children, ages 8, 7, 5, 3, and 2 years, and there is no one working in the family, as my husband has been out of a job for a long time and I am sick and not able to work."

"Dear Sir:

"For three years we haven't had a very cheerful Christmas at our home. There are six of us in our family. Dad hasn't been able to get a job for four years; we have been getting relief for two years and our Christmas holidays have been just another day. The relief hasn't given us anything extra on Christmas last year or year before. No one came to see us last year. I hope this year they will remember us. At least the smaller children."

GOOD FELLOW RECITAL

Students of Miss Loretta McInerney O'Brien, dramatic instructor, will hold a Good Fellow recital this evening at 8 o'clock in the Little theater at the Chicago Musical college, 64 East Van Buren street. Admission will be by gifts of food, clothing, and toys. The public is invited. Miss O'Brien will take the articles brought to the recital and, adding to them, will complete Christmas baskets for ten worthy families.

Tonight at 9:45 o'clock, during the W-G-N "Dream Ship" program, featuring the W-G-N concert orchestra, Capt. Benjamin B. Lipsner, known as the "father of the U. S. Air Mail," who is chairman of Aviation Good Fellows, will speak briefly on plans for the aviation industry to deliver more than 100 Good Fellow baskets to needy families on Sunday.

Holy Cross Hospital Marks Five Years of Service

Holy Cross hospital, 2700 West Sixty-ninth street, yesterday celebrated its fifth anniversary. Since the opening of the hospital 16,732 patients have been admitted, according to Sister Superior Mary Alma. The Sisters of St. Casimir are in charge. The hospital is accredited by the American College of Surgeons and the American Medical association. Nurses of the hospital sponsored a motion picture program last night at the St. Casimir academy, 2601 West Marquette road.

HEINZ

EVERY COUNTRY in every age, has had its favored dish, its cherished delicacies. The study of human tastes, their trends through the centuries, their variations from land to land, is a mouth-watering experience. We have explored exhaustively the history and geography of good food, so that the tables of our customers may benefit. Favorite foods of far-off peoples, condiments handed down from the days of the grand gourmets—of such as these are Heinz 57 Varieties.

HEINZ

Heinz makes things that make a Christmas Merry

The SALAD COURSE

Make it simple, light, crisp, vivacious. Give it zest and zip with Heinz vinegar. (It's rich and pungent because we mature it for months.) Give it smooth delectability with fine Olive Oil (made by Heinz in Spain).

4 Kinds of Heinz Vinegars:

Cider Vinegar — Malt Vinegar
White Pickling — Tarragon

SAUCE for the feast

Think of those Heinz Globe-Trotters out there daring darkest Asia to bring back spices pure and fine. Think of those Heinz Chefs straining and simmering to bring forth sprightly sauces. Check your pantry-shelf. Have you enough of these to make your Christmas dinner suitably grand and glorious?

Heinz Cooking Thrills:

Tomato Ketchup — Beefsteak Sauce
Evaporated Horseradish — Prepared Mustard
Worcestershire Sauce — Chili Sauce

Heinz Table Delights:

Pickles (ten kinds) — Quince Jelly
Crabapple Jelly — Grape Jelly
Currant Jelly — Spanish Olives
Ripe Mission Olives

Mince Meat

Luscious Thrills to put in your Holiday Pies

Fill your flaky pastries with a grand old-fashioned mince meat. Here are prime rich beef, fine suet, seeded Valencia raisins, luscious apples, Grecian currants, candied citron, orange and lemon peel. All these good things we have patiently stirred together and blended thoroughly.

You will find Heinz Mince Meat scrumptious and sublime, cram-full of thrilling flavor and dear old Christmas memories.

Codger's Feast

Have you a young party up in a high-chair, who can't have turkey, and can't have mince pie, but would dearly love a Christmas Dinner?

We hurry to tell you about eight (8!) infants' delights. Luscious crisp fresh vegetables and fruits, cooked in airtight kettles to keep their good flavor and vitamins, strained for digestibility and especially meant for good little boys and girls.

And the reason we urge them for a codger's Christmas is that not only do Mothers endorse them and doctors urge them—but babies themselves applaud them with vigor!

CHRISTMAS PUDDINGS

"—Visions of Sugar Plums Danced in Our Heads!"

Next to Santa Claus himself, Christmas Pudding (steaming hot!—dark and luscious!) is most thrilling of all things Christmassy. So think we. And great pains have we taken to be sure that Heinz Puddings bring your Christmas dinner to a grand climax.

To England we went for our Plum Pudding recipe. From Greece to California, for ripe delicious fruits.

And rest you merry, ladies, let nothing you dismay. For Heinz has done you a pudding that is all scrumptious Christmas bliss—no kitchen-grind, no kitchen-grief. A pudding all ready to heat, to serve, to sniff, to sigh over, and to devour in high delight.

Another glorious holiday pudding have we made for you, Fig Pudding, crammed with plump figs. Yours to choose.

HOLIDAY SPIRIT FREES 15 FROM ALIMONY CELLS

Judge Gives Them Liberty and a 'Merry Christmas'

Fifteen prisoners in the county jail's "alimony row" were released by Superior Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday and walked smilingly out of his courtroom with his wishes for a "Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year" ringing in their ears.

"And see to it that your prosperity starts early so that you can pay up some of that back alimony when you appear before me again next month," the judge admonished each one.

The men freed were the ex-husbands, recalcitrant husbands, and negligent fathers whom Judge Desort sent to jail during the last six months for failure to pay back alimony or support money for children.

Father of Six Released.

Among the men who profited by the court's Christmas spirit was Julius Duck, father of six children, who has been in jail six weeks. He was released upon the plea of Victor Frohlich, attorney for Duck's wife, Marian, 2156 West 21st street.

"They take very good care of Mr. Duck out at the county jail," said the attorney. "However, I think if he were released he might hunt up some duck meat for his wife and children."

At the time he was committed to jail Duck took two ducks into court which he intended to carry to jail with him. But Judge Desort thwarted his plan by ordering that he turn the birds over to his wife. Although Duck protested yesterday that he doesn't owe Mrs. Duck the $2,650 she claims he does, he promised to pay her $12 a week in the future.

Cooney Promises to Pay.

Daniel Cooney, who had been in jail for three months, promised to pay $382 in alimony to his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Cooney, 1012 Throop street. The court was told that Cooney had faked a mortgage on six buildings he owns in an effort to keep from paying the alimony.

Another of those freed was Albert Handel. He had been sought by six deputy sheriffs for two years before he was finally caught and sent to jail on Nov. 1. He promised to make substantial payments on the $700 alimony he owes and thus keep the deputies away from his door.

John Ursic, 3205 Princeton avenue, spent last Christmas in an alimony cell and told the court he had no desire to spend another one there. He vowed he'd pay up the $250 he owes his ex-wife and walked out a free man after a week behind the bars.

Makes Mother-in-Law Plea.

Charles Holdt, a baker, was released when his attorney explained that Holdt only abused his wife when he was influenced by liquor and only got that way when his mother-in-law was around.

"Sometimes they affect one that way," said Judge Desort, "so I'll let you go, too."

Others released included John Gerchas, who owes $2,000; John Farrise, a tailor who has been in jail three months for failure to pay $850 for the support of his wife, Frances, and their two daughters, and Henry Richtern, who owes Minnie Richtern $300 in back alimony.

Reveal Kenlay Dropped from State Legal Office

Floyd M. Kenlay, former husband of a daughter of the late Mayor Cermak, was dropped from the rolls of the office of Attorney General Otto Kerner last Aug. 20, it was learned yesterday. No reason was given for his removal from the post of inheritance tax attorney, which carried a salary of $7,500 a year. Attorney General Kerner has announced that he will leave the position unfilled as an economy measure. Last Saturday Kenlay was deposed as president of the Illinois Young People's Democratic league.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Miss Lois Dowdle, director of the American Institute of Fats and Oils in Washington, was quoted on Dec. 9 as saying to the home and community department of the American Farm Bureau Federation meeting here, that farmers down south received no recompense for plowing up their cotton. Her statement, she writes, was that they were paid $110,000,000 for the lint, and that they received no recompense for the seed that was destroyed.

An item in yesterday's TRIBUNE erroneously said that the dinner of the Irish Tourist association would be held tomorrow night at the Palmer house. The dinner is to be held at the Congress hotel.

WARNS AGAINST STATE CONTROL OF PROFESSIONS

Government control over professional men has grown so great that dentists and physicians are in danger of being reduced to the status of "highly trained technicians, doing their stint at the beck and call of creatures of an all-powerful state." So asserts Prof. Francis P. Crowley, dean of the school of education, St. Louis university, in a lecture to the Chicago Dental society at the Stevens hotel yesterday.

"It is unfortunate that the present crisis calls for extension rather than restriction of such control," he said. "In education, my own profession, we feel the pressure exerted by state officials and are constantly aware of its increasing intensity, its manifest unreasonableness, and its utter uselessness."

State dentistry, state medicine and state education, according to Prof. Crowley, is so repugnant to most professional men as to seem almost inconceivable, but added that new legislation suggested such possibilities.

CHARITY FUND GETS $5,000 FROM SWITZERLAND

A pledge of $5,000 for the Community fund, Allied Chicago Charities, was received yesterday from Dr. Albert Wander of Berne, Switzerland, chairman of the board of Wander company, 180 North Michigan avenue. The company also pledged $2,500.

Among additional pledges to the fund, which will aid 102 private welfare agencies, were $1,000 each from the Freyn Engineering company and the Nachman corporation and employés. The grand total of the fund is now $2,508,925. A total of $4,000,000 is sought. Gifts may be sent to the fund headquarters at 111 West Washington street, made payable to "Community fund."

THREE INJURED WHEN AUTO HITS FREIGHT TRAIN

Fifteen Cars Derailed by Crash.

Anthony Frederickson, 24 years old, 3948 Berry Point road, Lyons, was in a critical condition yesterday in the Westlake hospital, Melrose Park, after the automobile in which he was riding with two other persons struck a moving freight train at the Roosevelt road crossing of the Belt Line tracks at Broadview. Frederickson is a bartender.

August H. Berger, 55 years old, 401 Herrick road, Riverside, a coal dealer, and Miss Margaret Ludwig, 25 years old, 4117 Prescott avenue, Lyons, the other occupants of the car, were less seriously injured.

15 Freight Cars Derailed.

Fifteen freight cars were derailed after the first car was knocked off the track by the heavy sedan driven by Berger, and traffic on the railroad was blocked for three hours. G. Alexander, a farmer near Geneva, was sitting in this truck waiting for the train to pass when the crash occurred. He said that Berger's car swerved past him at high speed and smashed into the center of the train.

At Berger's home a grown daughter, Alice, said he had left home Monday night after dinner without announcing his destination. Berger's wife, Mary, said that he ate the evening meal hurriedly and seemed eager to leave.

Mrs. Viola La Salle, 29 years old, 720 North Keith street, was in a hospital in Herkimer, N. Y., yesterday recovering from injuries incurred Monday night when the automobile in which she was riding skidded on an icy pavement and plunged over a ten foot embankment. Her husband, George, suffered minor injuries, as did a third member of the party, John P. Velly, 635 North Clark street.

There were no deaths yesterday, and the Cook county motor toll for 1933 remained at 1,084.

Waukegan Crash Victim Dies.

Charles Van Heirseele, 21 years old, 921 Forest avenue, Waukegan, died yesterday in St. Theresa hospital in Waukegan of injuries incurred on Sunday, when his automobile skidded on the wet pavement and struck a truck northwest of Waukegan.

Bruce E. Griggs of Chicago was killed yesterday near Granton, Wis., and Elliott Quimby of Western Springs was seriously injured when the car in which they were riding skidded on the icy pavement and struck a telephone pole.

The body of a man found last Friday in the street at 1950 Lincoln avenue, apparently the victim of a hit and run driver, was identified last night as that of Charles Foster, 55 years old, 1931 Dayton street, unemployed.

HELD AS HOTEL ROBBER.

James O'Rielly, 27 years old, 66 West Van Buren street, was held to the grand jury in bond of $20,000 yesterday on the charge of robbing Louis Koohn, clerk of the Lindy hotel, 553 Madison street.

STRIKE TIES UP GREEK MAIL AND WIRE SYSTEMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Dec. 19.—The Postal Telegraph and Telephone system in Greece, except privately owned telephones in the rural districts, were tied up tonight by a strike of 7,000 governmental workers. The employés demand substantial pay increases and allowances for doctors' fees. Some of the workers earn only $8 a month.

The conservative government, headed by Premier Tsaldaris and Peter Rhallis, secretary of communications, offered to meet about half the demands of the employés. This offer was turned down at a secret meeting of the employés' representatives, and at 9 o'clock the strike order was put into effect.

So far the cable company employés are not affected, for they are better paid. But it is the law in Greece that all foreign messages must first be received at the post office. All private and press communications were cleared under difficulties tonight under a police guard.

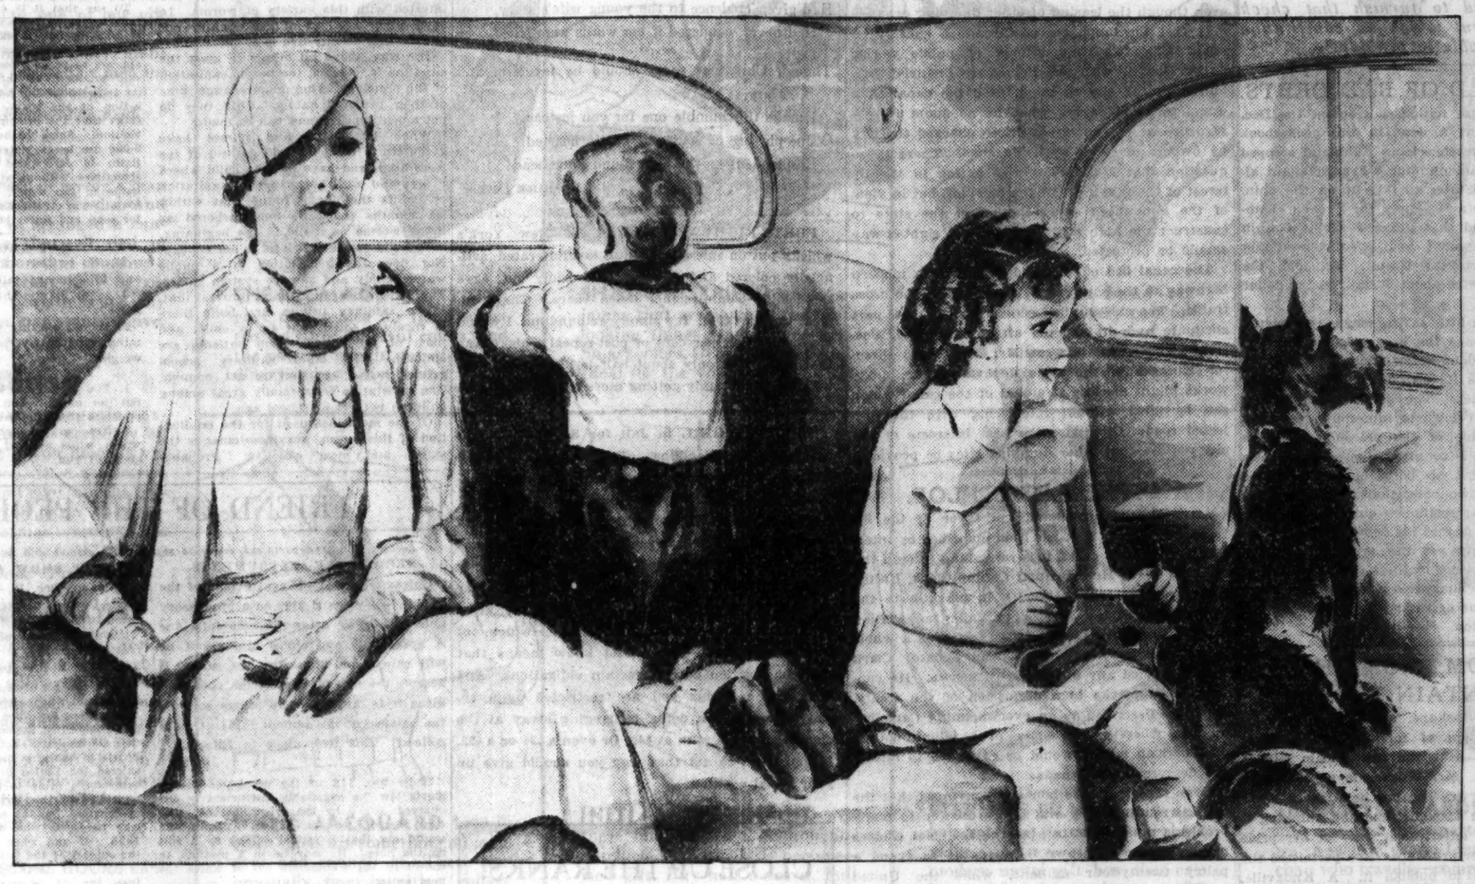
The LUXURY of ROOM



PEOPLE like room. There is no doubt about that. They will pay money to get it, at a hotel, on a ship, in their homes. It is a luxury.

General Motors has designed its entire line for 1934 to provide MORE ROOM. This applies to Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Buick, La Salle, and Cadillac. More room on the back seat—more length. More room for bags, packages, golf clubs. Room for a child to squirm or for larger persons to shift about.

With this great and simple improvement are combined two others — one which was the outstanding advancement of 1933, Fisher No-Draft Ventilation; and the other, which will be the most-talked-of development in 1934. Engineers give it a very technical name, but we have termed it "giving the car Knee-Action Wheels." If you will look at the diagrams on the right you will understand why we use this simple phrase.

The effect of this revolutionary change is apparent in your first trip; every muscle in your body has a grateful sense of its value.

The bounce and the jar and the bumps — these the soft springs of the Knee-Action Wheels have banished. Shimmy and shake are out of the wheel; the car clutches the road with a faithful grip, and moves with a smoothness beyond belief. The word ride has always connoted a certain degree of unavoidable effort and discomfort. In our 1934 cars you will glide.

HOW KNEE-ACTION WHEELS WORK

Your present car is stiff-legged. An I-beam front axle is joined to the frame by stiff front springs. So when you hit a hump the front of the car bounces, the rear pitches, and you are jarred.

See how serenely a man meets a bump. One knee bends easily, lifting its leg. The other leg is not affected; equilibrium is undisturbed. The knee, not the body, takes the jar.

Now, 1934—no more I-beam axle, no stiff springs. The wheel assembly, flexibly mounted on its own soft spring, rises and falls like a knee to soak up the shocks, while the car glides on.

An interesting booklet is available describing in more detail the fundamental principle of this new, independent front-wheel spring suspension. Simply address General Motors Corporation, New York or Detroit.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE WORLD OF BAD DEBTS.

Some of the debtor nations got across the Dec. 15 deadline without a dent in the pocketbook or a scratch on the conscience. Finland stepped up with the full amount due. France again allowed the United States to take it on the chin. The reasons for default satisfy the French chamber of deputies and that suffices. Great Britain made a token payment and by understanding avoids even a technical default. All told, the United States collected about 6 cents on the dollar due.

There was a neat little saving on such payments as were made. Since the previous due date the United States has done a few tricks with its own obligations. It has its own token payments for its promissory notes. The dollar it pays back has been controlled down to something less than two-thirds the value of the old dollar. Uncle Sam, sitting in his counting house, has been clipping and shaving his coins before he passes them out on his own obligations. Consequently he is not in the best position to take up questions of good faith with any of his debtors.

Governments have set the private world an example which does not improve the obligation of contract. The unwillingness of many debtors to pay their obligations or return the goods has distinguished inspiration.

FREEDOM FROM THE MOUNTAIN TOP.

H. D. Weaver of Spokane, Wash., was, but is no longer, superintendent of forestry service in a conservation camp near the Norris dam site in eastern Tennessee. Mr. Weaver is no longer in the government service because he wrote a letter to his wife back in Spokane, and she, thinking it was an interesting letter, as it was, let her pride get the better of her prudence. She permitted the Spokane Chronicle to publish it. A Knoxville, Tenn., newspaper reprinted it, and Mr. Weaver's troubles were down on him.

Weaver wrote Mrs. Weaver a description of the Appalachian mountaineers of eastern Tennessee as they appeared to his unfamiliar eyes, describing them as mostly illiterate. He said there was no evidence that any progress had been made in a century, that the women were a weird lot in long, shapeless gingham dresses, doing most of the work while their men folk idled. There was nothing untruthful in the picture, although much that could be said of some of the virtues of the primitive mountaineers did not appear.

Mr. Weaver may not be wholly downhearted because he has lost his job, but if he needed any consolation he might find it in reflecting that he lost it because he stated the very reasons which the government uses for the justification of the Tennessee Valley authority and the expenditure of the public money in the region. It is because these people are assumed to be the victims of environment that the federal government comes to their homes to recondition their lives. They are supposed to be unable to make headway unaided against the conditions in which they have grown up. They are interesting to the historian, philologist and antiquarian because in the backwash of the country's progress, on their hillsides and in their mountain homes they have preserved the language and many of the habits of three hundred years back. If they were not what Mr. Weaver described them to be neither he nor any other federal agent would have had an excuse for the social work being undertaken.

This is the old pioneering stock of America gone to seed on the mountain barrens, principally because their progenitors in the valleys and coves did not push on to the more desirable land awaiting the more adventurous and more ambitious of their contemporaries. These were the pioneers who were satisfied with the mountains and preferred to squat rather than go on into the blue grass of Kentucky or the plains of western Tennessee. A man like Andrew Jackson went on. The ancestor of the primitive eastern Tennessee mountaineer was content in surroundings which could not satisfy or contain the forerunner of the more progressive American society.

No doubt the stock with its surviving virtues of courage and simplicity is redeemable. Whether or not it could have worked out its own salvation is another matter, but Mr. Weaver lost his job because he stated the government's reasons for the undertaking in which it already has so much pride and confidence.

THE SELF-DELUDED SECRETARY.

Secretary Wallace pretended in his address to the Farm Bureau federation that his short term plan, the retirement of some 40,000,000 acres of arable land, can succeed in reducing the surpluses to manageable proportions. He ought to know better and he probably does. The plain fact, obvious to every competent observer today, is that the wheat acreage planted this fall is substantially as large as that of last autumn. All that has happened has been that some of the land best adapted to growing wheat has been taken out of cultivation through the bonuses offered by Mr. Wallace's department, while inferior land in other regions has been planted to wheat. If weather conditions are more favorable this year than last the wheat crop may be even larger than last year's, but, even so, it will probably yield the farmers less because the costs of production, on the average, will be higher.

What is true of wheat will be true, to a greater or less extent, of every other crop which Mr. Wallace thinks he is going to control. Meddling in the market for milk has already produced its first result in the accumulation of unprecedented quantities of butter in warehouses, a surplus that the government's stupendous purchases for poor relief have not been able to reduce appreciably.

Not even Mr. Wallace and all his bureaucrats can make productive land unproductive or make good farmers into loafers. Therefore the production of substantially all the standard farm products of this country will increase, not decrease, with very little interruption. The continual improvement in farm machinery and farm management makes the probability of increased yields a certainty.

Mr. Wallace is correct when he says that the farm problem is essentially a problem of finding markets, here and abroad, for the things the farmer grows. He is deluding himself, to put it mildly, when he thinks he is going to succeed in reducing production of important crops.

THE I. AND M. CANAL BED.

Attorney General Kerner of Illinois has been advised to bring suit to enjoin the City of Chicago from dumping refuse in the bed of the old Illinois and Michigan canal. The state desires to use the channel eventually as a depressed, high speed roadway to La Salle, Ill.

The intervention of the state to protect the right-of-way will be generally approved in Chicago even though the leasing of other dumping grounds may cost the taxpayers of Chicago a substantial sum. Chicago's commissioner of public works, Oscar Hewitt, with the immediate financial difficulties of the city in mind, used the canal as a dump to avoid paying what he no doubt rightly regarded as the excessive prices charged the city by owners of other available sites. There is no question that Mr. Hewitt was acting in the interest of the taxpayers at the moment, but in view of the announced determination of the state to construct the highway, the depressed right-of-way should be protected.

The canal bed offers an ideal site for a modern highway to the southwest. There will be no cross traffic. The existing bridges are for the most part adequate and drainage is already provided. Possibly a conference between Mr. Hewitt and Director Kingery of the state department of public works might disclose stretches of the canal which can be filled without interfering with the projected road. Otherwise the best interests of the city require that other dumping sites be provided.

A DIPLOMATIC FLOP.

After all the propaganda in favor of the St. Lawrence seaway that has been published by interests with axes to grind, it is refreshing to read the remarks of the Hon. Bennett Champ Clark, United States senator from Missouri, in his talk to the membership of the Mississippi Valley association at St. Louis recently. The association as a whole favors waterway extensions, and Senator Clark wisely avoided any discussion of merits. He confined his remarks to a discussion of the treaty, which he described as an overwhelming Canadian victory, whereby a quarter of a billion dollars of American money would be expended to relieve the depression in Canada.

Even those who are honestly convinced that the St. Lawrence seaway will be an answer to many problems must hesitate over the financial clauses of the treaty as drawn. Canada is to spend a paltry twenty-four millions, while the United States must assume the balance of the cost, estimated at two hundred millions, but which will doubtless run far beyond that figure. As if this one sided bargain were not bad enough, the further provision is added that only Canadian labor and materials, as well as the services of Canadian engineers, may be used on the Canadian side of the river, where the great bulk of the work will be done.

Referring to the oft repeated axiom that the United States "never lost a war nor won a conference," Mr. Clark concludes that we can still maintain our record without submitting to such an ignominious rout as is proposed by the treaty.

Editorial of the Day

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

[Plymouth, Ind., Pilot.]

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson in his radio message to the American people last night made fun of the stand of the newspapers of this country for the freedom of the press. The general calls the demand of the newspapers a sort of "eeny-meeny-miney-moe" affair.

However, we know that all newspaper men, regardless of party or the size of their paper, are very much alarmed and fearful that the freedom of the press will be limited in a very decided manner. It is no "eeny-meeny-miney-moe" matter with the newspapers.

If Gen. Johnson thinks it means no more than he says, why does he not approve the newspaper code with the freedom of the press clause in it, and stop fussing about it and refusing to grant it?

The fact that he and the President continue to refuse and stand against the freedom of the press clause is becoming more alarming than ever. It indicates that they have some real purpose ahead to muzzle the press from any criticism of their work. It may mean a Hitler régime in this country so far as the press is concerned.

In Germany the government has an officer in every newspaper plant to censor every issue. The editorial staff dare not express their own views, either in the paper or in conversation to others. There the press is effectively muzzled. It prints nothing except what the government wants it to print.

Does Gen. Johnson want to muzzle the press in this country? One would judge from his attitude toward it that he would gladly do so if he were only given an opportunity.

The newspapers of the country, big and little, are standing squarely and solidly for the freedom of the press clause in any code which is adopted. They will refuse to sign any code without that clause in it.

REAL TROUBLE.

At Atlantic City—Mo says he ran into a vaudeville team who explained that they weren't working on account of sinus trouble.

"Sinus trouble?" echoed Mo, kinda surprised.

"Yeah," said the male half of the act. "Nobody will sign us!"—Pittsburgh Post.

A REAL TEST.

Father—I never kissed a girl until I met your mother. Will you be able to say the same to your son?

Son—Yes, dad, but not with such a straight face. —Tit-Bits.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

THE NEWS FROM WASHINGTON is very confusing. Mrs. Roosevelt and her Scotch terrier, Meg, were refused admission to the offices of the federal emergency relief administration. And President Roosevelt is said to have under advisement a program for formal devaluation of the dollar and stabilization of the currency on a modified gold basis. But Meg was not given the bum's rush from a government building. Scotland has no right to demand that the British government lodge a protest at Washington or mobilize the Mediterranean fleet. The formal devaluation of the dollar would not be especially exciting, as they're always doing something to the dollar, anyhow; some days a pat on the head and other days a swift kick in the pants. But, of course, if Meg wanted to enter a government building she should be permitted to do so. This country cannot afford to anger the Scots. Not at this time, anyhow, when we are much in need of Scotch whisky. As for the stabilization of the currency on a modified gold basis—the trouble is, I get my Washington news all mixed up. I shall have to count to two hundred after this every time I read a Washington story before tackling another one.

A SONG FOR JOSEPH.

Bright be the halo that you wear, O Joseph,
You who trusted her before He came;
No ugly thorn of doubt grew in your bosom;
Never did you question her or blame.

Sublime your husband faith, your love unshaken.
Had given credence to the young wife's story,
Had never wondered if her words were true?

Though Christmas songs should be for Him and Mary,
I make this humble one for you instead,
O Joseph, big of soul and gentle hearted,

ADELAIDE LOVE.

FORTY-EIGHT PER CENT of New York's whisky put on sale since repeal is adulterated, artificially colored and flavored, and badly cut, says the health commissioner down there. That's almost unbelievable! It's simply astounding! I would have said 98.99 per cent of post-repeal whisky was that way. But only about half is like that! Well, well, we're certainly getting more honest each day.

"SOCIETY GIRL in Jail for Shooting Chauffeur's Wife."—Headline. Tsk, tsk, tsk! Young ladies in society really should not shoot the chauffeurs' wives. Really, you girls in society mustn't do that or papa will take your chauffeur away from you and then you'll have to drive your own car and get pinched for speeding. And a perfect lady does not pull a gun and turn it loose on other people. Oh, positively not! Noblesse oblige, girls! Which, if you know your French—which, of course, you don't—you would know means that rank or position carries certain obligations. And one of the things you are restricted as a society person from doing is banging away at the chauffeur's wife with a .44. Or even a .38 or a .22. If you want to act that way you should give up your social position.

THE SOCIETY for Cultural Relations with Soviet Russia has a very euphonious title and a most laudable object. But may we not (certainly, go ahead) say that the first cultural thing the society ought to do for the Reds is to persuade them to tuck their shirts in their pants? How can one be truly cultured if he goes around with his shirt tail fluttering in the breeze? We ask you!

"FORMER GOVERNOR Impeached for Incompetency to Run for Congress."—Headline. Which isn't a bad idea. You never heard of impeaching a congressman for incompetency, did you? If a congressman's district thinks he is a washout he just gets a postoffice appropriation for the deepening of Hick's brook (which is a navigable stream) and the deestrick rallies around with brass bands and fireworks and sends him back to Washington.

THE OTHER SIDE.

When we who trod the long hill tread it lightly,
Singing against the wind, marking the moon
That made a path for us and laid it brightly,
We did not know the down-path came so soon.

Now we are older, singing still, but lowly,
The old songs over to another moon.
Who hurried up the heights go down so slowly—

WORMS IN CHILDREN.

THERE is no best remedy for worms. There are several varieties of these parasites, and if we could say that some one medicine is best for some one kind—and this we can do sometimes—it would not follow that the medicine named would be even a poor remedy for another. For instance, Drs. W. W. Cort and G. F. Otto think hexylresorcinal is the best worm medicine where the round worm is the kind that troubles, and yet no one would expect to get much results from it if the troublesome parasite were thread worms.

Some health authorities are undertaking to survey the prevalence of round worms in human beings in various sections of the United States, just as was done a generation ago with hookworm. Probably in another generation the same plan will be carried out as to the tapeworms, and, possibly in the next succeeding generation, as to some of the parasites that have come in from the orient and are now threatening the people on the west coast somewhat.

The region already studied is that part of the United States lying east of the Mississippi river and south of the Ohio. The survey shows the regions where the largest proportions of the children have round worm are southwest Virginia [a mountainous region], the rural mountainous part of Kentucky, the mountainous section of east Tennessee, that part of the population of Tampa that came from Cuba, the rural sections of Tennessee, and certain rural regions in Louisiana.

In the most badly infested of these regions more than half the children are infested with this variety of worms. In some other sections of the country not one child in twenty-five is so infested.

The way above all others to meet the situation is to teach the people sanitation of the premises. They must change some of their personal habits. Until they do not much improvement can be made.

When physicians and nurses have given worm medicine and got rid of the infestation and have left the child where it was and with no change in sanitation or habits they have found that within six months the little one harbored as many worms as it did in the beginning.

To build sanitary privies is not enough. Nor does the installation of a public water supply and sewage system suffice. The experience in Tampa proves that. When sanitary privies are built there is rarely a toilet seat for a child, and most of the round worm patients are children. To build sanitary school privies helps, but that is not enough. The infestation is especially great among children not yet of school age.

Of the medicines used for the eradication of this worm, hexylresorcinal is the safest and most effective. Probably worm seed or chenopodium is next. Then comes carbon tetrachloride. The once popular santonin is the least effective and most dangerous of the group.

TROUBLE WITH FEET.

D. R. writes:

1. My 13 year old daughter is having trouble with her feet. Last June they were so swollen she could hardly take part in her graduation exercises. Since then she has had such burning and aching feet she can hardly wear her shoes, and most recently the skin comes off in huge blister forms. Are those the signs of athlete's foot?

2. Is athlete's foot contagious from wearing others' shoes? The younger daughter's feet have started to peel, and they wear each other's shoes. They are both normal and healthy girls.

3. Do you think my daughter could have contracted a foot disease in the school swimming tank?

REPLY.

1. They are. However, they are also symptoms of other foot conditions. If she has athlete's foot the case is an exceptionally severe one. Have a physician decide.

2. Yes.

3. Yes. Either or both daughters could have caught the disease there.

BATH ITCH.

C. R. writes: What is bath itch? Why is it? What can be done about it?

REPLY.

The medical name for this condition is bath pruritus. The word pruritus is somewhat more elegant than itch but, beyond that, the medical name has no superiority over the one in use.

To say that it is caused by bathing also fails to get us anywhere. Bath itch differs from hives due to exposure to the cold of cold water or the heat of the hot bath. It appears to be an effect on the nerves of the skin produced by the water itself and not its temperature, or some chemical, physical action of the soap. Since it lasts but a short time the principal interest lies in prevention. Some bathe in rain water only. Some use borax water. Others, soda water. Baths in carbonated brine bath salts are sometimes without after effects. Some can bathe in tap water, provided they use no soap. Some must substitute cleansing creams for soap and water bathing.

MAY GROW MORE.

M. F. writes: I am 16½ years old and 67½ inches tall.

1. Is it likely that I will grow any more?

2. Would playing basketball and swimming moderately tend to increase my weight?

REPLY.

1. You may grow a fraction of an inch, but no more. You are nearly ready to graduate from the growing school.

2. Yes, to a slight extent. They are worth while even if they fail to make a giant of you.

NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS.

Chicago, Dec. 14.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A owes B $100 on a promissory note. The day after the note falls due A goes to B and offers him $75 if he will cancel and give him the note. B accepts the money, cancels the note, and gives it to A. Later he brings suit for the balance of the amount [$25]. Can B collect? This took place in Illinois.

E. H.

Under Sec. 118 of the negotiable instruments law "a negotiable instrument is discharged . . . by the intentional cancellation thereof by the holder." Hence we would say that B cannot collect by a suit on the note. He may be in a position to collect on the transaction out of which the note arose.

MUST SHOW LEGAL ENTRY.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—[Friend of the People.]—Can a native Canadian who entered the United States in June, 1923, without payment of head tax or registration, become a citizen by applying again for a first paper? H. Z.

Under the act of March 2, 1929, a declaration of intention (first papers) may not be filed unless the alien can show legal entry into the United States, which the subject of the above letter apparently cannot show. Provision has been made whereby those who entered the United States under similar circumstances prior to June 3, 1921, can be registered by this service. Bills are pending in congress for the extension of this privilege to those who arrived before July 1, 1924. If and when this legislation passes the subject of the letter may be assisted.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN.—Twenty years of short rations, war, inflation, deflation and depression have taught Germany, by bitter experience, how to feed and clothe an army of millions of hungry and unemployed at a minimum cost.

Under the slogan "Nobody shall suffer from cold and hunger," German authorities have organized the winter relief campaign on an unparalleled scale.

In the world war, when Germany suffered more than any other country from food shortage, she received her first lesson on how to feed millions of starving people with only scant supplies at her disposal. The war was followed by the inflation in Germany, spelling ruin to millions. Again, masses of Germans were on the verge of starvation. After a short period of deflation, Germany was on her way to recovery when the country was hit by the depression. When Adolf Hitler came into power his government was faced with the problem of feeding 6,000,000 jobless and their dependents.

Never, except in inflation days, did anybody actually starve in Germany. Millions were on the verge of starvation, but due to an elaborate system of insurances, doles and welfare organizations all secured the minimum needed at minimum cost to the goverment.

Germany's officials today are trying to cut this cost to the government with the aid of an elaborate volunteer relief scheme.

The Hitler government claims that in the past nine months it has provided work for more than 2,000,000 men or one-third of the nation's unemployed. For the remaining 4,000,000 and for another 2,000,000 part time workers and pensioners with inadequate incomes the "winter relief" provides sufficient food, shelter, and fuel to help them through the winter.

To put through this campaign a network of more than 30,000 welfare offices has been established.

The overhead costs are kept at a minimum because almost the entire work is done voluntarily. One and a half million welfare workers, chiefly drawn from the ranks of the Nazi party, work without pay. The Red Cross, as well as the Catholic and Protestant church organizations, has also been called upon to coöperate.

The "winter relief" collects to distribute among the needy in the course of the winter food, clothes and fuel to the tune of $115,000,000.

The funds to finance the "winter relief" are all—more or less voluntary—contributions. Every wage earner is expected to pay 20 per cent of his wage tax, or 2 per cent of his income. In most cases the sum is deducted from the pay envelope by the employer.

The peasants are called upon to make deliveries in kind. Recently a number of farmers were placed in concentration camps for refusing to do their part.

Persons paying an adequate sum corresponding to their income receive a plaque inscribed, "We help Against Cold and Hunger." He may affix this badge to his doorway. This excuses him for a month in the house to house collections, with the exception of the "hot pot" collection which takes place on every first Sunday of the month. The roastless Sundays proved one of the main sources of income for the "winter relief" fund.

THE MERGER OPPOSED.

Chicago, Dec. 15.—To date neither President Hutchins of Chicago nor President Scott of Northwestern has offered one solid reason for the proposed unnatural marriage of their two institutions, although each gentleman speaks very vaguely and very childishly about "overlapping." Overlapping, for the information of these two gentlemen, occurs when two products of the same kind and quality are being produced by separate organizations at a consequent economic waste to society. The trick word in this definition is "quality." If the quality of the product is different there is no real overlapping. Education at the University of Chicago is not at all like education at Northwestern university. In a general way, for example, the University of Chicago undergraduate school is progressive, that of Northwestern is conservative; the Chicago law school is theoretical, that of Northwestern is practical, etc. And the almost exactly opposite educational practices of the two universities are what make them valuable to our community. They balance and check one another, and offer to the students of our area two distinct types of education. They produce two distinct types of graduates. Our city is the richer for having the two of them; we would be correspondingly poorer if there were but one. CHICAGO, '33.

IN THE NAME OF SCIENCE.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—You carry a story today concerning an exhibition by twins which is intended to demonstrate that the trained one has it all over his brother.

Well, judging from the dumb show put on by the allegedly smart kid I would say that the other must just about classify as a moron. Yet I'll lay a bet that twenty years from now the smart guy will be a nuisance and will be borrowing money from the dumb brother. That, is, he will be if he doesn't get away from the cuckoos who have him now.

If anything can be more tiresome than reading about these chromos proving what they want to prove, I don't know what it could be. Why do you give them and their phony demonstration publicity? F. J. BRESNAN.

WHERE THE BLUE EAGLE ISN'T BELOVED.

Grand Junction, Mich., Dec. 15.—I want to tell Gen. Johnson that his NRA nearly ruined every farmer in this locality. Allegan and Van Buren counties are egg and fruit producing counties, also known as the Black river fruit belt. Well, the Blue Eagle blew in here and nearly everybody hailed it as a shower of manna, and all were ready to push, pull, lift, or do anything the Big Boy wanted.

All the egg farmers were loaded up with young pullets for this winter's egg production. They were growing them on mash that was costing them $1.30 per hundredweight, and they were getting eggs enough to pay for feed at that price. Upon arrival of the Blue Eagle the price of feed at once went to $2.40 and egg prices remained the same or lower. The farmers were not able to get money enough for their eggs to pay for the feed, and borrowing a dollar was out of the question. The only thing we could do was to sell. Sell we did, and 4 to 6 cents a pound was all splendid laying stock would bring.

Bushel apple baskets that we could buy for $1.05 went to $1.45, and the price of apples fell off.

Now Wallace with his hog tax I guess will finish us off, as one farmer is not allowed to sell his neighbor a hunk of pork unless he first takes out a license and pays somebody somewhere one cent a pound live weight. And the buyers are only offering us two cents for prime hogs.

One may as well ask another to stick a smallpox sign on his car as a Blue Eagle in this locality.

AN EVIDENCE OF RECOVERY.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—That people may be encouraged who are now discouraged, I pass along a small matter which came before me this morning in the clerk's office of the city hall. I found four hundred executions were outstanding at this time last year and two hundred are outstanding at this time this year. This is the most practical demonstration of the fact that times are improving and, in my opinion, times will continually improve, possibly in a small way, until we reach normalcy.

I did not vote for President Roosevelt, having been a Republican all my life, but I am thoroughly for him at the present time and believe him to be an honest man and bent upon building up the country and overcoming depression.

NEW DEADLOCK REPORTED IN CAR MERGER PARLEYS

Hitch Due to Demand for Surface Priorities.

A new deadlock was reported yesterday in the negotiations for the merger of the elevated and surface car lines. The negotiations are being carried on by groups of bondholders of the two transit systems under the direction of Attorney Walter L. Fisher who was appointed coordinator by Federal Judge Fisher for the purpose of effecting a reorganization of the lines and taking them out of federal court receivership.

A new deadlock was reported yesterday in negotiations for the merger of the surface and elevated lines. The negotiations are being conducted by Attorney Walter L. Fisher.

The chief hitch, it is said, arises from street car bond committees headed by Albert W. Harris and Melvin A. Traylor. One demand is that the present first mortgage bonds of the surface lines be given a superior position over the first mortgage bonds of the elevated lines until all of these senior securities of the street car properties have been amortized.

Another Demand Made.

It is also demanded that the first mortgage security holders of the surface lines be given a second mortgage lien over both the street car junior securities and the first mortgage paper of the "L" lines.

These demands, it is said, are based on the present and past earning power of the two systems, and upon the physical conditions of the two sets of properties. In the last ten years the surface lines have earned $6,900,000 in excess of the amount earned by the rapid transit. In addition the surface lines have $19,000,000 in cash reserves for renewals and replacements of equipment.

The D. F. Kelly group of Elevated bond owners are standing firm against the demands made by the surface line bondholders. The Kelly group points out that the elevated was a profitable utility until two years ago, and declares that its potential value will soon make itself known again after the merger takes place.

Point to Long Pull.

It was further argued by members of the elevated bond committee that it might take from 35 to 75 years to amortize the senior bonds of the trolley property owners, with no certainty that the present senior "L" securities would receive any substantial financial consideration in all that time. It is the position of the "L" interests that the street car senior bonds should be allowed the superior consideration for only two or three years. After that time the bonds of both groups, they insist, should be put back on a parity basis.

Yesterday Mr. Traylor expressed the hope that some kind of reorganization agreement would be reached shortly despite the new deadlock. He asserted the expectation that there soon will be sufficient progress in the negotiations to warrant a nominal extension of time by the city council for acceptance of the franchise ordinance under reorganization, the deadline of which is Jan. 31.

Yesterday Ald. James B. Bowler, chairman of the council committee on local transportation, again said that any extension of time will be opposed unless there is definite evidence that a reorganization plan is imminent.

ROME, Dec. 19.—(AP)—War, air, and navy budgets for the fiscal year of 1934-1935 totaling $367,899,000 were submitted to the chamber of deputies today. This is $21,867,000 under the current budget for the same departments. The war department budget submitted is $210,000,000 — $8,500,000 under the present allotment; navy department, $98,731,000—$14,536,000 under the present budget, and aviation, $59,167,000, or $1,170,000 over the current budget.

JAIL 3 HUEY LONG ELECTION OFFICIALS FOR BALLOT FRAUDS

New Orleans, La., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Prison terms of seven months, plus $100 fines or an additional month of imprisonment today were assessed against the first three of 513 local election commissioners to be tried here on charges of falsifying returns from the state constitutional amendment vote in the general election of November, 1932.

With the case of the trio, Harold Pujol, C. J. Lusk and E. W. Huck, designated as a test of the charges still pending, an immediate appeal to the state Supreme court was announced, and District Judge Frank T. Echezabal, who passed sentence, released the men on $750 bonds pending the high court review, set for Jan. 20.

The three were convicted two weeks ago as a climax to a lengthy inquiry into election fraud charges which disclosed wide discrepancies.

SOCIAL JUSTICE DEFINED BEFORE CATHOLIC GROUP

"What is Social Justice and How May It Be Attained in This Country?" was discussed last night before 200 members of the Notre Dame club of Chicago and the National Catholic Alumni federation following a banquet at the University club.

The speakers were the Rev. John F. O'Hara, vice president; the Rev. William A. Bolger, head of the department of economics; Thomas A. Knoop, dean of the law school, and James E. McCarthy, dean of the School of Commerce, all of the University of Notre Dame. James E. Armstrong, secretary of the National Notre Dame Alumni association, presided.

Father Bolger defined social justice as the right of every man to enjoy the fruits of his own will and the fundamental rights inherent at birth. Man's rights, Father Bolger said, include the right to worship, to marry, and to earn a livelihood. He explained:

"When it is recognized that man has a few fundamental rights, then social justice exists, otherwise tyranny prevails."

Dean Konop charged that in the rush for wealth human rights and human welfare have been forgotten. The piling of capital upon capital with resulting overproduction in all industries, he said, has plunged the American people into a maelstrom of uncertainty.

POLL RECORDS INTRODUCED IN VOTE CONTEST

County Judge Jarecki yesterday resumed the hearing of the contest for the Municipal court judgeship brought by Charles F. McKinley against Judge George V. McIntyre. McKinley was defeated by Judge McIntyre by 2,365 votes in the election of Nov. 4, 1930.

Over the objections of Attorney Cornelius J. Harrington, representing Judge McIntyre, McKinley was allowed to introduce poll books and records of ten precincts in which ballots have been recounted. Judge Jarecki will rule on the admissibility of these records later.

Although McKinley has several times informed Judge Jarecki that he needed only a few hours to conclude his case, he did not finish yesterday. McKinley has filed a petition for mandamus in the state Supreme court at Springfield to compel Judge Jarecki to dispose of the case immediately. Judge Jarecki has been hearing tax cases and will stress this point in his answer to the mandamus petition.

HEARING TODAY ON $99,605,027 CANAL BUDGET

42 Million U. S. Check on Way to Drainage Board.

The sanitary district trustees will hold a public hearing today on the 1934 budget of $99,605,027. Trustee Ross A. Woodhull, chairman of the finance committee, said at the conclusion of a special budget conference yesterday that the budget probably would be adopted at a meeting on Jan. 2.

Most of the appropriations represent bonds to be sold to the federal public works administration to carry out the sewage disposal program and provisions for bond principal and interest payments and defaulted bond obligations.

The corporate fund, or current operating fund of the district, totals $7,267,167 for 1934 in the budget draft. This is a reduction of $1,006,232 from the appropriations set up in the 1933 budget. Wage cuts, reduced staffs, staggering of labor and other economy devices adopted during this year are effective for 1934, and these savings are reflected in the budget.

Contract with U. S. Signed.

During the afternoon Trustee Woodhull received a long distance telephone call from Lloyd H. Landau, general solicitor for the PWA in Washington.

"Everything is signed," said Landau, "and I'm on my way to Chicago."

"That means," explained Mr. Woodhull, "that Landau is bringing with him a check for $42,000,000, the largest allotment of federal funds in the country, for sewage plant construction. The district's bonds to cover this amount have already been placed in the federal reserve bank and the last details will be completed within a day or two."

Mr. Landau is expected to arrive in the city this afternoon. One of his assistants, Frederick Clay, and Frederick Z. Marx, attorney for the local PWA advisory board, have been conferring here daily with the sanitary district officials.

The budget item on the construction program, which will last for two years, amounts to $42,073,039. The bond and interest fund to pay off obligations already incurred totals $49,265,153. Other appropriations include employés annuity and benefit fund, $916,625; land damage bond fund, $67,053, and legal services on the government financed construction program, $16,000.

Corporate Fund Appropriations.

The corporate fund appropriations, classified according to departments, is as follows:

Department of engineering—
Engineering divisions	$ 161,442
Electrical division	1,465,462
Maintenance and operation	1,583,478
Department of law—
Law division	285,272
Real estate division	10,693
Department of the clerk—
Clerical division	158,154
Purchasing division	6,372
Department of the treasury	9,000
Board of trustees	77,050
General and fixed charges	3,512,244
Total	$7,267,167

The officials of the district have estimated their resources from taxes, payment for electric current, and other assets at $107,000,000, which brings a balance sheet surplus of $7,500,000.

Mr. Woodhull will preside over today's meeting in the absence of Thomas J. Bowler, president of the district, who went to Miami, Fla., a week ago to cure a severe cold. Mr. Bowler is expected to return to Chicago this afternoon.

BABY KIDNAPED BY MATE, WIFE SAYS; DIVORCED

Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court granted a divorce yesterday to Mrs. Ama Lou Letford, 5135 Blackstone avenue, from William K. Letford, pianist with a dance orchesra. She charged cruelty.

Judge Sabath also granted her $30 a week alimony and the custody of her son, William Jr., 2 months old. Her attorney, Emmet F. Byrne, told Judge Sabath that Letford kidnaped the baby several weeks ago and took him to the home of his grandmother in Palmyra, N. J.

After she got her decree Mrs. Letford took a plane to Camden, N. J., where a hearing will be held Friday on her petition for a writ of habeas corpus to gain custody of the child.

96 LOOTED BOX OWNERS' FINGERS WILL BE PRINTED

Police yesterday were making arrangements to take the fingerprints of the owners of the 96 safe deposit vaults looted in the robbery of the closed Unity Trust and Savings bank, 3900 West North avenue, a week ago. This is the first step in an effort to eliminate the fingerprints of owners and others entitled to handle the boxes from among nearly 100 clear fingerprints found on them by identification experts after the robbery.

A list of the box owners was being completed by bank officials last night. These persons are to be notified today or tomorrow to appear either at the bank or at the Austin police station, where their fingerprints can be taken.

The fingerprints are expected to show whether the five men who committed the robbery were members of the Touhy and Dillinger gangs, since fingerprints of most of these criminals are in possession of police.

R. T. Ummach, an official under William L. O'Connell, receiver of the bank, said the loot could not have exceeded $14,000. This sum, he said, is based on affidavits made by 90 per cent of those whose boxes were opened.

Duce Greets 92 Mothers Who Have 1,288 Children

ROME, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini today received 92 mothers whose children total 1,288, an average of 14. On Sunday Italy will hold celebrations in honor of mothers and children. Those greeted today were winners of country-wide contests to find the nation's largest families.

Wife Divorces Former Assistant Prosecutor

Mrs. Marie H. Walker, 1400 Lake Shore drive, yesterday was granted an uncontested divorce from Walter G. Walker, former assistant state's attorney. The decree was granted by Judge Rudolph F. Desort in superior court. The wife was awarded alimony of $25 a week, to be increased to $30 after Feb. 1, and her former husband is to buy her a new automobile.

HAWAII JAILS 3 ATHLETES WHO BEAT UP SAILOR

HONOLULU, Dec. 19.—(AP)—A police drive to clean up roving gangs that frequently mistreat pedestrians today involved a trio prominent in football circles.

Henry Harrison, 29, coach of the Pawaa Barefoot Football team; Bernard Joy, 25, line coach of McKinley High school; and Raymond Kaluahine, 26, a member of the town team that is to play Santa Clara university Christmas day, were convicted before Judge Francis Brooks on a charge of gang fighting. Harrison was sentenced to six months in jail and Joy and Kaluahine to three months each.

The men were arrested on complaint of George Bryant of Pearl Harbor, a sailor, who charged they attacked him and a friend. Bryant was badly bruised.

JUDGE REFUSES WRIT TO CHAIN GANG FUGITIVE

Chief Justice Philip J. Finnegan of the Criminal court yesterday denied a writ of habeas corpus for James A. La Rue, 27 years old, escaped Florida chain gang convict, whom Gov. Horner has ordered returned to Florida to complete a five year sentence for burglary.

Attorney Grenville Beardsley, retained by Miss Rosita Forbes, British writer, to defend La Rue, asked and got a twenty day stay of mittimus. He announced he would file a bill of exceptions to the denial of the writ in a move to take the case to the Illinois Supreme court.

La Rue's wife and baby were in court when Judge Finnegan ruled. La Rue was remanded to the custody of the sheriff and the defendant's wife wept as he was led away.

FORTY MARKSMEN PICKED TO HUNT OUTLAW GANGS

4 Touhy Thugs in Court; Plead Own Case.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Forty of the best marksmen from Chicago's police department will start a hunt today for members of the Dillinger and Touhy gangs, who have been identified in a number of recent crimes here. Commissioner of Police Allman signed an order placing these men under command of Supervising Captain John Stege for this purpose alone.

The order came after a conference between the commissioner, Capt. Stege, Capt. Matthew Zimmer, chief of the uniform police, and Lieut. John Howe, Capt. Stege's assistant, yesterday afternoon. The forty men will begin work at 7 o'clock this morning. Postal, United States intelligence, and secret service operatives are to work with the group.

Mobs Believed United.

"It's our idea that the Dillinger and Touhy mobs have joined hands," said Capt. Stege last evening. "We hope, although their trails are cold, to be able either to drive them out of town or bury them. We'd prefer the latter. That's the reason we picked marksmen for the special duty squads."

Following the order creating the new detail Commissioner Allman directed the breaking up of the "kidnap detail" of 40 policemen headed by Lieut. Andrew Barry. The detail was organized several months ago to patrol the Touhy stamping ground in the northwest section of the county.

Capt. Stege said the first duty of the new group will be to study the photographs of each of the nine convicts who escaped from the Michigan City penitentiary two months ago to form the Dillinger gang. The second will be to do the same for Tommy Touhy, brother of Roger Touhy, who now is in the county jail awaiting trial for kidnaping John "Jake the Barber" Factor. Tommy Touhy is believed to be one of the leaders of the combined gangs which have been committing robberies to obtain defense funds for his brother and the three other members of their old gang who also are held for the Factor kidnaping.

In Prison Together.

Capt. Stege said Tommy Touhy and John Dillinger, leader of the group of escaped convicts, were in prison together at Michigan City. He said there are almost 300 other ex-convicts from the same prison now living in Chicago. The gangsters, the captain added, might easily find refuge with a number of these men.

One of the first orders to go out in connection with the new hunt was a general warning to all policemen. The warning carried the description and license numbers of 22 automobiles known to have been stolen and used by the Dillinger-Touhy gangs in recent crimes, one of which was the murder of Police Sergt. William T. Shanley last Tuesday by John Hamilton. Policemen were told to summon assistance before attempting to arrest any one found in any of these automobiles.

In Milwaukee yesterday a detective informed a judge that John Dillinger and four members of his gang made their headquarters in an apartment there while trying to dispose of bonds stolen in a recent Racine bank robbery. The testimony was given while Harold Trimby and Helen Smith, both seized in a raid upon the Dillinger apartment, were tried for vagrancy and lewdness. They both were sentenced to jail, Trimby for 90 days and the woman for 60 days.

Will Ask Venue Change.

The four Touhy mobsters held in the county jail for the kidnaping of John "Jake the Barber" Factor were preparing yesterday to file a petition for a change of venue from the court of Criminal Judge Harry B. Miller. Their petition has been drafted and a copy of it was served Monday evening on First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert Crowley. It named every judge sitting in the Criminal court as prejudiced against them except Michael J. Feinberg and James F. Fardy.

REJECTS PLANS FOR AN AIRPORT AT 26TH STREET

The mayor's aero commission, meeting at the Morrison hotel yesterday, accepted a report rejecting the proposed downtown airport between 26th and 39th streets, Indiana avenue and South Park way, on the ground that creation of a lakefront airport nearer the loop is more desirable. M. C. Meigs, chairman of the commission, reported that progress on the realization of the lakefront airport has been made.

Meigs appointed a committee of five, headed by Capt. B. B. Lipsner, to study the Chicago airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue with the view of making the port self-sustaining without working a hardship on tenants. Other members of this committee are Lieut. Col. P. G. Kemp, Walter Wright, city superintendent of aviation; Michael Caffarello, and Ald. George D. Kells [28th ward].

Charges Wife Allowed Politics to Wreck Home

Circuit Judge Walter J. La Buy yesterday reduced the temporary alimony payment of Edward Rothe, 4738 North Monticello avenue, to Mrs. Josephine Rothe, pending trial of her suit for divorce. The alimony was cut from $10 to $7 a week. Attorney Norman Becker, representing Rothe, charged that Mrs. Rothe had allowed politics to break up her home. She became friendly with a minor Democratic politician and attended numerous caucuses with him, once staying out all night during the Democratic national convention, the attorney charged. He was given permission to file a cross-bill for divorce on behalf of Rothe.

ROBBER IS CITED AS EXAMPLE OF PAROLE FAILURE

Francis O'Gara Committed Forty Holdups.

The crime record of Francis [Mickey] O'Gara, 27 year old bandit who admits 40 robberies during only one of the seven months he was on parole, was pointed out yesterday by Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, operating director of the Chicago Crime commission, as an outstanding example of the inefficiency of the present parole system.

O'Gara is in a cell at the Central police station after having executed three loop store holdups within half an hour on Monday night. He was caught as he fled from the third one and confessed he had been supporting the family of a friend as well as himself on the proceeds of his robberies.

His crime career flourished while he was supposedly under the close supervision of the parole board, Col. Chamberlin asserted. O'Gara was paroled last May from Joliet penitentiary after serving seven years of a three to 20 year sentence for robbery with a gun.

Was Supposed to Report.

He was supposed to go to the offices of the parole board at 608 South Dearborn street on the fifth or last day of each month and submit a report showing how many days he had been employed, how much he had earned and how much he had spent.

Each report was approved by his sponsor, who, according to the system, regards his duty to the community as well as to the individual who broke the law. The identity of the sponsor and the possibility of a public determination of his fitness for the trust are cloaked in secrecy by the board of pardons and paroles under statute of May 1, 1927.

A check of O'Gara's activities was under way, but in the meantime he was committing one crime after another. B. J. Barry, assistant supervisor of the local parole office, said yesterday that on the same day O'Gara was captured a letter was sent to Joliet penitentiary notifying authorities there that O'Gara could not be found by parole agents. The letter requested a warrant for his arrest for violation of his parole, which, under the present procedure, would have been issued today, Mr. Barry said.

Another Ex-Convict Held.

Another paroled convict, George Alexander, 32 years old, was held to the grand jury in bond of $10,000 yesterday on several charges of burglary. He was arrested Sunday at 6118 South Maplewood avenue, after he had been slightly wounded in a gun battle with a policeman. Alexander had in his possession $500 in cash, two watches, and a diamond stick pin, which were later identified as the property of Joseph Sischella, owner of the home in which the ex-convict was found.

Col. Chamberlin termed the present parole system another "noble experiment" in so far as its usefulness in deterring fresh law violations is concerned. He said one of its weaknesses is that no bond is required of sponsors. He declared there have been many cases where sponsors have been found to be sponsoring crime as much as anything else.

"The backers of the parole system in Illinois are well intentioned," he said. "They are humanitarian, honest and their theory is fine, but it does not entirely suppress the outcroppings of criminal natures. We are lucky to have good men on the parole board now, something we did not always have."

BERWYN RAISES A MONTH'S PAY FOR EMPLOYES

Mayor Frank Novotny announced last night at a meeting of the Berwyn city council that funds had been raised with which to make a pre-Christmas disbursement of a month's pay to city corporate employés.

The city had $3,800 in its treasury. The firemen's pension fund purchased $4,500 worth of 1933 tax anticipation warrants and the small parks board $6,700 of the same paper to complete the $15,000 needed. About 150 employés are affected and the distribution will pay them in full to Oct. 15.

NEW FIVE HOUR AIR SERVICE TO PHILADELPHIA

A new five hour passenger, mail and express service between Chicago and Philadelphia has been inaugurated by United Air Lines, W. A. Patterson, vice president, announced yesterday. There is one plane in each direction between the cities daily, he said. The eastbound plane leaves Chicago at 8:15 a. m., arriving in Philadelphia at 2:20 p. m., and the westbound plane leaves there at 3:55 p. m., arriving in Chicago at 8:50 p. m. The route is via Cleveland, where the only intermediate stop is made.

Woman "Mule Skinner" Breaks Trail to Gold Mine

Durango, Colo., Dec. 19.—(AP)—A woman "mule skinner," so far as is known the only one in the west, broke trail with a string of 30 mules today to a gold mine near here. The gold mining country was snowbound after a storm and the woman, Olga Little, volunteered to break the trail. She brought in a load of high grade ore.

Neither Holidays nor Hours Off in Gas Service

Thanksgiving, Christmas, Fourth of July, holidays observed by everyone—they mean but one thing to the Gas Company. They are days of greater service demands.

When you turn on your gas for cooking or heating or both, the efforts of more than four thousand experienced people are at your command. And the gas comes to you through some part of 3,727 miles of distributing system which lie under the streets of Chicago.

The Greatest Gift of all
Automatic Gas Heat

Now in effect
NEW LOW COST
for Heating Homes with GAS

WHAT greater gift could you give your family this year than the utter luxury of automatic gas heat? It will provide convenience you never thought possible—eliminating all back-breaking coal shoveling, dirty ash shaking and hauling, the nuisance of chopping kindling, the discomfort and anxiety of watching and waiting for heat to come up.

Give your family the comfort of gas heat. Even, healthful temperatures as you want them just by setting the thermostat on the wall. Fire your furnace from your easy chair.

Gas heat has many advantages

Every housekeeper appreciates the cleanliness of this modern heating method. Basement dirt is no longer tracked upstairs because you never have to go near your furnace month in and month out. Walls and drapes stay clean much longer. Dusting once or twice a week instead of every day.

To prove that every home can now afford to heat with gas . . . we will install it at our expense and remove it at our expense, if you don't like it.

Here, too, is a gift that you can try without investing a cent for installation. Our special offer makes this possible. We will install gas heat in your present furnace or boiler at our expense for you to try.

While you are trying it you pay only $3 a month rental for the equipment in the average home. This charge is included with the bill for the gas you use. If you decide—as we think you will, to keep gas heat, the rental you have paid applies on the purchase price of the equipment. But, if within the first year you decide that you don't want gas heat, we'll take it out at our expense and replace your former heating equipment in good workmanlike order. The rental charge stops immediately.

Every home can now afford it

Because of new low rates for gas heating—one-half of what they were during the 1930-31 heating season, every home, even the most modest, can now afford to heat with gas.

Decide now to give this unequalled gift to your family. A gift that will be appreciated this year and for many years to come. A gift that will relieve you and your family from the endless labor of furnace tending forever. Mail the coupon today. We'll gladly send a heating engineer to survey your home and give you an estimate on the cost of heating your home with gas.

YOU INVEST NOTHING!

Without ONE CENT of investment by you, we install the most modern burner in your furnace or boiler. If you are satisfied, it stays. If not—and you are the sole judge—out it comes and your former heating system is re-installed—AT OUR EXPENSE. We make this offer because of our confidence in the perfection of gas heat.

Gas Heat can be installed without allowing the house to cool off

CHICAGO FIRM HIT BY KANSAS BOND FORGERY

Holds Securities Called Worthless.

Topeka, Kas., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Testimony was heard today that Ronald Finney, principal figure in Kansas' million dollar bond swindle, now owes $285,000 to a Chicago brokerage house. He is on trial on charges of forgery of $30,000 of Hutchinson, Kas., bonds.

Thomas E. Finucane of Highland Park, Ill., who was connected with the brokerage firm of Jackson Brothers, Boesel & Co., said Finney had an active trading account with the firm between April and August, 1933, that he had given the firm many bonds as collateral for his transactions and that he at present owed $285,000.

Security Called Forged.

Under examination by Hugo T. Wedell, special assistant prosecutor, Finucane said Finney had given the concern $229,500 of bonds alleged by the state to be forged. He identified some bonds from each issue of alleged bogus bonds given the firm. Some of the bonds he identified had been identified yesterday by Russell Reed of a Topeka printing firm as bonds they printed upon order of Leland Caldwell, Finney's assistant.

Finucane also said the firm never had collected upon the $229,500 of bonds it had received from Finney.

"But you now have the bonds," said John Schenck, defense attorney.

"Yes," the witness said.

"You mean you now have the paper?" interposed Wedell.

Finucane replied affirmatively before Schenck could voice an objection. Judge Paul H. Heinz ordered the remark and answer stricken out.

In Doubt on Profits.

Finucane testified he could not say without the records whether Finney had profited or lost in his transactions with the firm.

Finucane said Finney had a very active account and that early in his dealings Finney drew money out as a profit.

Finucane related that from time to time Finney would put up bonds as security and that the bonds would be placed in a bank after an appraisal as to the amount Finney would be allowed on them. All of the bonds which Finney gave them still were in the firm's possession, he said, except $10,000 worth which were returned when the bank would not allow a loan on them.

INQUESTS TODAY IN SLAYING AND MAN'S SUICIDE

A coroner's jury today will hear the story of the murder early yesterday of Mrs. Irene Herd, 28 years old, and the suicide of her slayer, Wilfred Berlanger, 52 year old cabinet maker for whom she refused to desert her husband, Charles, 30, a piano tuner. The inquests will be held at the county morgue.

The killing occurred in the Grill Camp beer tavern at 7230 Pershing road, Lyons, where Berlanger and Mrs. Herd appeared at 2 a. m. After drinking several beers the two began a quarrel which ended when Berlanger drew a pistol and shot the young woman twice. Berlanger fled, driving his automobile to the garage at the rear of his home, 2946 West 39th place. Then he fired one bullet into his head, dying instantly.

Mrs. Herd's husband was found by police in their home at 7222 West 38th place, Lyons. He said he had known of Berlanger's attentions to his wife. He was being held for the inquest.

SKELETON IN PIT RECALLS AN OLD MURDER MYSTERY

Memories of an old Glen Ellyn murder mystery were called up yesterday by the discovery of the skeleton of a man in a gravel pit east of that suburb. The discovery was made by Henry Perschek of Lombard, member of a CWA crew which was removing gravel from the pit for road repairs. The gravel pit was once owned by a man whom Sheriff John F. Hesterman of Du Page county remembered as Bo Creek. About 1890, the sheriff said, Creek was convicted of stabbing a man to death and sent to Joliet penitentiary for life. He died there many years ago.

From his boyhood, the sheriff said, he remembered stories that Creek had killed another man, but that it was impossible to push the second charge of murder because the body was not found. The skeleton found yesterday, he said, might have been that of the murder victim.

EX-CAFE OWNER ENDS LIFE.

DE KALB BANK ROBBED; FOUR BANDITS FLEE WITH LOOT OF $2,000

De Kalb, Ill., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Three bandits, described as being about 30 years old, this morning robbed the De Kalb Trust and Savings bank of $2,000. They escaped in a dark sedan in which a fourth member of the gang was waiting.

Six persons, including four employes of the bank, were in the building when the robbers entered with drawn revolvers, the leader having a machine gun. Telling employes and customers to lie down on the floor, the leader singled out Cashier Dale Thornton, the only male employe in the bank, and demanded to be taken to the vault.

One bandit remained guarding the door while a companion went behind the tellers' counters, placing money in a cloth sack. The leader was taken by Thornton to a deposit vault in the basement where a small safe, containing an old coin collection, was opened. The bandits overlooked the vault on the first floor containing bank funds.

FIRE CAUSES $10,000 DAMAGE.

Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused yesterday by a fire which attacked a two story brick building at 3320 North Seeley avenue. The flames broke out on the second floor, presumably from spontaneous combustion in the bolts of cloth stored in the rooms occupied by the Daniy Line company, manufacturers of children's dresses.

ENGINE HITS AUTO AND IS DERAILED; AUTOIST ESCAPES

The engine of the first section of the west bound Golden State Limited on the Rock Island railroad was derailed last night three miles east of Joliet when it struck an automobile on a crossing. No one was injured, the driver of the car, John Pianca, 22 years old, of Joliet, having leaped to safety just a moment before the crash.

Pianca said he had driven onto the crossing without seeing the train until he suddenly noticed that it was almost upon him. Then in his panic he stalled his engine. Flinging open a door of his coupe he leaped out a second before the car was struck by the speeding train.

The wreckage was carried half a mile and then got under the locomotive's wheels and derailed it. Only the engine left the tracks but it was nearly three hours before it was replaced on the rails. In the meantime, a suburban train and the second section of the Golden State Limited were delayed.

Frank Winninger Sr. Ill; Member of Famed Family

Wausaw, Wis., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Frank Winninger Sr., 66, member of the widely known Winninger theatrical family, was reported critically ill at his home here tonight. Members of the family were headliners in one of the nation's leading stock companies for more than a quarter century.

BARE PLOT TO KIDNAP, KILL OKLAHOMA CITY MANAGER, POLICE HEAD

Oklahoma City, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Police disclosed tonight they are investigating a purported plot to kidnap and kill City Manager Orval Mosier and Chief of Police John Watt.

A witness, whose identity was withheld, told investigators he had overheard three men discussing the plot, allegedly designed to force a cessation of activity against the local underworld.

The informant said he overheard the discussions in a twelfth floor washroom of the Perrine building here this afternoon and declared one of the men handed some money to the other two, saying: "Here's $500 each, and you'll get the rest when the job is done. I don't want any slipups this time."

Previously, the police informant declared, the apparent leader of the conspirators had berated his companions for "shadowing Watt," declaring:

"That's no way to do it. Get Mosier first and tie him up. Then make him telephone Watt to come out."

ROBBED OF PANTS AND AUTO.

William Avoner, 2738 Milwaukee avenue, was robbed of his trousers and his automobile by three gunmen who appeared at he sat in the car with Miss Rose Wolf in front of her home at 2245 Iowa street early yesterday.

HOLD REPEAL VOIDS SENTENCE OF VIOLATOR

New Orleans, La., Dec. 19.—(AP)—A two year penitentiary sentence and a $500 fine assessed for violation of the federal prohibition law in Texas today was annulled by the United States Fifth Circuit court of Appeals which held that repeal of the Eighteenth amendment had voided the judgment.

The court said it found no error in the conviction in the trial court but held that if "during the pendency in an Appellate court of a criminal case, the statute creating the crimes charged is repealed without any saving clause, the Appellate court must dispose of the case under the law in force when the decision is given, though to do so requires the reversal of the judgment which was right when rendered."

Robbers Terrorize Home Two Hours; Loot $1,200

Two armed men entered the home of Jacob Tiechon, 1801 West 17th street, early today and after terrorizing Tiechon and three other residents of the house fled with $700, postal bank certificates for $500 more, and a wrist watch valued at $89. All the property belonged to Tiechon. The others with him were John Polas, his wife and their daughter, Helen. The bandits stayed in the house two hours, threatening to kill the four occupants unless they were told where the money was hidden.

LABOR BOARD O. K.'S LOWER PAY SCALE IN SOME INDIANA MINES

Coal operators of Vanderburg and Warrick counties, Ind., yesterday received the approval of the regional bituminous coal labor board for a lower wage scale than that paid elsewhere in Indiana. The lower scale will not become effective, it was pointed out by Dr. John A. Lapp, head of the labor board, until it is approved by President Roosevelt.

The labor board recommended that operators in the two counties, of which Evansville is the principal city, be permitted to pay $4.20 a day for inside labor and $3.60 a day to outside workers. The Indiana scale is $4.57½ a day for inside labor and $4.20 for outside labor.

"The board found that the coal mines in the two counties could not operate if they were required to pay the general Indiana rate," Dr. Lapp said. "We found they could hope to operate only if they had a differential between the rates paid by their competitors in Kentucky and their competitors in northern Indiana. The board, however, has power only to recommend."

THREE KILLED IN CROSSING CRASH.

Waco, Tex., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Three persons were killed late today when their automobile was struck by a northbound Missouri-Kansas-Texas train at a grade crossing a mile south of Eddy.

OFFICIAL OF CWA WARNS AGAINST JOB 'CHISELING'

Howard O. Hunter, district representative of the federal relief and civil works administrations, returned to Chicago yesterday for a résumé of the progress of CWA projects. He reiterated a statement made on Monday by Robert J. Dunham, Illinois CWA administrator, that political considerations will not affect the assignment of workers to CWA projects.

"If we find any evidence of 'chiseling' in connection with the assignment of men to CWA projects we will discharge any one guilty of such acts immediately," Mr. Hunter said. "Under the pressure of organizing this vast machine in Cook county, I believe that an excellent job has been done."

Mr. Dunham announced that out of 36,421 persons assigned to work on state highway CWA projects, 9,407 persons have been placed at work on such projects in Cook county. He also announced that government agencies carrying out CWA projects are being urged to give Negro workers the same consideration as is shown to white workers.

The Cook county civil works administration received reports yesterday that 200 workers on a project on property of the sanitary district, at 25th street and the South Canal near Crawford avenue had loafed for periods of half an hour several times in recent days. The workers are assigned to the leveling of spoilage banks along the canal.

A New Punch to Be Offered at H-Y-P Club

Secret Committee Tests Own Recipe.

BY JUDITH CASS.

ACCORDING to a letter received by the members of the Harvard-Yale-Princeton club, a secret committee appointed to concoct a punch worthy of bearing the name of the H-Y-P club has succeeded in its endeavors, but not until several weeks were spent behind locked doors, mixing and tasting, for, to quote from the letter: "Tenacity and self-sacrifice won out and one day the committee came stumbling down the stairs, shattered in mind and body, but triumphantly squealing, 'Eureka! Eureka!'

"'We know you reeka,' parried the club directors, 'but have you got a punch?'"

Evidently they had, for the punch has been put into quantity production and is awaiting Saturday noon when it will inaugurate an annual Christmas party to be held every year on the Saturday before Christmas, and every year this soon-to-be-famous punch will be served.

Sharing honors with the punch will be the new bar—relic of an old south side saloon—that has just been installed. The redecorated barroom and the old bar have so much atmosphere that old-timers forget there ever was such a thing as prohibition, and the younger men wonder why it is so perfect to drink in there! A gentle reminder at the bottom of the Christmas party circular indicates that the cost of the celebration is "the fifth part of a fin" [$5] and gives a warning that ladies may be toasted but are not invited.

New Year's Eve Party at McVoy's.

The answer to a very important question, "What are we going to do on New Year's eve?" that some 1,st-debs and their beaux have been asking themselves for several weeks is answered in a pleasant way by the receipt of hand written invitations by about 90 of them.

The invitations announce that "A select three-ring circus is scheduled at 10 p. m. in McVoy's stadium, 3030 Lake Shore drive. Bargain prices prevail at $4 per head. Refreshments will be assorted, copious and legal—dancing." They conclude with information about whom to escort or accompany.

"McVoy's stadium" is the beautiful home of Miss Jean McVoy, formerly the home of the Arthur Meeker family, and the scene of many delightful parties both during the occupancy of the Meekers and of the McVoys.

One of the most popular homes in the country on New Year's day will be the handsome English house of Edward Warren Everett in Hinsdale, where Mr. Everett is going to have a real old fashioned eggnogg party for several dozen of his friends. There is a holiday feel about this house in its perfect reproduction of English architecture and custom. It will be recalled that Mrs. Everett spent several months at the Art institute studying architecture before she let an architect undertake the design for the home.

In April Mr. Everett is planning to go to the orient to meet Mrs. Everett and their young daughter, who left this country early in the fall. The family will return together in June.

Learn Marriage of H. S. Hubbard.

It is a BIG world after all! When we heard the interesting news yesterday that Lieut. Horace S. Hubbard, one of the twin sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hubbard, has been married for more than a year and part of the time has been living in our midst, we realized how easily one may hide himself away, at least in a big city.

Lieut. Hubbard, we have learned, was married in August, 1932, to Elizabeth Romer, a Mexican girl whom he met when first out of Annapolis. With his wife he was here for a short time this summer, but kept himself quietly tucked away from most of his friends and the World's Fair excitement. Now the two of them are back on the west coast . . . in San Pedro, we understand, where Lieut. Hubbard is temporarily stationed. It is only recently that Lieut. Hubbard was promoted from the rank of ensign.

Just a week ago Lieut. Hubbard's brother, Charles, left Chicago to spend the winter in Arizona. Instead of making the trip direct, as he anticipated when he left here, he writes back that he is stopping over in Indianapolis for several weeks.

The late Mrs. Hubbard is remembered for her delightful personality as well as the myriad interests with which she always entertained her wide circle of friends. These hobbies covered a range from ancient pewter to Chinese puppets, and her Winnetka gardens were always one of the show places. The late Mr. Hubbard was well known in Chicago's real estate world, having served for thirty years as head of the real estate department of the Northern Trust company. The Hubbard home at 849 Foxdale avenue in Winnetka has been rented for the winter months.

Give First Party. for Helen Hunter.

Mrs. John J. Mitchell will not be assisting at the debut reception of her young niece, Miss Helen Hunter, tomorrow afternoon at the Casino for the very good reason that she is leaving tonight with Mr. Mitchell and young Master John J. Mitchell Jr. to spend the holidays at their Santa Barbara home.

Mrs. William H. Mitchell and Mrs. John Payne Kellogg, Miss Hunter's other two Chicago aunts, will be there to assist the hostess, Mrs. Charles Garfield King, and so will Mrs. King's daughter, Mrs. John I. Shaw. Mrs. Charles Adams, Miss Hunter's grandaunt, will receive with Mr. and Mrs. King and the debutante.

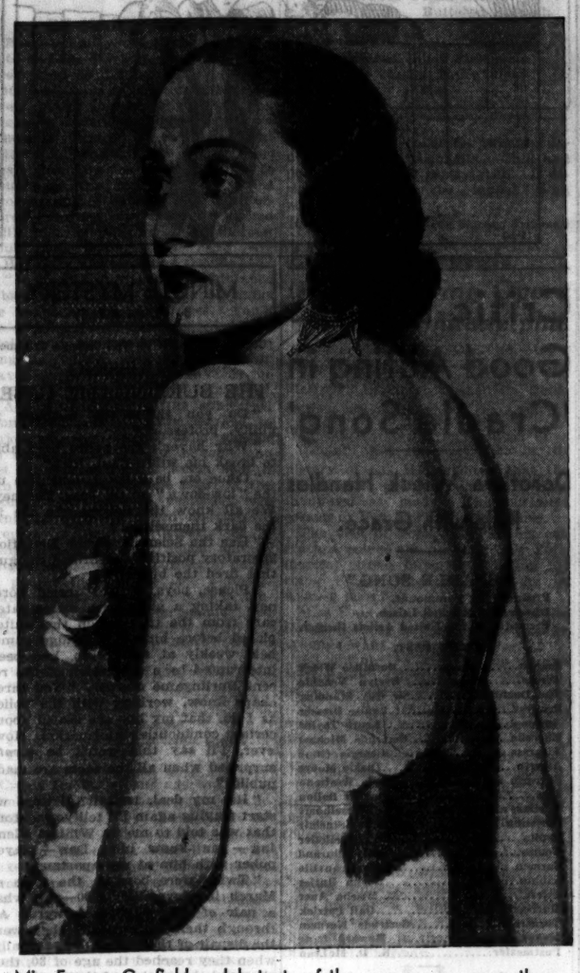
Debutantes Add Charm at Benefit Operas

Miss Naneen Rebori, debutante daughter of "Andy" Rebori, was one of the flower girls at the performances of opera intime given last night as a benefit for Olivet institute. Miss Rebori will make her debut at a supper dance at the Drake hotel tomorrow. [TRIBUNE Photos.]



Miss Frances Canfield, a debutante of the season, was among those attending the benefit opera performances at the Palmer house last night. She made her debut at a recent luncheon.

Janet Fairbank Wins Society Audience at Benefit Operas

Many Enjoy Dinner Parties at Palmer House Before Opening of Olivet Series.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

FOR the second time this season society took its opera in the intimate manner last evening in the Grand ballroom of the Palmer house. It was a glamorous occasion flavored with the Christmas spirit from the snow dusted evergreens that surrounded the ballroom foyer to the holiday greetings exchanged in farewell at the elevator door.

Old world fashion, half of the opera enthusiasts came for dinner in the marble pillared foyer before the performance. They thereby increased the benefit to Olivet institute for whose sake Mrs. Howard Linn and the institute directors are offering opera intime this winter. The remainder of the audience filled the balcony box circle and the gilt edged chairs on the main floor in time to compare a three foot stage, a Chinese scene shift, and a cast of three with opera in the grand manner before the 8:30 bugle.

Although there are those who prefer the intimate to the grand variety and those who will take grand opera instead of opera intime, every member of last night's audience was agreed in praise of Miss Janet Fairbank's performance This talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank sang one of the three rôles in the second opera, Stravinsky's "Pulcinella" . . . that story that goes back in Neapolitan theater history to the days when civic opera was unknown and intimate opera was offered through the kings' favor.

Mrs. Fairbank Present Despite Her Illness.

Handsomely gowned in black lace covered by a black caracul coat, Mrs. Fairbank left her bed to hear her daughter sing. For several weeks past she has been suffering a severe illness. The Cecil Barneses, aunt and uncle of the young singer, were equally proud of their niece's performance. And so were Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell and their two daughters, Helen and Frances, other members of the Fairbank family. Even more than family criticism, however, Miss Fairbank appreciated the enthusiastic comments of Mrs. Charles H. Swift (Claire Dux), who with Mr. Swift was a member of the Fairbank party.

"You know," explained Eames MacVeagh at the intermission, "Mrs. Linn is a very clever woman. She is making every person in this audience stay until the end by changing the order of the program. (Originally 'Pulcinella' was to have been heard first and 'L'Enfant Prodigue' second.) No one will miss hearing Janet sing."

Mr. MacVeagh was right. The change of the program order kept every one in his place until the finish, unlike the first performance of opera intime three weeks back.

Stunning in a gold tissue gown that blended interestingly with her silver curls, Mrs. Linn and Mr. Linn were entertaining at dinner and the opera Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Wolcott Blair, just returned from a Florida holiday; Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson, Mrs. Charles Adams, who is here from Honolulu; Stanislaus Chylinski, Seymour Blair, and M. De Legwssac of the Eva Le Gallienne company.

Mrs. Harold E. Talbott of Dayton, always a popular Chicago visitor, divided her time between Mrs. Linn's party and the joint party of the Chauncey McCormicks and the John Alden Carpenters. Mrs. Talbott's black net dress was handsomely decorated with flowers traced in silver. Others with the Carpenters and the McCormicks were Col. and Mrs. George T. Langhorne, Mr. and Mrs. William McCormick Blair, Russell Tyson, and Mrs. William A. Nitze.

"I wish the New York critic who believes there is too much Barnum and not enough Bach in opera nowadays could see one of these performances," offered a member of the party to which Mr. and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey were host and hostess. "What he means is there is too much mechanics in operatic production today. There certainly isn't here."

Mrs. Harvey Wears White Satin Gown.

GEORGE MARSHALL, Washington bon vivant and owner of the Boston Redskins, has been in town and, now that he has departed, perhaps we dare tell the story of what happened recently when the Redskins were playing the Green Bay Packers. The Packers kicked a field goal and the ball went into the stands. Daylight was waning, so it was hard to see where the ball had gone. Nobody returned it and several attempts were made to locate it, with no results. Things were at a pretty pass because it happened that it was the only ball. Finally Mr. Marshall himself, who is a tall and imposing looking fellow, said he'd get that ball back. He strode across the field to the bleachers and pleaded for its return, holding out his arms to catch it as he did so. The only response that came from the bleachers was a concerted shout of "Mammy."

THE story printed in this space the other day about the mint julep, served by a novice behind the bar, decorated with orange slices and topped with a maraschino cherry, brought in another mint julep story. A southerner went into a hotel bar with some banker friends and ordered a mint julep. The Negro waiter came back shortly, bearing a pinkish concoction in which cherries, pineapple, even a chunk of banana, were discernible.

"Your mint julep, sir," answered the waiter.

"Boy," said the southerner, "I have never yet refused a drink and I'm 60 years old. Call this by some other name and I will drink it."

THE committee selecting artists for the Public Works of Art project interviewed an applicant the other day and turned him down, pointing out that he had to be a creative artist before he was eligible.

"Say, I'm creative, all right," retorted the fellow. "I've got seven children, ain't I?"

MOST of the art lovers who have found their way to Tom Tallmadge's studio at 19 East Pearson street to see the sketches and paintings of John Norton look over the exhibit pretty carefully before they decide on a picture. Perhaps they are looking for one of his water colors painted at Barbados, or a nude done in silverpoint, or the original sketches for the Tavern club murals. Not so Dwight Harding, for all his esthetic leanings.

The two paintings in the exhibit that have the most red in them are marked "Sold." Both are the property of Mr. Hardy.

SEEING the Three Little Pigs in all the Christmas toy departments brings to mind that Elizabeth Goddard of Riverside, who is now in Rome, has completed a series of illustrations for an Italian translation of the popular nursery tale. The translation was made by M. St. Cyr, French critic, writer, and cellist to whom Miss Goddard's mother is married.

Resort Styles Give Preview of Spring Mode

Bright Colors Are Feature of All Collections.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Exciting new previews of cruise clothes foreshadow the smart clothes we will wear next spring . . . and every one can be ready for bright and cheerful color effects. Everything in every collection features navy blue and scarlet . . . with emphasis on such nautical trimmings as anchors, sailor collars, snappy skirts, and berets that shriek of the freedom of the seas.

The newest things in short jackets are the middy "blues," trig little fitted affairs of navy blue flannel made with a belt, two hip pockets, a couple of vertical chest pockets, and the usual decorative bright buttons with anchors. One model has chromium buttons with a sailboat scudding across the flat gleaming surface, so the anchor idea is optional.

Even the swim suits have gone the dashing way of the navy . . . swanky printed piques of either blue or red are covered with small white anchors. The shorts are red or blue jersey. The outfits are fashioned with a halter neckline outlined with a red white, and blue cotton cord and tassels to match the belt cord. Beach bags of heavy white canvas are made in the shape of a lifesave and embroidered with a small scarlet lifesaver with cord.

New beach hats steal the color of a Mexican landscape, huge circles of bright blue, red, or orange discs dripping with a ball fringe trimming . . . they are the biggest things in the shops . . . less eye-filling hats of linen are made with floppy brims that look like fishermen hats and come in all colors and white.

SYNOPSIS.

Bruce Pomeroy, brought up in poverty, befriended a Russian, Boris Orleneff. In return Orleneff, before his death, left Pomeroy an invention, which is about to make Pomeroy a millionaire. Orleneff stipulated that his brother's family, whom he considered parasites, were not to get a cent from the invention. While walking through New York's Central park one winter's morning Pomeroy is kidnaped and taken to a small island off the coast of Maine, where he is made a prisoner in a luxurious home, but kept on a starvation diet. His captor is Boris Orleneff, nephew of the inventor. Boris' cousins, Cyril and Olga Norrikoff, assisted in the abduction. They want Pomeroy to make a settlement. He refuses. Boris invites Pomeroy to join the family circle downstairs. The older members are unaware that Pomeroy is an involuntary guest. He is impressed by Boris' sister, Irma, and his mother. Pomeroy manages to elude his guard, Grateful, and get out of his room, but a racing storm makes escape impossible. Olga Norrikoff offers to help him escape if he will take her to New York. She tells him they are all starving. That the house was lent to them for the winter. Boris and Cyril hadn't been able to get work. Pomeroy gives Grateful money to buy food. He visits Andy Mason, caretaker of the island estate, and enlists his aid.

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

A FIGHT TO A FINISH.

Very simply, in the fewest possible words, he told Andy Mason the story of the clip and the kidnaping. Mason listened, at first putting in an occasional question, then in silence and with growing interest. At the end he clucked sympathetically.

"I ain't had much faith in them folks from the start," he admitted. "But I didn't think they was kidnapers."

"They're not, as a rule," Pomeroy explained. "But they've convinced themselves that they're entitled to some of the proceeds of their uncle's invention. The point is that he didn't want them to have it and that he left it to me. Also, he would never have made a penny on it himself. He didn't have the money or the business training to follow it up. He knew that and admitted it. It took me five years of blood and sweat to get it well started."

Mason nodded.

"And now they want a rake off. They'd take it all if they could get it. I know 'em. I seen through 'em from the minute young Orleneff raised Cain because they wasn't enough grubb in the suller to carry 'em through the hull winter. They're the kind that expec's to be took care of. They think it's comin' to 'em for bein' born ladies and gentlemen."

"That reminds me. How much longer would your supplies carry us all, if this storm keeps up," Pomeroy asked.

"'Bout two-three days."

The two men stared at each other. Mason added in a different voice, "Well, Mr. Pomeroy, what you goin' to do about all this? An' kin I help? I don't owe nothin' to these folks, an' I ain't got much use fer kidnapers. Seems to me 'bout the blackest crime there is, and the meanest."

Pomeroy considered.

"It's good of you to offer. I've got some plans of my own, but I may be glad of your help. If I do, and you help me, it will be worth your while. By the way," Pomeroy added, "I've put a signal of distress on the back of the boathouse. It's a good place, for it can only be seen from the sea. You'll know what to do if kind friends stop at the island to inquire what it means."

Andy grinned.

"You bet I will," he confirmed.

"And if I should disappear suddenly, which I have no idea of doing, would you know what to do about that?"

Andy's jaw dropped.

"Neither am I," Pomeroy grinned. "You've got extra keys to the house and the boathouse, haven't you?"

"Sure."

"Then we can get together the first night it'd be quiet enough to make the crossing," Pomeroy said. "Is that understood? I'm in that west wing room with one window looking this way."

"You bet it's understood."

Both men turned at the sound of the jeering voice. In their absorption and the roar of the storm they had missed the noiseless opening of the door and the swift and silent entrance of young Norrikoff, who now stood looking at them, six feet away. Pomeroy and Mason rose simultaneously. Cyril Norrikoff looked dangerous.

"But you can forget it," Cyril went on incisively. "We're getting rid of you, Pomeroy, the first minute you can get going. There are conditions, of course. But I'd start you in the old tub right now, if it rested with me."

"I don't doubt you would."

"Thanks, Mason," he said. "We'll meet again."

Pomeroy picked up the cap and coat and put them on, and crossed to the door, ignoring Norrikoff as completely as if the young man were not there. The Russian's face darkened.

"My cousin and I will have a word with you later about this little matter, Mason," he said between his teeth, and followed Pomeroy out into the storm. The latter was conscious of Norrikoff's presence at his side, but continued to ignore him.

"Come this way." Cyril caught his arm and urged him toward a side path at the left of the house.

"Are you afraid?"

Pomeroy stopped and stared at the young man. "What are you looking for? Trouble?" he asked.

"Call it exercise. There's a sort of pavilion in these woods at the left, where we won't be interrupted."

"There's nothing I'd like better."

"Nor I." Norrikoff's voice rose. "If I have to sit around the house another day without wiping that damned superior look off your beastly mug——"

"You haven't any illusions about your own face, have you?" Pomeroy asked.

Cyril did not reply. He led the way into the woods and to a round pavilion at the other side of them, which faced out to sea. It was about twenty feet in circumstance, with a pagoda roof and latticed sides.

Both men briskly threw off their coats, caps and undercoats. "I've been looking forward to this ever since you got here," the Russian said between his teeth.

"Kidnaping wasn't enough, eh?" Pomeroy was thinking better of Cyril than he had believed possible. If he had been given his choice of all fitting diversions for the afternoon he would have selected a fight with young Norrikoff.

But it was no pleasant and mild mannered boxing bout. The minute the men were in position Norrikoff went at Pomeroy with a swiftness and ferocity that were amazing. He was a good boxer, and seemed, in the beginning, to make an effort to follow the rules of the game, but he immediately dropped them under the urge of an unleashed temper. He had neither the strength nor the skill of the man who had fought his way up from New York's east side streets, and when he realized this he abandoned all pretense at sportsmanship. No standards here, Pomeroy realized as he adjusted his brain and body to the new conditions.

This was no affair of rules and rounds. It was a fight to a finish. Norrikoff had completely lost his head, but his courage was beyond question. Dazed, bruised and bleeding, he continued to fight on. He seemed a mad man at times, in his vindictiveness and his desire to destroy. Steadily, coolly, implacably, Pomeroy landed his blows, sending his man down, giving him time to rise, and sending him down again.

"Had enough?" he asked half a dozen times.

"No, damn you!"

The fellow's courage and ability to take punishment were extraordinary. At last, as Bruce watched the helpless figure on the floor, it jerked a hand in a gesture of surrender. Pomeroy put on his coats and cap. Then he bent, seized a handful of snow, and briskly rubbed his opponent's face.

"Damn you," Cyril said again and sat up weakly.

"You're not hurt much." Pomeroy looked him over. "You wouldn't have been hurt at all if you had fought fair."

"Shut up." Cyril staggered to his feet, reeling unsteadily, and accepted Pomeroy's help with his coats.

"What do you know about fair play, you thief?" he brought out between his teeth, when he was able to stand upright without help.

"So that's the way you feel about it?" Pomeroy looked at him curiously.

"How the devil could I feel any other way?"

Try Something Else.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been keeping company with a fellow nearly three years. His birthday comes soon. I'd like to give him a ring. Is it allowable to do this? I don't want him to feel that I want a ring from him.

"WINNIE."

Jewelry is not considered an appropriate gift for a young man, Winnie. A pen and pencil set, cigaret case or lighter, or a pipe would be more suitable.

Good Morning!

This idyll of a convent will appeal to some and to others not at all.

"Cradle Song" is slow tempoed, religious of atmosphere, and the gentle romance laid against the gray walls and in the quiet gardens of the convent does not unfold until late in the story.

The heart of Sister Joanna is especially sad, for she leaves behind five little brothers and sisters to whom she has been a mother.

One day the gate bell rings. There is nobody outside. But search reveals that something has been left—a baby girl in a basket.

Nuns and novices are a-flutter. For an accompanying note begs that the baby be not sent to an orphanage but be reared by the nuns, like whom the unhappy mother desires her little one to become. . . .

Such a thing is unheard of in the convent. Comes the kindly "heretic" doctor with a solution of the problem. He is a man without family. He will legally adopt the baby. The convent gardener's wife shall nurse her. The nuns shall be her mothers and guides, but she shall be the very special charge of Sister Joanna, who understands children.

An so Little Marria grows up in a practically manless world, her existence enlivened by occasional jaunts abroad in the company of her foster father.

The finale shows the convent "baby" heading into the sea of life that surges unheard and only, sometimes wistfully dreamt of, outside the walls that cloister the devoted women who have guarded her so lovingly.

The acting is all sympathetic, with the human-ness of the nuns stressed. Louise Dresser is especially appealing as the prioress.

Dorothea Wieck handles with grace her rôle of nun-mother extraordinary, though, of course, it offers her no such opportunity as did "Maedchen in Uniform." Lovely looking creature.

[The men, apparently, grow old in that so sunny Spain, where the women do not. The doctor positively totters by the end of the film, while the nuns seem scarcely to have aged at all.]

See you soon.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

DISCUSSING THE BURLINGAME CASE.

"Do you think the husband is guilty, professor?"

"Come on, be a sport, and give us the 'low-down' on the case, Fordney. We all know the newspapers are in the dark themselves!"

"Has the Scientific Crime Detection laboratory positively identified the gun that fired the bullet?"

"Please, boys, please!" cried Fordney, taking a glass with exaggerated care from the tray which the waiter placed before him. The bridge game, held weekly at their club, had been interrupted by a discussion of the recent Burlingame murder. "You three chaps know, working with the police as I do, that my lips are sealed about certain confidential information. However, I'll say this—you'll be plenty surprised when all the facts are made public!"

"It's my deal, isn't it? Before we start playing again I'll tell you a story that was told to me by William Fleming—you know him, Dan—played poker with him at my apartment.

"Twins were born in the town of March in November, 1900—and what a pair of wild boys they were! All through their college days they were the dispair of their parents and finally, when they reached the age of 30, they climaxed the sowing of their wild oats by marrying each other and——"

"For-the-love-of-Mike, Joe! Have you lost your mind?" exclaimed Dan. "That's impossible!" Fordney dealt the cards.

WHY WASN'T IT IMPOSSIBLE?

[See solution on page 33.]

A FRIEND IN NEED

Plea for Small Desk.

"Dear Miss Brown: My little niece, aged 12, is now in a hospital after having had her left leg amputated at the knee. Christmas will be her first day at home after eight months in the hospital, and she has her heart set on a small roll top desk. Her father is, of course, unable to purchase one for her because of the numerous bills incurred during her illness, so I thought of writing to you on the possibility that some reader might have one her own children had outgrown. Her father would be happy to call for it and, needless to say, extremely grateful.

MRS. E. J."

Enjoyable! Convenient!

ECONOMICAL!

If you have not tried the modern way of serving healthful and perfect applesauce, now is the time to convince yourself that pure wholesome applesauce can be bought, ready to serve.

The fuss, waste and bother of preparing applesauce in your kitchen is something that can now be avoided.

Try a can of pure, smooth, wholesome applesauce today. You will find that it will cost less than if you made it yourself.

CANNED APPLESAUCE
is a blend of apples of distinctly different flavors

Excellent as a side dish with every meal—it is good in itself—but for a delightful change for dessert, try an applesauce ice box cake. You will find it different from the ordinary desserts—and so good!

APPLE ICE BOX CAKE

1 sponge cake ½ pint cream
1 egg white 2 cups Canned Applesauce

Mix the Canned Applesauce and the stiffly beaten egg white. Slice the sponge cake to fit in dish or refrigerator tray. Make alternate layers of sauce and cake, using cake for top layer. Place in ice box for 6 to 8 hours, with weight on top. Garnish with the cream whipped stiffly, or with marshmallow.

Your dealer has it. Just ask for canned applesauce.

'Same Old Rut' Result of Own Character Lack

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Shes' past the age to attract men, ut even if she were not, she confides, she wouldn't know how to meet one even half way.

"I could not bring him home, because I am an only daughter, and not every man is good enough from my brothers' and parents' standpoint."

Her friends are all married. Her sole entertainment is a movie now and then, as it is the cheapest entertainment left after taking care of the rest of the family.

"I don't want you to think my home folk are terrors. They just don't know any better, and I don't know how to handle them. I have a nice home, BUT I must not pick my own clothes, food, friends, books. Do you get the idea? My salary is needed each week for things for the home. My brothers earn more than I, but I have to turn in more than they. What am I to do with the rest of my life—just go along in the same rut or walk east until my hat floats?"

DISGUSTED.

What are you to do with the rest of your life, Disgusted? First, ask yourself honestly whose fault it is that you are in the rut you're in? Don't fool yourself that it is your parents' and brothers' fault that you are in your present situation. You're in your rut because you found following the code laid out for you easier than establishing a better one.

Imagine a grown woman contributing toward the heavier end of the household, submitting to dictation about her friends, her books, her clothes, and so on. That's a situation that has accumulated out of your own lack of gumption. Once you get it into your head that you are an individual and an important one in that ménage of yours, you'll be treated as one. But the remedy lies with you, and not with trying to make over a family group you've obviously spoiled.

You'll find things to do with the rest of your life that will keep your hat far above water if you come out of this child status and assert yourself as a full-blown adult.

Hazardous to Leave Younger Children Alone

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

There are chances you just can't take with your small children or babies. I mean chances connected with leaving them alone, either asleep or awake. You might do it a hundred times, and nothing would ever happen. But you might do it the hundred and first time—and a tragedy result. It's the thing you don't expect, the thing you can't guard against that causes the accident.

A short time ago the papers had an account of a little boy two years old who died in a fire. His parents left him sleeping in his crib while they went visiting. Fire broke out in their frame dwelling and was raging before the father reached the scene. He couldn't even enter the house to save his baby. Of course both the parents were prostrated. But it was an absolutely preventable tragedy.

A little boy of five got into the bathroom of his high up apartment and locked the door. He turned on the water in the bath tub. Before long it was running steaming hot. He couldn't unlock the door. He got panicky and began to scream. His mother heard him and finally the janitor and his assistant climbed in the window and released the terrified child. [Here, by the way, is a good time to advise you to train your children never to lock the bathroom door.]

You just can't leave babies and young children by themselves. The hazards are too great. You never know what will happen if they're asleep, nor what they may do if they're awake. The most peculiar and unthought of things occur.

Our greeting to you is in the form of A Mothers' and Fathers' Litany. It is obtainable by sending your name, address, and postage to Mrs. Bevans.

A New Punch to Be Offered at H-Y-P Club

for a three weeks' visit with the Kings, was busy yesterday afternoon inviting some of her Chicago friends to assist at the tea. Those who will be there in the capacity of assistants are the Misses Jean Schweppe, Mary Reed, Jean Wilhelm, Peggy Hixon, Nancy Morse, and Leslie Keith.

All of these young women were present last night at the first of the many parties that will be given for Miss Hunter during her visit to the city where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter, used to live, and where her grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, and Mrs. Edward S. Hunter, now of Pasadena, and the late Mr. Hunter also lived.

Miss Schweppe and Miss Reed were hostesses at a buffet dinner given for Miss Hunter and Miss Wilhelm in the apartment of Miss Schweppe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, at 1200 Lake Shore drive. The other young girls who were there were the Misses Barbara Bastien, Louise Dewey, Laura Thorne, and Jeanne Wingfield. Just as there are at almost every successful party, there were about twice as many men as girls.

Two Parties for Miss Jean Hyman.

The Casino club will be the scene of a luncheon today when Miss Martha Lee is hostess to about forty young women at a party she is giving for one of this year's most attractive debutantes, Miss Jean Hyman.

Miss Lee, the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. George Lee, made her debut last year at a ball at the Blackstone and has always been one of the favorites among the young crowd.

Another party that is being given today for the popular Miss Hyman is the dinner dance that the Robert J. Thornes and their daughter, Miss Laura Thorne, are giving in the Thornes' apartment on Lake View avenue.

Quezon Is Ill, Quirino to Talk.

Because of the illness of Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine independence mission, which has established quarters at Washington for the coming session of congress, Senator Elpidio Quirino, vice president of the mission, will be the speaker this noon at the luncheon meeting of the Council on Foreign Relations at the Palmer house. With Mr. Quirino at the speakers' table will be Dr. and Mrs. Walter Lichtenstein, Antonio Gonzalez, Col. George T. Langhorne, Mrs. Emile Levy, Mrs. Catharine Waugh McCullough, and Walter L. Templeton.

With members of the Cribside society, including Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. Leo Cummings, Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody, Mrs. George D. McLaughlin, and Mrs. David Bremner looking on, the children of St. Vincent's orphanage will have their annual Christmas party at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the orphanage. There will be a Christmas tree laden with presents and ice cream and cake.

Mary Cook Dances in "Topsy and Eva."

When the curtain goes up Christmas night on the first Chicago performance of "Topsy and Eva" at the Apollo theater the Raymond C. Cooks will have front row seats for their talented young daughter, Miss Mary Cook, who is to dance in the ballet.

To give away a secret, Miss Cook's real ambition is singing, but a little more than a year ago she had a tonsil operation which has made her concentrate on her dancing these last several months.

Mrs. Alice Barton Hatch of the Knickerbocker hotel is planning to spend Christmas with her cousins, the William Nelson Pelouzes, since her son, Aldis B. Hatch Jr., is at Heidelberg. Young Mr. Hatch writes that he will spend the holiday season in London with friends. This Princeton graduate who took his Ph. D. degree at Yale last June also has a sheepskin from the University of Chicago.

Miss Josephine Fleming, daughter of the Joseph B. Flemings of Lake Forest, has returned from Goucher college, in Baltimore, for the Christmas holidays. Among other young women who have returned from the same college are Miss Elinor Steele, daughter of the Edward M. Steeles of Highland Park, and Miss Helen O'Neill, daughter of the William O'Neills of Hinsdale.

Mrs. Boynton Will Entertain Grandchildren.

Mrs. Charles T. Boynton's home in Highland Park is another one that will be gay with young people during the Christmas holidays, for her grandchildren, Miss Elizabeth Millard, Everett Lee Millard Jr., and Malcolm Millard, are all arriving shortly for Christmas and New Year's. Their mother, Mrs. Everett Lee Millard, is living with Mrs. Boynton this winter instead of in her own home in Highland Park.

Miss Millard is coming from Columbia university in New York, and will receive a royal welcome from her family and friends because she was abroad all summer, spending the latter part of it in Geneva, where she attended the School of International Studies. Malcolm is returning from his sophomore year at Harvard, and Everett, who is always called "Chevvy" by his intimates, will be coming up from his job in Indianapolis.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Garry Zelley Smith of Detroit announce the marriage of their daughter, Frances Zell Scott of 73 East Elm street, Chicago, to Vincent Dye McConnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell N. McConnell, on Dec. 21.

Interesting New Neckline Finish Appeals to Girls

JUNIOR GIRL'S DRESS.

Here is a stunning dress for holiday wear. It's a semi-formal frock, with an interesting new neckline, and can be made either with long or short sleeves. The original dress was in black velvet, and you'll find it smart and easy to wear. Bright or dark shades of silk crepe are also pretty.

The pattern, No. 3176, comes in sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years.

How to Order Clotilde Patterns.

Write your name and address plainly on dotted lines, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Inclose 10 cents in stamps or coin [coin preferred; wrap it carefully] for each number, and address your order to Clotilde Patterns, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central station, New York City.

Note—Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE. They are perfect in fit, up to date in style, and the easiest of all patterns to use.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 19.—An action in which Princess Irina Alexandrovna of Russia, wife of Prince Felix Youssoupoff and niece of the murdered czar, complains of libel in the film, "Rasputin, the Mad Monk," was mentioned in the Court of Appeals today.

The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film company appealed against an order made in chambers by Justice Talbot who ordered the princess to deliver amended particulars explaining fully and clearly how the film depicted her seduction as an essential part of the plot.

The princess claims the film "falsely exhibited photographic pictures of her and words which meant that she—called Princess Natasha in the film—had been seduced by and was the mistress of Rasputin."

Sir William Jowitt, counsel for the film company, said the company wanted Justice Talbot's order extended to cover the identification of the plaintiff with Princess Natasha and particulars as to the allegation that she was Rasputin's mistress. Sir William declares that the supposed identification of the princess is fanciful and ridiculous. Natasha is a fictional character and has nothing to do with the real princess, he maintains.

Sir Patrick Hastings, counsel for the princess, urged the court to make no order which would delay the trial, declaring that since the writ has been issued against the company the film has been materially altered and many of the things complained of have been taken out.

The court decided there should be no order made as long as the princess undertook to give further particulars of points to resemblance as far as possible within three days.

vey for an evening of opera. With the Harveys were the Barrett Wendells, Mr. and Mrs. Clark J. Lawrence, and Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Hamill. Tall, willowy Cornelia Fairbanks in a deep purple crepe gown escorted by Frederick Poole attended the performance with the junior Byron Harveys.

Close by the senior Harveys at dinner sat Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed. . . . Mrs. Goodspeed another looking Grecian in white satin . . . with Mr. and Mrs. James H. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. John Payne Kellogg, Miss Edith Cummings, and Noble Brandon Judah. And dining near this party was Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum, whose interesting headdress is always the envy of many.

With a coterie of the season's attractive buds and at least two popular postdebs. . . . Miss Dorothy Ranney and Miss Jean Stevens . . . vending gardenias and cigarets, an additional sum was made for Olivet institute. Miss Naneen Rebori, whose stunning velvet gown seemed to match her personality, was one of the buds. Others were Miss Mimi Orr in dusty purple, Miss Virginia Thatcher, whose white bagheera gown was trimmed with mink capelets; Miss Marie Louise Gardner, a girl of great refinement; Miss Mary Kay Downs in black taffeta, and Miss Frances Canfield, another whose white gown used mink for its trimming.

Young People Enjoy Dinners.

Miss Martha Lee in black starred in silver arrived for dinner with James S. Kemper Jr. In the same party were Miss Betty Brawley with Fred W. Fairman Jr. and Miss Suzanne Morris, whose beau last night was William L. Taylor Jr. Another young party included Miss Jean Armstrong, Mason Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene O'Brien [the former Margaret Emily Lynde], Miss Jean Spens, and Benjamin Frost. Miss Miriam Hamilton preferred to dine and sit alone with Spencer R. Keare, to whom her engagement was made known this week.

An elaborate black and white ostrich boa distinguished the formal dress of Mrs. Philip Maher while a very stunning gold tiara lent distinction to the black and gold costume of Miss Janet Ayer. Suggestive of southern climes was the printed dress of Miss Francise Clow, glimpsed with Frank Brecken ridge during the intermission.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Here, at least in the second half of the bill, was a gay, reckless, colorful story presented much in the atmosphere of what one reads of the ancient commedia dell'arte, a musical play without the slightest pretense of conventional morals, but with a lot of amusing, slapstick fun, wherein dancers and mimes illustrated the tale on the stage while singers down among the orchestra sang what words were necessary to hold the piece together.

These little operas that Mr. Krueger has been conducting fully justified themselves on their first performance a month ago. They went much further last night. Seldom in a long course of attending musical events have there been performances so amusing, so sprightly, so full of good music that one seldom hears. At that, these are benefit performances. Olivet institute is getting the receipts, and it is due to the organizing ability of Mrs. Howard Linn that they are being presented.

As soon as a pair of dancers ran down the aisles and leaped to the stage, one was aware that this was to be something out of the ordinary. It was the masked and powdered Pulcinella drama presented in the old manner with modern technic, just as Stravinsky wrote the music after Pergolesi, but with his own modernisms, and it was all something to approve and enjoy.

Laurent Novikoff did the choreography, Elizabeth Paepcke and Theodora Badger the settings and costumes for both works.

"The Prodigal Son" was in one detail a little more familiar than the Stravinsky work which followed, for

Hampden Will Give 4 Plays in Two Weeks

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Walter Hampden, the actor-manager whose cross-country tours with elaborate dramatic productions during the depression period have been of vital importance to the American stage, will begin a two weeks' engagement in the Erlanger theater on Jan. 8. He is bringing the most extensive repertory of his career—four plays, of which two are Shakespeare's.

"Richelieu," test piece for tragedians for almost 100 years, will open the engagement. This drama by Bulwer-Lytton, in a new version prepared by Arthur Goodrich, will be the bill at all of the first week's performances except on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 10, when "Hamlet" will be staged and on Friday evening when "Macbeth" will be offered.

The second week will start with Charles Rann Kennedy's drama, "The Servant in the House," which figured in Mr. Hampden's rise to stellar rank. This work, often called a "modern morality," gives Mr. Hampden a rôle bearing the name of "Manson," that is an allegorical representation of Christ in a new incarnation. It was a sweeping success in 1907 and 1908 under the direction of the late Henry Miller.

"The Servant in the House" will be acted four times in the course of the week of Jan. 15. Performances of "Richelieu" are announced for Tuesday and Saturday nights, "Macbeth" for Wednesday afternoon, and "Hamlet" for Friday night.

Mr. Hampden's Chicago engagement will be under the auspices of the American Theater society.

the air sung by Lia in the first part is a well known concert excerpt. This opera is valuable chiefly for its music, for it takes little account of action. Its musical values and especially its good singing carried it, however, and its successor, not only well sung and played but done in the complete spirit of blithe lightheartedness, put a final touch on one of the most entertaining evenings of the season.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Shoemaker of Evanston and Battles Wharf, Ala., announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to John B. Kirby of Chicago, son of A. G. Kirby of Marysville, O. Miss Shoemaker attended the Frances Shimer school in Mount Carroll, Ill., and was graduated from Northwestern university last June. She is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. Mr. Kirby was graduated from Lake Forest college in the class of 1930 and is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. The wedding will take place in the early summer.

Malted Milk in Powder Form Aids Cooksters

New Recipes Include Its Popular Flavor.

BY MARY MEADE.

Ever caught yourself sliding into a rut—and for a whole day tried doing everything as differently as possible? You likely took a different route home even though it took longer, and you probably ordered a butterscotch or pineapple "malt" for a change that afternoon instead of the dear-to-your-heart chocolate flavor. But dollars to doughnuts, the next day you settled back into that same groove and ordered your favorite chocolate malted milk just as you took the shortest route home again.

But then, you're among friends. Ask a "soda-jerker" of your acquaintance what proportion of the malted milks he mixes are chocolate ones. You'll be surprised! All of which likely explains why several companies are putting up malted milk powder already flavored with chocolate to save us the trouble of combining them ourselves.

And since we're on the subject—I wonder if you all have learned to enjoy chocolate malted milk powder as some of us do. Or haven't you yet discovered what a warm spot it can find for itself in the heart of the family? For instance, yesterday was bang up with work and no time to prepare a lengthy dessert. So I whipped some cream, added enough chocolate malted milk powder to flavor it, poured the mixture into a refrigerator tray and froze it. Sounds simple, doesn't it? But you should have heard the applause it drew forth!

CHOCOLATE MALTED BROWNIES.

2 eggs
½ cup butter or other shortening
¾ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 cup chocolate malted milk powder
Pinch of salt
½ cup nut meats

Cream the butter and add the sugar. Combine with the beaten eggs, dry ingredients which have been sifted together, vanilla, and nut meats. Spread in a tin which has been lined with waxed paper or in small paper cups set in muffin pans. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for thirty minutes. Cut while warm into squares or leave in the little round paper cups until cool.

CHOCOLATE MALTED PIE FILLING.

2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup chocolate malted milk powder
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups hot milk
1 tablespoon butter

Sift together the chocolate malted milk powder and cornstarch and add to the beaten eggs. Combine with the hot milk and butter and cook in the top of a double boiler for twenty minutes, stirring occasionally. Chill and pour into a baked pastry shell. If desired, this may be topped with whipped cream.

Lily Pons Reveals Divorce During Opera Visit to Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 19.—(AP)—With Lily Pons in "Lakme," the Metropolitan Opera opened its Philadelphia season tonight in the Academy of Music.

Tonight was the first time in the history of the Metropolitan that the Philadelphia opening came before the inaugural at home. The curtailed season in New York was the cause.

The visit of Pons, the Parisien coloratura, solved one question New York musical circles have been asking for some time: What had become of August Mesritz?

Miss Pons disclosed she divorced the Dutch attorney in Paris last June. The grounds were incompatibility.

All during the 1931 season at the Metropolitan Mesritz was the constant companion of the soprano. Last year he did not appear. Frequent were the reports of a separation and divorce.

In her dressing room shortly before she went on the stage, Miss Pons said: "Our ways just drifted apart, naturally. My career took me to so many places. His business kept him from following."

U. of C. Confers Honor Degree on Dr. Conant

Harvard President Praised by Hutchins.

Dr. James Bryant Conant, Harvard university's new president, was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of laws by the University of Chicago at the university's 174th convocation yesterday afternoon. The degree was conferred by President Robert M. Hutchins "in appreciation of Dr. Conant's eminent service to the science of chemistry and in recognition of his position of leadership in American education." Dr. Julius Stieglitz, professor emeritus of chemistry at the University of Chicago, presented Dr. Conant for the degree.

Two hundred and fifty academic degrees were also awarded. Of these, 121 were advanced or professional degrees.

"The salvation of intellectualism" was the theme of President Hutchins' address. He said that bewilderment of ideas is becoming the fashion.

"We are confusing ideas with facts, science with information, and knowledge with miscellaneous data, and we are witnessing a revulsion against science, knowledge, and facts," he said. "Opportunism is becoming a virtue, and while we have more facts of life available to our use today than ever before, it has only served to increase the complexity of our reasoning."

Chicago Ready for Opera as Ticket Sale Is Opened

The line is forming on the right once again at the Civic Opera house in preparation for the season of the new Chicago Grand Opera company, which will begin next Tuesday night. Ticket salesmen report that the first day's business shows many indications of Chicago's being ready and anxious for opera.

...Young...tender...juicy!
Order Your LAND O'LAKES TURKEY...Early!

Even the best Thanksgiving birds never rival in delicate, rich flavor and melting tenderness the LAND O' LAKES Christmas turkeys. They are selected young toms and hens brought to the pink of perfection by thousands of our own growers and rushed in refrigerator cars to the holiday market on passenger-train time.

Perfect in Flavor and Form

The turkeys do their part. The crisp mornings and sunny noons sharpen their youthful appetites for special foods which pack the last ounces of delicious meat on plump breasts and "second joints". With an extra month of growth and happy freedom, they take on an added tang that links them in flavor with the gamey forest "gobblers" from which they were bred.

No waiting in cold storage dulls their savor. Any LAND O' LAKES turkey is country-fresh when you buy it. Our growers, dressing stations and distributing plants work together to bring the bird you choose direct to your door in superlative condition and the shortest possible time.

Your Judgment is Best

No turkey can wear the distinctive LAND O' LAKES seal locked on its wing unless it is young, tender, perfect in shape and color, free from bruises, defects or discolorations.

Ask your market man to show you a LAND O' LAKES turkey. Look for the seal on its wing, judge its quality for yourself. Pick out the bird that suits your requirements and have it set aside for delivery on Saturday. It's worth an early trip to market to make sure that your Christmas dinner will be a happy feast for you and all your household.

OTTAWA TIES BLACKHAWKS IN OVERTIME, 2-2

IRISH STRETCH THEIR VICTORY STRING TO 16

Take 20 to 11 Lead at Half Time.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Notre Dame, Ind., Dec. 19.—Seven thousand—the largest crowd ever to jam the Notre Dame fieldhouse—watched the Irish basketball team whip Purdue's Boilermakers tonight, 39 to 28, and run their list of consecutive victories to 16, five of which have been accomplished this season. The game was Purdue's first defeat of the year.

JOE VOEGELE.

All seats for tonight's battle were sold and another thousand spectators jammed the aisles all but overflowing the brown canvas wall which guarded the polished hardwood court.

Line Forms in Rain.

At least another thousand fans, according to estimates of Notre Dame officials, were denied admission. These were lined up in a column of eights at the west end of the building, waiting in a cold drizzle of rain on the chance that a few more might gain admittance when the game started.

Notre Dame's long winning streak and, undoubtedly a certain carryover from the recent football season when Purdue shut out the Irish, 19 to 0, accounted for the unusual interest tonight. Then, too, Dutch Fehring of Purdue and Ed [Moose] Krause of Notre Dame, who toed in at center, were finishing three years of basketball competition against one another, a duel which also was waged here on the sod of Memorial stadium a month ago.

Notre Dame's more rugged men, centering a passing attack around Krause, had an advantage of height as well as stamina over Purdue. The Boilermakers kept pace until the final five minutes of the first half, but left the court trailing, 20 to 11, thoroughly whipped, although another 20 minutes remained.

Lowery Leads Scoring.

Krause was the big scoring gun of the first half with seven points, while Leo Crowe and Joe [Arms] Voegele also did a share of sharp shooting. When it was all over, Voegele, aided by a couple of swell passes from the pivot line by Krause, took high honors for Notre Dame with 12 points, but Emmett Lowery, Purdue's sometime back guard, totaled 13 points, which included six field goals. Had such sharpshooters as Norm Cottom and Ray Eddy done nearly as well, the game might have been a blanket finish.

Thirty four personal fouls were assessed by the officials, Frank Lane and Nick Kearns, while Fehring also drew a technical foul for leaving the center circle on a jump ball.

Marty Peters, who replaced Johnny Jordan for Notre Dame midway in the first half when the teams were tied 8 to 8, helped in the Irish rally which pulled away to a comfortable lead. George Ireland, a sophomore from Madison, Wis., paired with the veteran Crowe, also deserved credit. It was Ireland's one hand toss from the corner which broke the first half tie.

Shaver Makes Long Throw.

Lowery, Eddy and Ed Shaver rallied Purdue at the start of the second half. Shaver's long throw from midcourt, the lengthiest goal of the evening, pulled the Boilermakers to a 16 to 23 score. Three minutes later Lowery recovered a fumble and dribbled in for a 19 to 25 count, the best Purdue could do.

Then Fehring left the game on four personals and none of the Boilermakers thereafter could cope with Krause, Notre Dame rushing up court for six points in two minutes. The game dragged from then on with the Irish protecting a compelling advantage and refusing to shoot until they went under the back board.

Doxier Moore of Purdue and Ireland also were sent to the dressing rooms with a maximum of penalties.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The cunning in the cue of Pasquale Natalie, the only local boy competing in the world's pocket billiard tournament at the 131 South Wabash Avenue Recreation room, made itself felt again yesterday afternoon.

Four times before it had made itself known against the weapons of such sharpshooters as Irwin Rudolph, Frank Taberski, Willie Mosconi and Charley Seaback. Yesterday it was matched against one of the smartest sticks in the show, that of Bennie Allen of Kansas City. When they had finished their duel, however, it was Pasquale's cue which proved the sharper, this time by a score of 125 to 20 in 20 innings. In one of those innings, the seventh, it produced the high run of the game, a brilliant 46.

Natalie's Fifth Victory.

Natalie's victory in his ninth and final game of the tournament sent him away with a record of five triumphs and four defeats, with a possibility that he may get in a tie for fourth place out of the meet which is scheduled to end tomorrow.

George Kelly of Philadelphia, national champion, won the night game by defeating Frank Taberski of Schenectady, N. Y., 125 to 84, in 15 innings. Kelly's victory gave him a status of six games won and three lost, while Allen drifted back to a position that gave him two victories and seven defeats, but 68 points more than Ralph Greenleaf, who on Monday passed from the picture as champion.

Natalie's 46 in the seventh inning came to an end when he scratched in the right foot pocket. Previous to this he had called the 45th and 46th balls of the string, the fifteen in the left side pocket and the ten in the left foot, on a single shot.

Pasquale Runs 28.

In the thirteenth Pasquale ran 28 before missing on an attempted cut shot of the nine ball in the right side pocket. This gave him a lead of 110 to 7, and from there on Allen could do no more than play safe, the while picking up what he could. His best run, a ten, came in the 20th inning, ending when he blew the three ball in the left side basket. Natalie had little trouble in running the nine balls he needed to win, winding up with the seven ball in the left foot corner.

Kelly won the bank and began to count in the first inning, running 17 points. Taberski came back with 31 in the third, where the national champion posted 20 to lead, 37 to 32.

From there up to the thirteenth it was an even affair, with the Schenectady player leading 59 to 57. He ran 20 in the fourteenth before scratching but Kelly, clearing the deck with seven, cleaned up four racks and then missed a bank shot which would have won the game. George's 67 there gave him a lead of 124 to 78. Taberski had to cut several shots thin to run six in the fifteenth, missing the 8 ball at the lower left pocket. Kelly sank it and the game was over.

Helen Jacobs Is Voted Best Sportswoman

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—For her two tennis achievements—the saving of the Wightman cup for the United States with a deciding singles victory and the dethroning of Helen Wills Moody from her place as American champion—Helen Jacobs wins the recognition of the nation's sports observers as the outstanding woman performer of 1933.

The third annual Associated Press poll, among sports editors and writers, shows Miss Jacobs a decisive winner in a three cornered race for the feminine honors of the year in all sports. She polled more than one-third of the votes, 64 out of a total of 180. Her nearest rivals were Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, the national golf champion, who finished second with 48 votes, and Lenore Kight of Homestead, Pa., new swimming queen, who was third with 31.

Field Is Limited.

Due to the relatively limited sphere of noteworthy feminine competition, the voting was confined almost entirely to those engaging in tennis, golf, or swimming. Outside of these three sports the only names mentioned were Anne Townsend of Philadelphia, captain of the American international field hockey team, and Mildred [Babe] Didrikson, all-around Texas athlete. Miss Didrikson, now a professional, captured first honors in the 1932 poll, due to her record breaking track and field accomplishments in the Olympic games. She received two votes this year.

Mrs. Moody, who won the Wimbledon tennis crown for the sixth time before her dramatic default to Miss Jacobs in the American final at Forest Hills, received only three votes.

Second Victory for Miss Jacobs.

The victory for Miss Jacobs marked her second straight winning of the national title. Although being under a doctor's care herself, Miss Jacobs took the No. 1 singles position on the American Wightman cup team, due to the withdrawal of Mrs. Moody, and scored two victories.

The results of the poll follow:

Helen Jacobs	64	Helen Hicks	4
Virginia Van Wie	48	Helen Wills Moody	3
Lenore Kight	31	Mildred Didrikson	2
Katherine Rawls	18	Alice Marble	2
D. Campbell Hurd	5

Report Condition of Irvin Bailey as Some Better

Boston, Mass., Dec. 20 (Wednesday). —(AP)—The condition of Irvin [Ace] Bailey, Toronto hockey player, was reported "about the same; if anything a little better" in a bulletin issued at the Boston city hospital at 1 a. m. today. His temperature was reported "a fraction over 100" and his pulse and respiration "about normal."

Dr. Donald Munro, who performed two delicate operatons on the sportsman's fractured skull, said Bailey still held the slight gain he made after Monday night's sudden relapse.

"He is just as he was yesterday morning," the report said, "no better and no worse. He continues to take nourishment through the veins and his heart is a bit nearer normal than it was yesterday morning.

"He slept yesterday afternoon and it seemed to be a natural nap. He is unconscious, but can be aroused. It is naturally advisable to avoid all possible strain and not arouse him any more than is necessary.

"The brain condition seems to be satisfactory as far as I can determine."

KAMM, CISSELL RATED AT TOP IN FIELDING MARKS

Once High Priced Rookies, They're Still Good.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Willie Kamm and Bill Cissell, whose purchases by the White Sox in turn set records for prices paid for minor leaguers, were leaders in fielding their respective positions in 1933, according to American league averages released this morning.

Kamm, who in his first seven years with the Sox was an habitual leader of the league's third basemen, returned to the top this year. In 136 games for Cleveland Willie, the one time $100,000 beauty from the San Francisco Seals, fielded .984, topping Ossie Bluege, runner-up among the regulars, by 19 points. Willie made only six bobbles in handling 380 chances, whereas Bluege erred 13 times on 376 chances.

Cissell Tops Shortstops.

Cissell, whose minor league price of $125,000 took the palm from Kamm, topped the shortstops, but scarcely could be called a regular, having played the position in only 46 games. Bill was much steadier than he ever was with the Sox, however, making only eight errors on 241 chances. Cissell's showing, however, was not sufficient to cause his retention by the Indians. He was traded at the end of the season to the Boston Red Sox.

Despite the statistical advantage of the two former Sox the Comiskey organization as well as most of the Sox fans went through the season without much fretting over the fact that neither Kamm nor Cissell wore white hosiery in 1933. Jimmy Dykes enjoyed great popularity, played in 20 more games than Kamm and accepted 69 more chances than Kamm. Dykes, who led the third basemen in 1932, was fourth among the athletes who played more than 100 games at third.

Appling Does Well.

As for the shortstop position, the Sox also did well enough, with a young man who batted .321 to finish sixth and in addition did ample shortstopping except for a few unfortunate streaks. Luke Appling played in 151 games, 105 more than Cissell, and tied Rogell of Detroit in the number of chances, with 903. Luke had 55 errors to 51 for Rogell. Appling, however, led the league in chances accepted per game. Cronin, manager of the Washington Senators led the heavy traffic shortstops. Joe, playing in 152 games, made 34 errors on 859 chances for a mark of .960.

Jack Hayes did a good job minding second base, finishing in a tie with Charley Gehringer of Detroit for second place among the regulars. Oscar Melillo set a new percentage record when he finished with .991. The former record for second basemen was held by Max Bishop with .988.

Kuhel Leads First Basemen.

Joe Kuhel of Washington led the first basemen, but Hank Greenberg, giant first baseman, won some fame by tying the world record for unassisted double plays by a first baseman in one game. He made two against St. Louis in the first game on Sept. 3.

Frank Pytlak, catcher for the Indians, who started a string of errorless performances in 1932, continued without a misplay in 69 games. Mervyn Shea, now a White Sox, handled 407 chances in his first 96 games without an error and made but two misplays all season.

Dick Porter, one of four Indians to top his division, played 124 games in the outfield and accepted 245 chances out of 246 to tie the major league record. His percentage was .996.

Al Simmons Second.

Al Simmons was second to Porter with .990, with 372 putouts, 15 assists and four errors. The fourth error was a dropped pop fly which would have ended a game, the first error of its kind Simmons had made in seven years. Special mention is made in the official records of Simmons' great performance on Aug. 13 when in a game against Detroit he successively threw out Rogell and White at the plate in the eleventh inning as they tried to score from second on singles to left.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

PRO FOOTBALL.

SPECTATORS of the Bears-Giants pro title game Sunday declare they never saw better or more interesting football. That appraisal is significant coming from cash customers, who attend because they like football and not because of any college loyalties or traditions.

If we accept their appraisal as correct, that they saw better football is no indictment of the collegiate brand. This is to be expected. Pro players are post-graduates. Not only that, but they are the pick of graduated college stars. In fact, one of the arguments once advanced against pro football was that it was too perfect. That was in the days when defense was near perfection, but attack had not reached its present development. Scoring then was less frequent.

That these cash customers, interested in football itself, also saw more interesting football is something, however, for collegiate rule makers as well as coaches to think about. Why more interesting? Because of more versatile offense, more scoring.

Even if necessarily less smooth with boys of lesser experience participating, college football with its mechanical and mental errors always is interesting when both teams are counting. But among colleges, especially in the Big Ten, defense has been so developed that it overbalances offense. Once a lead is established, caution predominates. Defensive tactics to protect that lead are a logical sequence.

This is sound and successful strategy, so successful that other elevens hoping for similar success have been forced to adopt it. But it does not give equal thrills.

Without long standing traditional rivalries, hence dependent on the entertainment offered to attract patrons, the pros have sought by more liberal rules and by team endeavor to enhance their showmanship. Apparently their efforts are successful.

The Wake suggests to college rule makers that they give some thought to the signs of the times in opening up offense; to coaches that they add daring to their attack if colleges wish to preserve the greater drawing power which college football now enjoys.

There is room on the sports calendar for both college and pro football. Colleges supply the material for the pros. Instead of former haphazard methods they have adopted the training and practice routine of the colleges.

On the turf it is the horse which comes from behind with a great stretch run which draws greater applause than the front runner; in the ring the Jack Dempseys are more popular than the counter punchers, whose object is to wear down an opponent without taking chances; in baseball it's the slugfests rather than the pitchers' battles that put the crowd in an uproar, as witness the adoption of a uniform lively ball. Football crowds, at heart, are not different from turf, fistic, or baseball crowds.

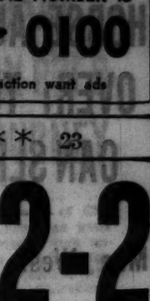
ABEL SCORES THIRD GOAL IN THREE YEARS

Chicago Drops Point Behind Detroit.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The Ottawa Senators and the Chicago Blackhawks played a 2 to 2 tie tonight before 4,500, to take undisputed possession of third place in the Canadian section of the National Hockey league. The tie dropped the Blackhawks two points behind Detroit in the American division.



TAFFY ABEL.

Allan Shields put the Senators ahead after nine minutes of play in the first period, taking a pass from Max Kaminsky. Paul Thompson tied the score early in the third period.

In the overtime Taffy Abel scored his third goal in three years, placing the Blackhawks ahead. It appeared Chicago would win until Roger Jenkins took a tripping penalty. The Senators threw five forwards on the ice and Desse Roche snared the tying goal on a double pass from Earl Roche and Jerry Shannon.

Senators Take Lead.

With the score deadlocked again both teams apparently were content to call it an evening. The two goalies, Charlie Gardiner and Billy Beveridge, played exceptional games, Beveridge particularly, depriving the Hawks of several goals.

Only three penalties were called, all going to Chicago.

The Senators did all the pressing in the first period, finally forging into a 1 to 0 lead. Finnigan and Shannon worked in for close shots, which Gardiner turned back. The pace was slow until the first lines were changed. Johnny Sheppard went off for hooking Desse Roche and Gottselig did some effective ragging to hold off the Senators.

Mush March and Doc Romnes combined for two dangerous rushes but Beveridge saved each time. Allan Shields then put the Senators ahead at the nine minute mark. He carried down center and passed to Max Kaminsky just over the blue line. Kaminsky laid a shot dead on Gardiner's pads and Shields swooped the rebound into the net from the side.

Defense Prevails.

Lionel Conacher led attack after attack for Chicago, but could not penetrate the Senator defense for the tying goal. The Senators adopted stout defensive methods to protect their advantage.

The tight defensive work continued throughout the second period. Roger Jenkins crashed his through the Senator defense to make the first assault but his shot was wide. The Roche brothers then worked through the Hawk rear guard to pester Gardiner with several shots, but he held them off.

Beveridge lifted the puck off the end of Tommy Cook's stick when he stick handled his way through the entire Ottawa team and a minute later Shannon overshot the nets when he took Kaminsky's perfect pass along the boards.

The Senators turned on the speed late in the period and rushes by Shannon and Kaminsky missed goals by inches. Senators were controlling the puck and the Hawks could not threaten acceptance when Beveridge made a sensational save after Conacher had gone the length of the ice.

Hawks Tie Score.

March nearly tied the score soon after the third period opened, but Bowman hooked him out of the play. The Hawks swarmed inside the Senator blue line. Lionel Conacher put Scotty Bowman into the boards on a rush. Bowman went down like a poled ox and stayed down almost a minute while trainers rushed out on the ice. He returned to play, and Conacher escaped a penalty.

Beveridge robbed Tommy Cook for

HORSE AUCTION OVER; TURFMEN CAN SLEEP LATE

Mae West, Broken to Harness, Goes for $100

BY FRENCH LANE.

All the horsemen in town will be able to sleep late this morning because the one hundredth anniversary horse auction at the Union Stock yards is over.

The buyers and the sellers blinked away at one another beneath the bright lights of the International amphitheater until a late hour last night.

They all seemed to be happy. The prices were not record breakers. Yet that didn't dampen the Christmas spirit of either the buyers or the sellers.

Mae West Brings $100.

The official catalog, which was the guide of all the people at the sales, printed the following:

Mae didn't bring a record price. Monie Waixel of Chicago bid briskly for her but lost her when a man from Iowa bid $100. Dr. D. B. Rice, noted surgeon of Britton, S. D., was the humorist who named Mae West, then sold her.

The ghost of the racing stable once maintained by Congressman Stanley Kuntz galloped out into the arena early in the evening. It was old Deerfield.

The Kuntz racing stable became noted because the two dozen or more horses in it were unable to win over a long stretch. Finally Deerfield won a race and not long afterwards the Kuntz racing establishment began to crumble. It crumbled until finally it faded right out the turf picture.

This One Was Unpopular.

So Deerfield had sort of a sneaky look in his eyes when he came into the sales ring. So did Auctioneer Frank Gross, who had a terrible time getting a bid on him.

Finally somebody spoke up and said "I'll give $25." Another man said $30. Then came a bid of $35. "Sold to the gentleman over there," gurgled Auctioneer Gross in his excitement. He seemed to be afraid the fellow would change his mind.

Emil Denemark stood with a long face and watched Bray Annie, for which he once paid $6,500, go for the meager bid of $35. Bray Annie is now 12 years old and there is no place these days for an old bay mare in a stable which tries to make both ends meet.

250 Horses Sold.

During the two day session of the sale 250 horses were sold. The yearling trotters brought an average of $125. Saddle horses averaged around $400. Old trotters, pacers, and runners were in less demand. The average price was around $100.

The total amount realized at the sales was not announced, but was said to have topped last year's total by 25 per cent.

East All-Star Eleven Drills Here Today

Twenty-two of the outstanding players of the middle west and east, comprising the East football team which will meet an all star eleven from the west in a charity game at San Francisco on New Year's day, will assemble at Dyche stadium today for their first workout.

The players were selected by Coach Dick Hanley of Northwestern, and Andy Kerr of Colgate, the former picking 11 players from the central states and Kerr selecting 11 from the eastern seaboard.

Coach Kerr and his group will arrive in Chicago this morning and will establish headquarters at the Palmer house. The midwestern players will assemble at Patten gym. Both groups will meet at Dyche stadium at 2 o'clock, when equipment will be issued and the first practice held. The squad will start for the west coast tonight.

Seven Big Ten schools and Notre Dame are represented on the squad picked by Hanley. Coach Kerr's group represents seven schools in the east and south. Headquarters on the coast will be set up at Stanford university, where practice will be held until the day of the game.

The personnel of the team follows:

GUARDS—Joe Gailus, Ohio; Bob Jones, Indiana; Owen James, Bucknell, and Tom Hupke, Alabama.

GREENLEAF GETS DIVORCE; WIFE GETS PROPERTY

Ralph Greenleaf, former pocket billiard champion, yesterday displayed a big bump on his forehead and a missing tooth to Judge Rudolph F. Desort in proof of his charge that Mrs. Amelia Ruth Greenleaf hurled an ash tray, a glass, and other missiles at him on Dec. 14, while he was defending his title here. He was granted an uncontested divorce on a charge of cruelty. Mrs. Greenleaf, who lives in New York, was given some property at St. Michaels, Md., and Greenleaf's billiard hall at 51st street and Broadway, New York.

Jack Westrope Rides 298th Winner of Year

INDIANA FIVE BEATS ST. LOUIS UNIVERSITY, 47-32

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The University of Indiana basketball team started out unimpressively but spurted in the second half to defeat St. Louis university, 47 to 32, tonight.

St. Louis, paced by Charles Birksen, veteran forward, led until near the end of the first half, which ended in a tie, 22 to 22.

The second period, however, was all Indiana, the Hoosiers rolling up 25 points to 10 for the Billikens, who recently defeated the University of Illinois.

Detroit Beats Americans 1-0 to Hold Lead

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings got a goal early tonight and protected it to the end, to defeat the New York Americans, 1 to 0, in a National Hockey league game. The victory enabled the Wings to hold their place at the head of the American division.

The regular goalies of both teams, Roy Worters of New York and John Roach of Detroit, were back after layoffs due to injuries. Neither had much work, Worters stopping 18 shots and Roach 24.

Cooney Weiland scored the only goal when a penalty left the Americans a man short in the first period. A three-man rush sent Worters down on the ice and Weiland's shot caromed in the second time in the game, when the Hawk player was all alone in front of him with time to shoot. Paul Thompson then tied it up for Chicago when he took a double pass from Conacher and Doc Romnes in front of Beveridge. Conacher made the play when he broke up a Senator rush and plowed down center. He passed to Romnes, and Thompson was on the spot when the puck arrived at the goal mouth.

The Hawks dominated the play for the rest of the period, Gottselig and Romnes almost scoring and Conacher carrying the puck down to the net. He claimed he carried the puck into the cage, but was overruled by the goal umpire.

Taffy Abel put the Hawks ahead in the overtime when he broke up a Senator rush, passed to Cook and then went in to take a perfect pass and beat Beveridge from 20 feet out.

BOSTON, 1; MAROONS, 0

Boston, Mass., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Playing on their home rink for the first time since Irvin ["Ace"] Bailey suffered his tragic accident, the Boston Bruins tonight defeated the Montreal Maroons, 1 to 0, in a tame overtime game.

Bob Gracies broke up the game after 6:24 of overtime play when he was trying to pass to Harry Oliver. His high shot struck the stick of Cyclone Wentworth, Maroon defense man, and caromed into the net to decide the game.

Although the public was informed that all of the gate receipts would be turned over to Mrs. Gladys Bailey, wife of the injured Toronto player, the crowd was considerably under 6,000, the smallest of the Boston season. Receipts were announced as $6,642.22.

HASKELL PLAYS IN SOUTH.

Lawrence, Kas., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The Haskell institute football team will leave Thursday for Tampa, Fla., where the Indians engage the University of Tampa Christmas day. Coach Gus Welch said 20 members of the team would make the trip.

MILLER TO FIGHT LEVINE TONIGHT IN ARCADIA RING

Nontitle Bout Scheduled for Ten Rounds.

The Card

Freddy Miller vs. Sammy Levine [10].
Geno Salvatore vs. George Engel [5].
Jack King vs. Duane Maddux [4].
Les Darcy vs. Frank Keevil [4].
Laddie Tonelli vs. Johnny Terry [6].

Freddy Miller, featherweight champion, and Sammy Levine will meet in a ten round nontitle bout tonight at Arcadia Gardens, 4444 Broadway. Levine will be facing a champion for the first time in his professional career and he is confident that he will win.

Since 1930, when he whipped Jimmy Hughes of New York in the intercity Golden Gloves matches at the Chicago Stadium, Levine has engaged in 57 pro contests. He lost eight and fought four draws.

The five round match between Geno Salvatore, La Salle, Ill., lightweight, and George Engel of Chicago appears best of the supporting bouts. Salvatore

LOYOLA MEETS ST. AMBROSE IN OPENER TONIGHT

Wisconsin at Stevens Point.
Nebraska at Marquette.
St. Ambrose at Loyola.
Michigan at Ratgers.

St. Ambrose college, champions of the Iowa conference last year, will open Loyola university's basketball season tonight at the Loyola gym. The game will start at 8:15 o'clock.

Loyola will have only two of last year's regulars in the starting lineup, while St. Ambrose will have three. Loyola won 16 to 15 and 30 to 28 from the Davenport team last year. The only other teams to defeat St. Ambrose were University of Iowa, Macomb Teachers, and Augustana.

Joseph Frisch, Bernard Ash, and Joseph Schuessler have been groomed by Coach Lennie Sachs to replace Don Cavanaugh, Eddie Connelly, and George Silvestri, who were lost by graduation. The brunt of the attack will rest with Capt. James Hogan and Harold Motz, two six foot regulars who led the scoring last year.

Loyola's starting lineup averages six feet, while St. Ambrose averages 5 feet 11½ inches.

LOYOLA.		ST. AMBROSE.
Frisch	L.F.	Austin
Ash	R.F.	Minett
Motz	C.	Pahl
Schuessler	L.G.	Urie (C.)
Hogan (C.)	R.G.	Dvorsky

BADGERS SEEK REVENGE

Madison, Wis., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Victorious in their first four games, members of the Wisconsin basketball team are looking forward hopefully to wiping out another score when they meet the Stevens Point Teachers' college five at Wisconsin Rapids, tomorrow night.

Last year, the Pointers were among the numerous teams which upset Wisconsin, the score being 28 to 24, and the Badgers will be out to reverse that verdict. They have already taken into camp two teams which whipped them last year—Carleton and Marquette—and they think they have improved enough to turn a similar trick against Stevens Point which has lost more stars than Wisconsin since last year.

Following Friday's practice, the Badgers will be excused to spend Christmas at home but they will return next week for practice with the Butler game, Dec. 30, and the second Marquette clash, Jan. 2, as their next objectives.

N. U. PLAYS TOMORROW

Northwestern's basketball team, strengthened by the return to action of Al Kawal, star guard, will endeavor to halt its three game losing streak when it meets Nebraska at Patten gymnasium tomorrow night.

Kawal, who has been recovering from a football injury, saw a few minutes of action against Pittsburgh last Saturday night. His presence is expected to bolster the Purple cause, since Eggs Manske, who has been playing regularly, has been removed from each game via he personal foul route. The pair will probably alternate at the guard position.

The Cornhuskers will present a veteran lineup. Marion Scott, 6 foot 2 inch center, is the only sophomore in the starting five, the others all being letter men.

Red Kopecky, husky sophomore who started the season at forward, has been shifted to center in order to make room for Del Prendergast, speedy sophomore forward. Both Rosenfeld and Prendergast are under six feet. Lack of height has proved a handicap to the Wildcats in their games to date.

M'FADYEN, HAWK FORWARD, GETS U. OF C. DEGREE

Donald Phillip [Donnie] McFadyen, forward for the Chicago Blackhawks, was awarded the J. D. degree [doctor of law] by the University of Chicago yesterday at the university's 174th convocation, marking his graduation from the university's law school.

McFadyen took the bachelor of philosophy degree at Marquette university in 1930, and since has been studying at the Midway in the off season. He was unable to attend the graduation exercises, because the Hawks are on the road. The degree was conferred in absentia.

Six "C" men were awarded the bachelor's degree. They are Warren Beilstrom and Allan Summers, who completed their competition in football last year; Vinson Arthur William Sahlin, Walter Manelkis, and Robert Wallace, who were on the Maroon football team this year, and Stephen Straske, baseball pitcher, who graduated in three and a quarter years and thus lost one season of competition.

WONDERBOLTS, SPARTA LEADERS CLASH TONIGHT

The Wieboldt Wonderbolts and the Sparta Leaders, professional soccer teams, will play tonight at the 124th Field Artillery armory. Before these rivals take the field, the Calumet Park team, and the Armours, will meet at 8 o'clock.

Wieboldt-Sparta lineup:

MOON MULLINS—A PRACTICAL MAN

National Ski Official Lauds Tribune Meet

Harold Grinden, secretary of the National Ski association, hastens to offer hearty approval of the boys' ski tournament, which annually is sponsored by THE TRIBUNE and the commissioners of the northwest park district. This year's tournament, the third of the series which was started in 1931, will be held a week from Sunday at Riis park, Fullerton and Meade avenues.

Mr. Grinden's letter follows in part:

"It was with great pleasure that I read the story this morning concerning THE TRIBUNE'S annual ski meet.

"This is indeed a splendid work and the National Ski association is deeply appreciative of the efforts so ably directed in this development.

Hope for Expansion.

"A year ago in my home city of Duluth the local papers sponsored their first annual boys ski tourney and it was most successful. We sincerely hope that many others will take up this same activity and the time may yet come when we will see a championship meet with representatives competing from divisional championships.

"In our association there are over 125 clubs, and all clubs this year are sponsoring a boys' class with their regular events. The activity is growing by leaps and bounds.

"THE TRIBUNE'S annual boys' tournament has done much to awaken the rest of the nation on such promotions and it is with that in mind that I hasten this message to you.

"With best wishes for a most successful tournament, we are "Very truly yours,

"National Ski Association of America,
"HAROLD A. GRINDEN,
"Dubuque, Ia."

All boys who wish to enter this year's tournament must send in their entry blanks properly filled out before midnight, Dec. 27. In the event that lack of snow or weather conditions forces postponement of the meet the original entry list will qualify for the tournament when it is held. None will be permitted to enter after Dec. 27.

Four Prizes Awarded.

The first snowfall probably will provide sufficient snow even if the temperature later rises above freezing, for the officials of the northwest park district have made arrangements to pile and store the first snow.

Local ski clubs will coöperate in judging the meet, and a list of officials will be announced later.

Four gold medals will be awarded to the boys who make the best showing in the four age classes. Prizes for second and third place in each age class are silver and bronze medals, respectively, while the club which scores the most points will receive a silver trophy.

WILLIAMS BAY TO ERECT NEW ATHLETIC PLANT

Williams Bay, Wis., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Facilities for skating, ice boating, ski and tobogganing with a new athletic field and playground for summer sports will be erected here with federal funds, Mayor Atkins announced today. The mayor recently returned from Washington where he secured the promise of funds for completing the work which men are already doing along the water front. Unless the weather prevents, work will be started on the athletic field immediately.

A 30 acre piece of land, city property, will be converted into the playground. A baseball diamond, tennis courts, a rifle range, a running and bicycle track, football field and general all round sports course will occupy one end of the tract with a park at the other.

A new bathing beach will be built on Lake Geneva. The Northwestern railroad, which owns much of the land along the water front, is coöperating in the project.

TRIBUNE SKI TOURNAMENT

Please enter me in THE TRIBUNE'S third annual ski tournament for boys at Riis park, Fullerton and Meade avenues, Sunday, Dec. 31. Print name plainly in pencil. Check age division. Mail entry to Ski Editor, Sports department, Chicago Tribune.

Entries close at midnight Dec. 27.

SONNENBERG AND SMITH DRAW AS THEY HIT FLOOR

Gus Sonnenberg of Boston and Jack Smith of Chicago settled for a draw at the Arcadia Garden last night, when neither wrestler could continue after Smith's flying tackle had carried both from the ring.

Sonnenberg had been pitched out of the ring just before the climax, his head striking the end of the ring. He staggered back and Smith immediately butted him with a flying tackle. Both catapulted to the floor. Smith was the first to crawl back, but he collapsed and was given first aid. Then Gus worked his way into the ring, but he too, needed assistance.

Results:

Gus Sonnenberg and Jack Smith drew [29:30]; Buckets Goldenberg pinned Joe Wolf, flying tackle [9:55]; Gus Clem and Zack Malkov drew [20:00]; Ole Oleson and George Mack drew [20:00]; Stan Lurik tossed Thomas Stockholm [3:00].

Columbia Off for Pasadena with 30 Men

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Columbia university's football players, coaches and trainers left New York at 3:40 today for the Pacific coast and the Rose bowl game on Jan. 1 in which it meets Stanford. It is the first time that a New York eleven has represented the east in the Tournament of Roses, and Broadway gave the squad a send-off.

A crowd estimated at more than 5,000 persons jammed the Pennsylvania station when two busloads of players, behind the wailing sirens of a motorcycle escort, roared into the entrance. The team disembarked and gathered around Mayor John P. O'Brien, who adjured them to "bring home the bacon."

Police Band Plays.

The police department band and glee club were on hand, blaring forth "California, Here I Come," and other airs calculated to inform Stanford that New York expects its team to surprise caustic critics of the Pacific coast. Unfortunately, however, the musicians apparently had never heard of "Roar, Lion, Roar," or "Sans Souci," or any other Columbia song.

A university cheer leader took things in hand as the time for departure neared, and, as the train pulled out and the heads of the players protruded from Pullman windows an organized yell sped them on their way.

Take Six Car Special.

The party totals 54 men, and it will use six cars, a baggage car for equipment, a diner, a club car, and the three sleepers. The route calls for stops at St. Louis, Mo.; Dallas and El Paso, Tex., and Tucson, Ariz., before the last jump to the coast. The squad will acclimate itself for a week in Arizona. The first workout will be held on the University of St. Louis field tomorrow afternoon.

Joe Ferrara, star tackle, will be unable to play because of ineligibility, but will be taken on the trip. The players making the trip are:

Rip Miller's Navy Contract Is Renewed

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—It was announced at the Naval academy this afternoon that Edgar E. (Rip) Miller would be football coach for next year, with the same authority and duties he has had for the last three seasons.

It was also stated that Lieutenant Commander John H. Brown, former Naval academy player, would succeed Lieutenant Commander Harvey E. Overesch as director of football, and that Lieut. Thomas J. Hamilton, quarter back of the Naval academy champion team of 1926 would be assistant football director, a newly created position.

Lieut. Hamilton, noted as one of the best football generals who has played for the Navy, will have active duties in connection with the coaching of the team. Lieutenant Commander Brown will assume his new duties in June, when Lieutenant Commander Overesch will be detached.

FEDERAL BOARD TO WIDEN RADIO BROADCAST BAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—A new band of wave lengths located just below the existing broadcasting spectrum, was thrown open to broadcasting stations today by the federal radio commission, and is expected to be occupied in the near future by about a dozen new stations of not more than 1,000 watts power.

Adopting the recommendations of its engineering and legal divisons, the commission decided to open three new channels in the range from 1,500 to 1,600 kilocycles for experimental stations, which, however, will be permitted to broadcast regular sponsored programs.

Certain definite prerequisites must be met by applicants before they can acquire licenses to operate in the bands, and hearings before the commission will be scheduled before definite allocations are made.

Three New Channels.

The three channels opened are 1,530, 1,550, and 1,570 kilocycles, each twice as wide as the channels in the regular band. It is the first time since the commission's creation in 1927 that the band has been widened to accommodate more stations and a deluge of applications for assignments is expected.

While no word was officially forthcoming from the commission it was pointed out that these channels might be used in meeting the demands of certain states now under quota in facilities for additional stations. Thus the consistent attacks made upon stations in such states as Illinois and New York, which are substantially overquota, might be obviated, without destruction of investments in stations and without disturbing existing high quality service to listeners.

Modern radio receivers are capable of tuning this new frequency range. Older model sets, however, would not be able to pick up stations above 1,500 kilocycles unless equipped with new parts which would enlarge the range of selection. All radio manufacturers unquestionably will begin at once to build sets capable of picking up stations in the new band.

Conditions for Assignment.

In its formal action, the commission stated that applicants for assignments in the new band must meet the following conditions:

"[1] That the operation will be under the direct supervision of a qualified research engineer with an adequate staff of qualified engineers to carry on a program of research; [2] that the program of research include study of antenna design, field intensity surveys and plans for an analysis of response of listeners; [3] that the transmitter and all studios will be equipped so as to be capable of at least 10 kilocycle audio frequency transmission."

Licenses will be issued for six months, and will be subject to recapture if the channels do not prove suitable for broadcasting. Power will be limited to a maximum of 1,000 watts which means that three or four stations can be duplicated throughout the country on each channel. The channels will be 20 kilocycles wide, or twice the width of the waves in the conventional broadcast band, which should result in higher quality transmission of programs. Moreover, this would allow sufficient space in between channels to increase the capacity of the new range if the experiments prove successful.

Sponsored Programs Allowed.

Sponsored programs, the commission ruled, will be permitted, despite the fact that the services will be experimental. It stipulated, however, that the sponsorship should not interfere with the program of research, and the conduct of experiments should not depend only on sponsors as a means of defraying the cost of experiments.

Commissioner Harold A. Latount, while he approved the opening of the new band for broadcasting, objected to the proviso allowing sponsored programs on the ground that it would mean adding commercial stations to already overcongested radio areas and would result in further "economic distress" to stations already licensed.

Previously Ruled Out.

Commissioner Lafount pointed out that the commission heretofore has ruled as a matter of policy that no commercial or sponsored programs be permitted in television, short wave broadcasting and in other experimental services.

"There seems to be no good reason to depart from this policy in the case of experimental broadcasting," he asserted."

Widening of the broadcast band was made possible as a result of an agreement reached at the North American conference on radio held in Mexico City last summer. After that conference the commission began removal of existing services from the 1,500-1,600 band, including police, marine fire, experimental and similar miscellaneous radio pursuits. No determination of policy, however, was reached at that time, the band having been labeled "general communications."

First hearings in connection with the new band will be held on the application of the Waterbury [Conn.] American-Republican, which a few weeks ago applied for the 1520 kilocycle channel. No definite date yet has been set, however. Canada already has assigned two stations to the 1510 kilocycle channel.

The commission was informed today that stations WTMJ, Milwaukee, and WHA, Madison, had withdrawn their applications for the facilities of station WMAQ, Chicago, originally scheduled for hearing on Jan. 8.

Station WHBY, Green Bay, withdrew its application for the facilities of WHA, but will press its pending application for the facilities of WGES Chicago, on the 1360 kilocycle channel, and for the one-half time on this same channel vacated by former station WJKS [now WIND] of Gary, Ind.

With these actions, the Jan. 8 hearing will involve only the less important issues of smaller stations, rather than threaten any of Chicago's clear channel stations.

John J. Murphy "No. 6," Retired Policeman, Dies

John J. Murphy, 77 years old, a Chicago policeman for 25 years, died yesterday at the home of his brother, Peter, 1421 North Lockwood avenue. Since his retirement in 1915 he had lived on a farm at Portage, Wis., his birthplace. Several weeks ago he became ill and came to Chicago to stay with his brother. While a member of the police department he was stationed at the first district, where he was known as "John J. Murphy No. 6," there being five other policemen at that station by the same name. Funeral services will be held from the Lockwood avenue home tomorrow. Interment will be at Portage.

Despondent Over Divorce, Ends Life on Park Island

Arthur Hedin, 48 years old, a former resident of Waukegan, shot himself to death yesterday on the island in the Washington park lagoon. A coroner's jury found that he had been a despondent since last spring, when his wife, Mrs. Edna Hedin, divorced him. At that time he left his place as a bookkeeper for a Waukegan insurance agent and came to Chicago, where he worked as a cashier in a World's Fair restaurant. He had been unemployed since the Fair closed.

KILLER'S LAWYER AND BROTHER ARE CLEARED OF PLOT

Jury Votes Acquittal at State Request.

Ross Lee Laird, former assistant state's attorney, and Frank Scheck, older brother of John Scheck, slayer of Policeman John G. Sevick, were acquitted by a jury yesterday in the Criminal court of Judge James F. Fardy of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

The charges grew out of the investigation into the murder of Policeman Sevick in the Criminal court of Judge Charles P. Molthrop on July 23. John Scheck, now under sentence to die in the electric chair for the murder, shot the policeman in a break for freedom from a detention cell behind the courtroom. The pistol used in the killing was smuggled to Scheck in the detention cell.

The conspiracy indictments against Attorney Laird, who was retained as defense counsel by the Scheck family, and Frank Scheck were based on the state charge that they had shielded Mrs. Rose Scheck, mother of the slayer, from arrest after a coroner's jury had recommended that she be held to the grand jury on a murder charge.

The state charged that Mrs. Scheck smuggled the gun to her son. She was later acquitted of the charge.

Family Friend Is Witness.

Assistant State's Attorney Robert Wright moved for a verdict of not guilty in the conspiracy case against Attorney Laird and Frank Scheck after the state's leading witness, Frank Loeb, 4153 Keystone avenue, had completed his testimony.

On direct examination Loeb, a friend of the Scheck family, testified that Mrs. Scheck appeared at his home the day after the murder and said she was ill and wished to rest. Later that day, the witness said, he told Attorney Laird and Frank Scheck that Mrs. Scheck was not in his home.

Loeb told the jury that he later went to Attorney Laird's office for a conference with the attorney and Frank Scheck. He testified "that some one at the meeting said that Mrs. Scheck was in bad shape and should be allowed to rest a couple of days before she surrendered."

Loeb Is Cross-Examined.

Cross-examined by Defense Attorney James M. Burke, Loeb said, however, that Attorney Laird had told him that Mrs. Scheck must surrender to the state's attorney or police.

"When I told him that Mrs. Scheck was very ill and sat all day with a bottle of poison and threatened to commit suicide, Attorney Laird said that she must surrender whatever the consequences," Loeb said.

"It would be an idle gesture and a waste of time to go further with this case," Assistant State's Attorney Wright told Judge Fardy. "I have here verdict forms of not guilty for both defendants which I wish to present to the jury."

The verdict forms were given to the jurors who signed them without leaving the jury box.

Last of Three Brothers on Same Train Crew Dies

Rock Island, Ill., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Finis to the train crew of brothers which for many years operated a Rock Island Line passenger run between Rock Island and Omaha, Neb., was written today with the death of the last of the brothers, Peter J. Kane, in Shawnee, Okla. Peter was the brakeman, Thomas Kane the conductor, and John Kane, the engineer. Another brother, also dead, was an engineer for the same railroad.

German Admiral, One of 'War Culprits,' Dies at 76

BERLIN, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Admiral Friedrich von Ingenohl, who was chief of Germany's high seas fleet for a period during the world war and who commanded a squadron in the battle of Heligoland Bight, died today. Admiral Von Ingenohl was one of the "war culprits" whose extradition was demanded by the allies after the armistice but which was refused by Germany.

GIRL SOCIAL WORKER GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE WAIFS FROM DISEASE

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Miss Margaret MacKay, volunteer social worker of Glendale, dropped into Children's hospital today to help in Christmas preparations and saw four little foundlings, three girls and one boy, all under one month of age, who had been suffering from intestinal illness which made a blood transfusion imperative. But there were no funds for such operations. Miss MacKay offered hers. She was tested and underwent four transfusions all in an hour's time, rested an hour and then returned to her volunteer social work.

WARRANTS OUT FOR SEVEN MORE IN FRAUD CASE

Judge Alfred O. Erickson in the Municipal court yesterday issued warrants for the arrest of seven men in addition to five already under arrest in connection with the promotion of the "First Christmas Market and Charity Bazaar," at 9 West Washington street. The new defendants, who are charged with conspiracy to defraud, are Peter Dendetti, Louis Germanos, F. Wachwicz, Rex Sabin, E. V. Stratton, H. Howard, and C. F. Shephard. The warrants were turned over to the police department for service.

The complaints were signed by Miss Rosalie Dribben, cosmetician and beauty lecturer, who charged that she paid $147 at $3 a square foot for space in the bazaar rooms. Last Saturday Miss Dribben signed misdemeanor complaints against W. E. Tidwell, general manager of the bazaar, and J. B. Trautman, another of the sponsors. Frank Koellner, Charles Schwarz, and John Krutzler, associates of Tidwell and Trautman in the promotion, have also been arrested and the five men will be tried before Judge Erickson Dec. 27.

ACTRESS, NIECE OF EDWIN BOOTH, IS DEAD IN N. Y.

New York, Dec. 19.—[Special.]—Broadway heard today that Hope Booth Thomas was dead in a dingy Third avenue hotel. The 61 year old woman passed on last night in her two room apartment over the noisy "L" in the obscure Hotel Munroe.

Mrs. Thomas was a niece of the great tragedian, Edwin Booth, and the daughter of the late Dr. W. Beresford Hope, member of the Canadian parliament.

Educated at a Montreal convent she made her stage debut as Little Miss Cute in a London theater. Later she toured this country in Martin Beck vaudeville and made her most pronounced success in George M. Cohan's "The Little Blonde Lady." She also played with Mrs. Fiske and in Daniel Frohman's stock company.

Mrs. Thomas will be buried in the Actors' Fund cemetery following a service in the Actors' chapel in St. Malachy's church Thursday morning.

Tex Guinan's Jewelry Auctioned Off for $9,100

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—They auctioned off the sparkling jewelry and shiny gadgets today which once were the pride of the late Tex Guinan. Tex was proud of her jewels and believed they were worth $40,000, but they only brought $9,100 from the dealers, who bid in the diamond rings, jeweled vanity cases and gold slave bracelets.

ALFRED S. TRUDE LEAVES ESTATE OF TWO MILLION

Noted Lawyer's Will Is Filed in Court.

Alfred S. Trude, famous attorney of earlier Chicago days, left an estate valued at $2,000,000, it was disclosed yesterday when his will was admitted to probate by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell. Mr. Trude died on Dec. 12 at the age of 87 in his home at 4960 Drexel boulevard. He had been retired from practice for some years.

Mr. Trude built up his estate by investments in loop real estate, some of which he had held for forty years or more. He owned a half interest in the land on which the City Hall Square building rests, a half interest in another plot in the heart of the La Salle street financial district, part of the land beneath the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company headquarters at Michigan avenue and Adams street, and another plot adjoining the Hotel Sherman.

Realty Valued at $1,500,000.

His real estate holdings were valued at $1,500,000 in the probate petition, and his personal property at $500,000.

The principal beneficiaries under the will are four children, Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude, Walter S. Trude, Mrs. Algenia Kern, and Mrs. Cecelia Wilkins. They are to receive an income of $10,000 a year for four years and then are to divide the residual estate equally.

To his widow, Mrs. Algenia Trude, Mr. Trude left their home and a life income of $35,000 a year. At Mrs. Trude's death the properties segregated to supply this income are to be divided among the children.

$1,500 a Year to Grandson.

A grandson, Alfred S. Trude III., 340 South Linden avenue, Highland Park, is to receive $1,500 a year until he is 40 and at that time an outright bequest of $46,000. Bequests totaling $4,800 were made to a brother, cousin and friend of Mr. Trude, and to his chauffeur.

Charitable bequests totaled $12,500. Of this the Chicago Home for Incurables is to receive $4,000, the Central Free Dispensary, 1744 West Harrison street, $3,000; the Chicago Home for the Friendless, $2,000; the United Charities, $2,500; and the Illinois Social Hygiene league and the Chicago Lighthouse, $500 each.

Four Other Wills Filed.

Four other wills were filed with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin in the Probate court yesterday and were approved by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the Probate judge, as follows:

CHARLES McWILLIAMS, died Oct. 24. Estate, $3,000. to widow, Mae McWilliams, who is executrix.

ERNEST E. ADAMS, died Nov. 14. Estate, $5,000. to widow and son. Eliza Adams, widow, is executrix.

WILLIAM J. BOULTER, died Nov. 12. Estate, $25,000, to brother, Clarence Boulter, who is executor.

JOHN J. O'CONNELL, died Oct. 10. Estate, $7,520, to two daughters. Margaret Dixon, daughter, is executrix.

When Winter brings COLDS, STOPPED-UP NOSTRILS

Mentholatum brings soothing COMFORT

When your child has a bad cold nothing must be allowed to rob him of the one thing he needs more than ever — plenty of sleep. If a stopped-up nose makes it hard for him to breathe, put a little cooling, soothing Mentholatum in each nostril. Mentholatum contains several beneficial ingredients which help to clear the nasal passages, thus permitting easier breathing.

Why not teach him to use Mentholatum by himself? It is perfectly harmless to the delicate tissues, and will not stain.

JAMES S. PARKER DIES; NEW YORK CONGRESSMAN

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Representative James S. Parker [Rep., N. Y.] died at his home here late today from a paralytic stroke suffered last Wednesday. He was 66.

During the long Republican control of the house Parker rose to the rank of chairman of the interstate and foreign commerce committee. After Democrats took control he was ranking Republican on the committee.

MILLI

FIRST NATIONAL BOOSTS AMOUNT OF RFC STOCK

Directors Vote to Sell $25,000,000.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Directors of the First National bank of Chicago yesterday afternoon voted to sell $25,000,000 of preferred stock to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Immediately after the directors' meeting Melvin A. Traylor, president, addressed a letter to shareholders notifying them that the sale of this stock would be submitted for their approval at the seventieth annual meeting of shareholders Jan. 9, 1934, at 10 a. m.

On Nov. 10 the directors had voted to sell $15,000,000 of preferred stock, but had not named the RFC as the probable purchaser.

Sale of Stock Arranged.

Mr. Traylor's letter discloses that the bank has already made arrangements with the controller of the currency and the RFC for the sale of the larger amount to the latter group.

The directors yesterday also voted that after the sale of the preferred stock $5,000,000 should be transferred from surplus account to a special reserve account.

Upon the approval of the preferred stock sale by the shareholders, the bank's capital structure will consist of the following: Preferred stock, $25,000,000; common stock, $25,000,000; surplus, $10,000,000; undivided profits, about $1,000,000, and special reserve, $5,000,000.

Report on Chargeoffs.

Mr. Traylor, in his letter to shareholders made the following report on chargeoffs and special reserves since 1929:

"During the very trying years since 1929," he said, "the losses of the bank have been provided for as they have developed and the capital structure as indicated above is believed to rest upon sound asset values.

"In addition to losses charged off, reserves in excess of $20,000,000 have previously been provided, as needed, to mark down the bond account and for other purposes.

"These reserves are deducted from various items on the asset side of the bank's published statements and therefore are not shown in the published statements. In addition, the bank, through the absorption of the First Union Trust and Savings bank, acquired other real estate of an estimated present market value in excess of $1,750,000 which is not carried on the books of the bank, but which is an eligible asset and could be so carried, if desired.

Recovery in Asset Values.

"The bank has already had substantial recoveries from previous charged off items and further recoveries will be made, the amount, naturally, being dependent upon the course of general business."

Actual earnings of the bank for the eleven months ended Dec. 1 and estimated earnings for December, Mr. Traylor said, will approximate, after all expenses and reserves for taxes, about $4,800,000.

During the year, he reported, economies in operation have resulted in a saving in overhead of more than $1,500,000 per annum.

Present stockholders are not urged to subscribe to preferred shares, but are to be given the right to subscribe to them on a pro rata basis, Mr. Traylor said. Rights of subscription will be extended to shareholders of record at the close of business Dec. 29 and will expire Jan. 9. Stock transfer books of the bank will remain closed from Dec. 29 until Jan. 10.

Seek to Divorce Affiliate.

Stockholders also are asked to authorize the bank to take steps toward divorcing its security affiliate, the First-Chicago corporation.

"Recent national legislation regarding affiliates," Mr. Traylor said in his letter to shareholders, "makes it necessary to remove from the stock certificates of the bank the endorsement evidencing the beneficial interest in the stock of the First-Chicago corporation and may eventually require either the dissolution of the First-Chicago corporation or its complete separation from the bank."

The directors' action yesterday in voting to sell $25,000,000 of preferred stock to the RFC followed the recommendations outlined by the bank's executive committee.

"The committee reported that, although there had been no official requirement that the bank sell preferred stock, it was its judgment that the interests of the holders of the present capital stock of the bank would be best served by the issuance and sale at this time of $25,000,000 of retireable preferred stock to the Reconstruction Finance corporation," Mr. Traylor said.

Second Big Bank in Line.

The First National thus becomes the second big Chicago bank to accede to the administration's demands for increased capital structures for banks. The Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company several weeks ago arranged to sell $50,000,000 of preferred stock to the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Stockholders of the Continental bank will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock to vote on this proposition and also to authorize a reduction of the outstanding common stock from $75,000,000 to $25,000,000. Enough proxies have already been returned to insure the approval of the Continental's proposition by the stockholders, according to officials of the bank.

Northern Trust Maintains Annual $18 Dividend Rate

Directors of the Northern Trust company yesterday declared the regular quarterly dividend of $4.50 a share, thus maintaining the $18 annual rate which has been in force since 1929. The dividend is payable Jan. 2 to stock of record Dec. 15.

Iowan Will Head Chicago Reserve Bank

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

George J. Schaller, Storm Lake, Ia., banker, has been elected the acting governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, according to an announcement made yesterday. He will take over the job on Jan. 1.

The leave of absence of James B. McDougal, governor of the reserve bank here since its founding in 1914, has been extended until next March. Mr. McDougal was forced to give up active duty last March because of ill health and has not recovered sufficiently to resume his job, according to Eugene M. Stevens, chairman of the board.

Not a "Brain Truster."

Mr. Schaller's election is regarded as significant for two reasons. First, he is not a "big city" banker. Second, he is of the hard headed practical type favored by the directors here as opposed to the "brain truster" type which the federal reserve board in Washington is inclined to favor.

Mr. Schaller is president of the Citizens' State bank of Storm Lake, a city of 4,157 population, and has been a class A director of the Chicago reserve institution since 1929. He was born in Iowa of German parents 59 years ago and was educated at the Storm Lake grade and high schools. He had varied experience in banking and real estate until 1902, when he and his father organized the Citizens' bank. He has been connected with the bank continuously since its founding, serving in turn as cashier and vice president and becoming president upon the death of his father in 1922. It is expected that his son, Harry, will succeed him as president.

Known as Successful Banker.

Mr. Schaller is one of the bankers who has come through the recent trying years with flying colors. Although never widely known in Chicago, he has been a force in the affairs of the reserve bank here since his election to the board. He has 14 lines in Who's Who, which reveals that he is a Presbyterian, a Rotarian, and a Republican.

The election shows clearly that the reserve directors here have not abdicated in favor of control from the reserve board in Washington. They have put one of their own type in the governorship.

Howard Preston, who has been acting governor of the reserve bank since Mr. McDougal's leave began, is expected to continue as deputy governor.

GERMAN SLASH IN INTEREST RATE PEEVES BRITISH

LONDON, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Official circles said today the British government was greatly displeased at what was described as "the unilateral action" of Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, regarding foreign payments on German bonds.

Schacht announced in Berlin yesterday that the continued "dumping" of foreign currencies made it impossible for the reichsbank to maintain its present transfer quota of 50 per cent and that therefore the reichsbank's central committee was forced to cut to 30 per cent the debt payment on maturing interest and dividend amounts paid into the conversion fund.

The reichsbank made two exceptions; the interest and amortization on the 7 per cent Dawes loan and the interest on the 5½ per cent Young loan are to be transferred in full.

Although official circles noted that the reichsbank action appeared to be primarily a matter of concern to the bondholders, it was intimated that some official government action might be taken later, although no decision on that subject has yet been made.

MORE RAILROADS REPORT SHARP GAINS IN FREIGHT

The Burlington reported that loadings for the week ended December totaled 21,349, compared with 19,533 in the preceding week and with 18,680 in the like week of 1932.

Cars handled by the Southern Pacific totaled 19,051 for the week of Dec. 16, compared with 19,453 in the preceding week and with 14,907 in the same week of 1932.

The Nickel Plate reported that it handled 11,292 cars, compared with 10,499 in the preceding week and with 9,946 a year ago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 19.—Joseph V. McKee was appointed counsel today of the Title Guarantee and Trust company, from which he resigned as president to run as recovery party candidate for mayor. His old job as head of the company was awarded at the same time today by the directors to George McAneny, retiring city controller. Directors of the company voted to omit the quarterly dividend of 20 cents a share, due at this time, although it was said that earnings for the year had been more than sufficient to permit the payment.

FORD MILLIONS GIVEN TO SAVE DETROIT BANK

Took Dividends Not Earned—Pecora.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Contributions of $27,000,000 by large stockholders in the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc., including $12,000,000 by Edsel Ford and his company, in a desperate effort to save the huge bank holding structure from collapse, were described to senate investigators today by Robert O. Lord, former president.

ROBERT O. LORD. [Acme Photo.]

At the same time it was indicated in letters introduced that the Guardian Union Holding company dictated dividends to be paid by subsidiary banks regardless of earnings.

Lord readily agreed as the senate banking committee opened its investigation of the Detroit banking collapse several months ago, that his organization had made mistakes, but contended its downfall was primarily due to unprecedented economic conditions.

Developments of Day.

Among other developments were:

Testimony by Lord that directors of subsidiary banks were required by the holding company to sign waivers giving up their stock when they retired and citation by Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel, of a law requiring directors to hold stock "in their own name."

Agreement by Lord that four former national bank examiners had been made officers of the holding company or its subsidiary.

Prediction by Lord that the Guardian National Bank of Commerce, biggest of the group, would pay 100 per cent to depositors.

When Ford Helped.

Relative to the Ford aid to the bank Lord said:

"Late in 1930 Edsel Ford loaned to the Guardian Detroit company $1,000,000 in cash and approximately $5,000,000 of his personal securities. In December, 1931, he loaned his credit to the group company on a loan of $2,500,000 with the Continental bank in Chicago.

"The Ford Motor company in December, 1932, loaned to the group company $3,500,000 with which funds the group company lifted out of the Union Guardian Trust company $3,000,000 of criticized assets."

Mr. Lord admitted that the Guardian Detroit Union group had made mistakes.

"Broadly speaking," he asserted, "the greatest mistake of the group was that it was organized at the peak of the nation's prosperity—that we along with others were unable to foresee the conditions which were to follow that long period of prosperity and expansion of business."

What Is Prosperity?

"Is 'prosperity' quite the correct term for what was existing at that time?" asked Senator Adams.

"I considered that there was prosperity until the summer of 1929," the witness replied. "Everybody thought they were rich. Maybe they were not."

"It was the 'national delusion' rather," interposed Senator Adams.

"I think you are right," said Lord.

Other mistakes had been made, Mr. Lord admitted, in reply to Ferdinand Pecora, committee counsel. One of these mistakes was the making of a substantial amount of mortgage loans by commercial banks in Detroit, he said. Another mistake, he added, was "that we did not liquidate our securities companies immediately in 1929."

Asked by Pecora why such a large amount of mortgage loans were made, Lord said "it was an inheritance of many years."

Repeated denials from Lord that the holding company had dictated dividends of subsidiaries were countered by Pecora with the introduction of letters sent heads of subsidiaries by Lord "suggesting" the dividend rate to be declared.

The letters said the purpose of the dividend was "to provide for the dividend requirement of the Guardian Detroit Union Group, Inc., on the basis of an annual disbursement of $3.20 a share."

The first letter introduced was from Lord to John N. Stalker, president of the Union Guardian Trust company of Detroit, the financial difficulties of which were largely responsible for the Michigan banking holiday.

Pecora exhibited Stalker's reply protesting against the rate suggested and saying it had not been earned.

President Feared Losses.

"The company is setting up no reserves," Stalker added, "and we feel that it is not as it should be. There is no doubt in my mind that the company will suffer some losses."

Lord testified at the afternoon session that at the peak the Guardian group had total assets of more than $500,000,000 and deposits aggregating about $420,000,000.

Of the latter, he said, all but $90,000,000 has been repaid or is available to the depositors.

He denied the $90,000,000 represented losses, saying these assets still were being liquidated.

Grigsby-Grunow Shipments Above December Last Year

John F. Ditzell, general sales manager of the Grigsby-Grunow company, said yesterday that shipments so far in December are 12 per cent in excess of the full month last year.

Dollar Firms as Gold Price Is Unchanged

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 19.—The dollar was comparatively steady in the foreign exchange markets of the world today as the American gold bid price was maintained at $34.06 after yesterday's 5 cent boost, marking the first change since Dec. 1.

The dollar advanced a quarter of a cent in terms of the French gold franc which closed at 6.16 cents against 6.19 cents yesterday. The indicated gold value for the dollar was 63.55 cents against 63.29 cents yesterday. The pound closed at $5.14, off a cent from yesterday and the franc fell 2½ points to 6.16½ cents.

Morgenthau "Satisfied."

In Washington Acting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau in announcing today's gold price said that he was "satisfied" with the commodity price responses to the gold program in which the RFC has spent some 50 millions. After announcing the gold price Morgenthau left to discuss treasury budget needs for the next fiscal year.

Another treasury spokesman today labeled as "purely speculative" the published reports that President Roosevelt's advisers were considering asking congress for new monetary powers for carrying out the commodity dollar experiment. Under his present powers the President can issue up to $3,000,000,000 in retiring interest bearing obligations and can devaluate the dollar by 50 per cent.

Doubt Gold Buying Legality.

The legal question of the treasury's power to buy and sell gold is still causing some concern in administrative circles. The question has been sidestepped by letting the RFC do the trading but the question is still the matter of study by the administrative financial advisers.

There was an absence of indications of heavy speculative trade in all the markets today. Before the opening of the American market the trade in the London and Paris exchanges was quiet.

Bar gold was obtainable in London at $32.67 an ounce, as measured by the opening quotation on the pound of $5.15½, as compared with the United States price of $34.06.

MINING CONCERN LIFTS DIVIDEND AS PROFITS RISE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 19.—The improvement in operations of mining companies, especially those engaged in the production and refining of various types of metals, was reflected today in the enlarged dividend by the Howe Sound company and the remarks made by the company relative to this declaration.

Directors of the company ordered a dividend of 75 cents a share payable Dec. 30 to holders of record Dec. 29. Three months ago a disbursement of 25 cents was made.

The Independent Pneumatic Tool company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents and regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents on the common, payable Jan. 2 to holders of record Dec. 22.

L. A. Young, president of the L. A. Young Spring and Wire corporation, says the company will resume dividends in the first quarter of 1934.

Postal Savings Deposits Set Record Above Billion

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Deposits in the postal savings system have reached a new peak, Clinton B. Ellenberger, second assistant postmaster general in charge, said today there was $1,199,281,139 on deposit at the end of November. That was an increase of almost $10,000,000 over the close of October and $314,110,670 more than on deposit a year ago.

GRAND JURY WEIGHS INDICTMENTS IN BANK CRASH AT CLEVELAND

Cleveland, O., Dec. 19.—[Special.]—After weeks of postponement, a federal grand jury has been ordered impaneled tomorrow to consider criminal indictments in the government's investigation into this city's closed banks.

Evidence of alleged violations of federal banking statutes probably will be submitted to the grand jury Thursday with secret indictments to be requested by United States District Attorney Emerich B. Freed.

The grand jury call followed months of auditing and inspection of bank records and transactions by the government's department of justice auditors and special agents. The sudden decision to call a grand jury was believed based on the time limit for criminal indictments that is set at three years by the statute of limitations.

YEAR'S TRADING IN ATLAS TACK WILL BE PROBED

New York, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Ambrose V. McCall, assistant state attorney general, continued his investigation today into the recent action of the Atlas Tack corporation stock on the New York Stock exchange. He decided to broaden the scope of the inquiry to include all transactions in the shares since the first of the year.

Among others questioned were the representatives of two New York and Boston Stock exchange houses and Frank Tichenor, a director of the company and publisher of the New Outlook. He said to his knowledge no one in the company had participated in the market activity of the stock and ascribed its fluctuations to the struggle between two unnamed brokerage houses to secure a majority of the floating supply.

McCall said he expected Walter Kilvert, president of the company, and D. G. Robins, secretary, to appear voluntarily for questioning tomorrow.

McCall said he had traced telephone calls recommending the stock to prospective purchasers to a financial tipping agency in Boston and had asked the Massachusetts authorities to investigate. Reports to him from Boston, he said, indicated the persons operating the agency had abandoned their office and had the telephone discontinued.

JUDGE QUESTIONS STATE INSURANCE LAW'S LEGALITY

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Circuit Judge John M. Niehaus of Peoria today filed with the Illinois Supreme court an answer to mandamus proceedings brought in the Peoria Life Insurance case and contended that the law giving the state director of insurance power to appoint receivers is unconstitutional.

Director Ernest Palmer brought the suit when Judge Niehaus insisted upon appointing co-receivers. Niehaus said that he refused to recognize Palmer's authority but had followed his suggestion that Charles V. O'Hern of Peoria be named. The judge made George Shurtleff a co-receiver.

Niehaus argued that if the old director of the former department of trade and commerce had power to name insurance receivers the legislature did not transfer such power to Palmer when the department of insurance was created this year.

Weirton Steel Company to Open Additional Mills

Steubenville, O., Dec. 19.—(AP)—J. C. Williams, president of the Weirton Steel company, announced today that the Steubenville works of the company are operating on full schedules and that additional mills will be placed in operation at the Weirton, W. Va., works of the company within 10 days. Williams said that orders received in the last four days promise a stepping up in operations during January and February.

Work, Wages Drop a Little —Miss Perkins

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—Decreases in employment and pay rolls amounting to an estimated loss of 287,000 workers and $9,000,000 in weekly pay envelopes between October and November were announced today by Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, in making public figures up to Nov. 15.

Employment in manufacturing industries decreased 3.5 per cent, a drop equalled only in 1929 during the last ten years, and pay rolls declined 6.2 per cent between October and November, a drop greater than in any similar period in the last decade.

As compared with November of last year, however, employment was 20.2 per cent greater and pay rolls 30.3 larger.

Expects Upturn in January.

Miss Perkins said that the November decline had been anticipated and that further decreases might be expected in December, and possibly in January, due to temporary inventory layoffs at the beginning of the new year. An upward trend should be manifest, she maintained, before the end of January.

"I looked for a falling off in September, and again in October and was happily disappointed, but now it has come," Miss Perkins said. "These declines in factory employment and pay rolls mark the first decreases to occur in either of these items since March. Decreases in employment and pay rolls between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15 have been reported each year since 1923, with the exception of 1925.

"The loss in employment in the manufacturing industries is estimated at 234,000 with an estimate of 53,000 additional in the manufacturing group.

2,500,000 Jobs Since March.

"The decline in employment in November places the estimated number of workers returned to employment in the industries covered at approximately 2,500,000 since March. The decrease in weekly disbursements in November brings the total estimated gain in weekly pay roll since March to approximately $61,000,000."

The extent of the falling off in both employment and pay rolls, however, was frankly characterized as "significant" by Miss Perkins.

"I could say it was because of the great increases which have occurred in previous months, continuous since March, but I don't feel justified in saying that," Miss Perkins declared. "In part, of course, that is true. Part of the loss also is attributable to normal seasonal declines."

HENRY C. LYTTON FORMALLY NAMED HEAD OF 'THE HUB'

The election of Henry C. Lytton as president of "The Hub" clothing store was made a matter of record yesterday by the board of directors. Mr. Lytton at the age of 87 now fills the post left vacant by the death of his son, George Lytton. Other officers, Ernest Gluck, vice president, and Winfred S. Giles, secretary and treasurer, were reelected.

The position of chairman of the board, formerly held by Henry C. Lytton, will be left vacant until the next meeting of the stockholders.

U. S. Treasury Asks Bids on 100 Million Bill Issue

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Morgenthau today invited bids on $100,000,000 of 91-day treasury bills to be sold on discount basis to highest bidders. The bills will be dated Dec. 27 and mature March 28. Tenders will be received at federal reserve banks up to 2 p. m. eastern standard time, Friday, Dec. 22.

General Foods Drops Plan to Enter Liquor Business

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 19.—The General Foods corporation announced today that it had discontinued negotiations on a proposal that it enter the liquor business. C. M. Chester, president, said that the proposal had been submitted recently to the directors.

Crops Worth 4 Billions; Exceed 1932

Valuation of the 1933 crop, as estimated by the department of agriculture on Dec. 1, aggregated $4,076,537,000 this year, or nearly $1,200,000,000 in excess of the return in 1932. Revised figures gave the value of the 1932 crop as $2,879,517,000, and that of 1931 as $4,102,354,000.

A total of 327,324,000 acres was harvested, against 389,483,000 acres last year, reflecting the effect of the government's plowing up of the cotton acreage and also the heavy losses as the result of drought in the main grain belt.

The aggregate yield of grains was the smallest in many years, the total production of wheat, corn, oats, rye, and barley being 3,757,000,000 bushels, compared with 5,241,000,000 bushels last season. The wheat crop of 527,000,000 bushels fell nearly 100,000,000 bushels below normal domestic requirements and showed a reduction of 217,00,000 bushels from 1932.

Corn Crop Below Needs.

Indicated yield of corn was raised 40,000,000 bushels as compared with the preliminary returns, but is the smallest, with two exceptions, since 1903. The crop was placed at 2,330,000,000 bushels, or about 350,000,000 bushels below normal domestic requirements. The oats crop of 722,000,000 bushels is the smallest since 1897 and around 400,000,000 bushels under the normal domestic disappearance.

Yields of practically all grains were increased slightly as compared with the preliminary figures, and the revision of the 1932 crops also brought higher figures.

Grain traders generally regarded the report as somewhat bearish, but felt that the change in this year's harvest was not sufficient to have any lasting effect on the market.

Only Part of Farm Income.

The final crop values, said the department, are not to be confused with estimates of farm income, since they take no account of the value of feed crops for use on farms where produced, and exclude such important items as live stock and live stock products, from which more than half of the total farm income is derived.

The report also eliminated benefit payments being disbursed by the AAA under its various adjustment programs, which are expected to reach about $300,000,000 for the year. In this total are included payments of $158,000,000 to cotton farmers, $102,000,000 to wheat farmers, $25,000,000 to tobacco growers, and $23,000,000 to corn-hog growers. The AAA also has spent $11,000,000 in butter purchases to stabilize the price of that commodity.

MAKERS OF TIRES AGREE ON CODE; SQUABBLE ENDS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Rubber tire manufacturers, at loggerheads for two months, suddenly agreed late today upon a code for the industry. Representatives of 28 companies attached their signatures to the agreement after a conference with NRA officials. It was announced more signatures were expected. Recovery Administrator Johnson said the code would be sent to President Roosevelt for approval, probably some time this week.

Three of the "Big Four" of the industry—the U. S. Rubber company, the Firestone Tire and Rubber company and the B. F. Goodrich company—were represented among the signatures. The NRA announced the agreement of the fourth, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, awaits the return of President P. W. Litchfield from California to Akron, O.

What the code contained, however, remained undisclosed and Deputy Administrator A. L. Kress, in whose charge it was placed, said its provisions would not be made public until it had been approved by the President.

CHICAGO GRAIN BOARD TO CLOSE NEXT SATURDAY

Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday voted to close on next Saturday, and also for the Christmas holiday on Monday. It was said to be unlikely that it will be closed on the Saturday preceding the New Year holiday because accounts in December grains must be settled.

Winnipeg grain exchanges will be open Saturday but will be closed Monday and Tuesday.

Chicago Board of Trade dues for 1934 will remain at $300, the same as for 1933. Directors at their meeting yesterday are understood to have gone over their budget for 1934 and adopted it.

Two Roads Report Income Below November Last Year

Net operating income of the Union Pacific for November was $1,884,229, compared with $2,120,695 for the same month a year ago, the road reported yesterday. The Kansas City Southern's November net operating income was $85,763, compared with $86,526 a year ago.

BUTTER BUYING BY U. S. FAILS; COST MILLIONS

Boosts Stocks Until Prices Crash.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Now that the federal government has withdrawn from its latest and possibly its greatest failure to stabilize a commodity market—the story can be told. It is the story of pegging butter prices, and the losses of millions of dollars to the largest single industry in the nation—the dairy industry—a toll that is spelling ruin to thousands of farmers and to business men in the industry which accounts for more income annually than the steel industry, the auto industry, or the combined cotton and grain industry.

As the dairymen this week are watching stocks of butter piled higher than in many years past, while prices have dropped in two weeks to the lowest December cash price [15¾ cents for fresh firsts at Chicago] in thirty-five years, they are reflecting that it is all the result of insistence by organized dairy lobbies in Washington that the government repeat the price pegging which demoralized the wheat and cotton markets of the nation in 1929 and 1930 under the old farm board.

Butterfat Prices Plunge.

Encouraged by rosy promises of high butter prices from the government early in the fall, farmers obtained 22 to 25 cents a pound for their butterfat. This week they are getting but 8 to 10 cents in Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, and other heavy producing areas. And the buyers of their product are suffering losses of 5 to 7 million dollars on the Chicago market alone by being obliged to sell at 15 and 16 cents butter they bought earlier for 18 to 25 cents and placed in storage while the government dangled an artificial price before the industry in New York, Chicago, and on the Pacific coast.

As a result of insistent demands by leading dairy organizations in Washington the farm adjustment administration created in September a Dairy Marketing corporation. Funds were supplied by Uncle Sam to buy some 75,000,000 pounds of butter on the open market. The butter was to be repurchased as needed by the Federal Surplus Relief corporation to feed the needy families of the nation during the winter, and any losses incurred would be made up from a fund to be raised by imposing a processing tax on butterfat by the AAA early in 1934.

Coöps Loaned Money.

Prior to this the AAA made a half million dollars available to several coöperatives, the Land o' Lakes Creameries of Minnesota, the dairy and poultry coöperatives of the east and the Pacific coast. They entered the open markets, boosting butter prices in October from 20 to 23 cents for extras, and pegged the price of standard grade butter at 21 cents.

On Oct. 27 the federally financed Dairy Marketing corporation took up the pegging program. Farmers of the nation began milking every available cow. Cheese and evaporated milk factories, finding here an assured price and their own commodity markets glutted, closed down and the milk was separated and churned at a rapidly mounting rate. At the same time, by boosting retail fresh milk prices in city markets the AAA caused a curtailing in milk consumption and the milk companies began churning the overproduction into butter.

Buying Program Forced.

According to those in charge of the government operations it had been intended to quietly purchase some 2 or 3 million pounds of butter weekly. But the industry, through both manufacturers of butter and lobbyists for farmers, urged the government to hold up the price, and buying became heavier in November in nearly every butter market of the nation.

The average purchases ran between 750,000 and 1,000,000 pounds per day. On one day the total ran to nearly 1½ million pounds. Still the receipts of butter continued to mount. H. C. Darger, formerly manager of the Blue Valley Creamery of Chicago and experienced in industry affairs, followed instructions from Washington to "BUY, BUY—BUY."

Records on the Chicago Mercantile exchange for the period show what resulted. Five times as much butter was offered as could be bought. So the marketing corporation took cars at random, without knowing whose offerings were being taken.

In the country farmers by the thousands were bringing their cream to market for 22 to 23 cents a pound, and

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 19.—The performance of the list bond market today was very largely a matter of minor changes. United States government bonds and domestic corporation issues were irregularly lower and foreign loans irregularly higher. Trading, however, was more active, aggregating $18,013,500 compared with $10,592,000 on Wednesday.

Long term United States government bonds finished down 7-32ds to up 5-32ds point in a turnover of $3,651,500. Some tax selling was in evidence with the usual attendant switching operations.

Two $1,000,000 blocks of treasury, 3¼s and 4¼@3¼s changed hands at losses of 5-32ds, and 4-32ds of a point, respectively.

Transit Issues Advance.

New York Rapid Transit issues provided a feature of the corporation group, ruling strong on the renewal of discussions of transit unification with the prospect of increased fares. Obligations of the Interborough were up ⅝ of a point to 2 points, Manhattan railway issues were unchanged to up 1¼; and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit 6s gained half a point.

Railroad bonds were the weakest of the domestic corporation group, with the industrials next, and a fair percentage of the utility issues pointing higher on the day. Many active rail issues were down a point or more.

German Issues Rally.

In the foreigns, German bonds showing rallying tendencies. Dutch East Indies loans finished unchanged to 1¼ higher, and United Kingdom issues mounted 1⅝ to 2 points. Italian issues closed strong.

French government and municipal loans closed off 1½ to ⅛ point higher as the franc eased slightly. Colombian bonds were about the weakest of the Latin American group.

American Zinc.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate any information you could give me on American Zinc, Lead and Smelting company.—P. H.

Answer: This $7,700,000 concern produces lead and zinc and manufactures sulphuric acid and zinc oxide. Mines are in Arkansas, Illinois, Missouri, Oklahoma, Tennessee, and Wisconsin.

Considering the state of the market for zinc and lead, operations have been favorable during the last three years. Profit of $82,000, or 17 cents per common share, for the third quarter of 1933 brought profit for the first nine months to $206,000, or 59 per cent of preferred dividends, against loss of $40,000 for the corresponding 1932 period. Sales were $4,115,000, against $3,120,000 for the first nine months of 1932.

1932	$3,884,000	$ 65,000*	$2.64*
1931	5,339,000	212,000	1.35*
1930	6,638,000	191,000	1.46*
1929	8,258,000	588,000	.53*

*Loss.

At the close of 1932 current assets, including $424,000 cash, totaled $2,384,000, against total current liabilities of $201,000. There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 77,328 shares of $25 par $6 dividend preferred and 200,000 shares of $1 par common.

Nothing has been paid on the preferred since Oct. 1, 1930. Unpaid accumulated dividends on the stock aggregated $69 a share on Oct. 1, 1933. Nothing has ever been paid on the common.

Since the close of 1931 the company has retired about 3,000 preferred shares. The prospect for the common stock does not look any too promising. There is a heavy load of preferred stock and accumulated dividends preceding it. The company has operated at a profit during only five of the last twelve years, and of these five years only one witnessed any earnings applicable to the common stock. It appears that should operations become firmly reëstablished on a profitable basis some sort of reorganization will be necessary to take care of preferred dividends.

Royal Dutch.

Investors' Guide: Would like to have a complete list of the officers and directors of Royal Dutch.—S. S.

Answer: Directors of Royal Dutch company are Walter B. Burton Baldry, J. B. Aug. Kessler, J. E. F. De Kok, Fred B. Lloyd, and H. Jacobson. Sir H. W. A. Deterding is general managing director. De Kok and Kessler are the managing directors, and H. Loudon [chairman], G. C. B. Dunlop [secretary], C. J. K. van Aalst, J. Ludon, Aug. Philips, and J. Th. Erb constitute the board of commissaries.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Cotton goods were firmer today, with trading light. Curtailment of production is forecast for January following a 25 per cent cut this month. Rayon gray cloths are firmer and slightly higher. Wool goods markets are seasonally quiet. Burlaps firmed on exchange conditions. Shipment business in good volume has been booked thus far in December.

STOCKS EASE ON SALES TO SET UP INCOME TAX LOSS

Year End Selling Causes Mild Recessions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 19.—Year-end selling to establish income tax losses began to show up in the stock market returns today. Utility shares and a long list of secondary issues now ruling around their lows for the year were the chief victims of liquidation of this order, according to closeup observers.

Losses were generally confined to a point or so, and in some of the cheaper issues were fractional. Otherwise the market was a drab affair, with most groups backing and filling together within a narrow range. Net price changes were irregular, with minus signs in the ascendancy.

New York Tractions Rise.

New York traction stocks again distinguished themselves by their activity in a generally draggy market. Brooklyn Manhattan rising some 2 points and Interborough bettering its figures by half as much. The actual start of unification negotiations was the big reason for the outstanding strength of the traction group.

Improvement in carloadings, as indicated by advance individual reports, failed to exert any stimulating influence on the railroad section. Most of the trading favorites of the group, like New York Central, Union Pacific, and Lackawanna, closed with slight losses. Atchison scored a slight gain.

Oils were likewise in the doldrums in spite of a general now understanding that the companies are now making money.

Traders Still Nervous.

The market was relieved of repetition of breaks in Atlas Tack or other stocks supposed to be in the same category, but was obviously still somewhat nervous over the recent happenings and the investigation.

There was some demand at intervals for motor shares, notably General Motors and Chrysler, but neither was able to make much headway. Auburn gave up more than a point on profit taking.

Steel shares were bulwarked by the further upturn in operations and both United States Steel and Bethlehem managed to score small gains.

There was scattered pressure against the liquor issues, National Distillers dropping about a point.

COTTON HIGHER; PRICES MOVE IN NARROW RANGE

A fair business developed in cotton yesterday and prices moved within a narrow range. Offerings were absorbed on weak spots and there was a little taking of profits on the advances.

The close on futures in Chicago was 1 to 4 points net higher and in other markets 4 to 13 points higher, mostly 5 to 7 points. Spot cotton in New York advanced 10 points to a level of 10.15 cents; New Orleans, 5 points to 10.00 cents; Houston, 15 points at 9.95 cents, and Galveston, 10 points to 9.90 cents. Liverpool was 1 to 2 cents lower. Prices:

EGGS DECLINE; BUTTER HIGHER; POTATOES DULL

Butter and egg futures failed to hold early strength on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, droppins under heavy pressure near the close. Butter closed unchanged to ¾c higher and eggs ⅝@⅞c lower. March Idaho potatoes opened for the year at $1.90.

New buying was prominent in eggs at the start. The market opened lower but rallied later. The support slackened near the end of the first hour and selling suddenly came in with a rush. Prices tumbled. News was fairly favorable, the four markets receiving 16,200 cases more than last year and receipts dropping under last year, although heavier than last week.

Butter news was bearish but the market was well supported early, largely as a result of strength in the cash market. The four markets reported a heavy movement of stocks into storage, increasing the surplus 600,000 pounds. Profit-taking on the recent rise brought the reaction.

Potatoes reflected a somewhat optimistic attitude as regards the future, at present apparent in the trade. The crop is short and shipments have been heavy. However, the cash market is dull with prices around $1.60. Sales: Butter, 121 cars; eggs, 167 cars; potatoes, 4 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 3 cars; eggs, 11 cars. Prices:

HOGS GO LOWEST SINCE JANUARY ON BIG RECEIPTS

Process Tax, Corn Loans Cause Selling.

The largest hog receipts since March, 1932, yesterday drove prices to the lowest point since the middle of last January. Top sales were at $3.25, and the general average was at $3.10. Arrivals totaled 52,000, including more than 20,000 by truck. This sudden influx had not been expected.

Various explanations were offered by farmers accompanying stock to market. Many sold hogs to obtain Christmas money, others to escape the increase in the processing tax, which is to be raised to $1.50 on Jan. 1, but the chief cause of the large gain in receipts was the unfavorable ratio between corn and hog prices.

Corn Loans Bar Feeding.

Through loans on corn the government has made it almost impossible for the farmer to buy the grain at a price where it could be profitably fed to hogs, and this has caused a liquidation of hogs, many of the farmers here yesterday said.

Reports early yesterday that the government was buying hogs at strong to 5 cents higher prices also accelerated the movement by truck from nearby sections.

Large local packers were aggressive on the decline yesterday, Armour, Swift and Wilson absorbing 37,000 hogs, including direct shipments. Only 4,000 were left at the close. Federal buyers took less than 4,000. The smaller packing houses and city butchers bought about 11,000.

Cattle Market Improves.

Some improvement was found in the cattle market yesterday, gains of 10 to 15 cents being recorded in midsession after a draggy forenoon. There was a better clearance for the big weights, which have been practically unsalable on some sessions lately, with the general price level steady in stock exceeding 1,200 pounds in weight.

Mixed yearling steers and heifers averaging 862 to 903 pounds topped the market at $6.50. Again, the small proportion of the run selling above $6 cut little figure in the general market. Poorer grades of beef steers ranged down to $3.

Conditions in the lamb trade were improved by higher receipts yesterday. Top sales were advanced to $7.40, highest since last Thursday, with the bulk of offerings changing hands on a strong to slightly higher basis. Combined receipts at the seven leading markets yesterday at 37,000 showed a decrease of 25 per cent compared with a week ago.

PACKERS BUY LARD; PRICES EASY; BELLIES UNCHANGED

Packers were good buyers of lard on the break yesterday but the close was unchanged to 10 cents net lower, the distant months showing the greatest loss.

Cash lard was steady for regular at $4.52½, with loose 7½ cents lower to $4.25, and leaf 12½ cents lower to $4.25. Liverpool lard declined 6d on spot and 9d on futures.

There were export clearances of 352,260 pounds of lard and 275,000 pounds of bacon.

Trade in bellies futures was limited and prices unchanged. Spot prices were also steady, the latter being 5.50 cents. Prices:

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Raw sugar continued quiet today and no sales were reported. Spot prices were unchanged at 3.19 cents and it was believed that sugar could be obtained at this level and even perhaps a point or two less, while Philippines for December-January shipment continued at 3.15 cents, with indications that here, too, bids of less would have been accepted. Futures were a little easier, closing net unchanged to 1 point lower. Sales were 10,750 tons, including about half in exchanges. Prices follow:

Refined was unchanged locally at 4.40 cents for fine granulated, but both eastern and western beets were reduced 10 points to the basis of 4.10 and this led to expectations of some downward revision here. Demand was light.

ANOTHER STATE JOINS TOBACCO SALES HOLIDAY

Growers Gather Today for Price Boost Parley.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 19.—(AP)—Burley tobacco growers from Kentucky and four other states will come to the state capitol here tomorrow to consider means of increasing the revenue from their money crop.

The meeting follows proclamations yesterday by the governors of Kentucky, Virginia, and Tennessee calling for tobacco sales "holidays" and a similar proclamation issued by the governor of North Carolina today.

State Senator Elect James H. Thompson of Paris, who will preside at the meeting today, said its purpose is to acquaint the tobacco farmer with the acreage reduction program of the agricultural adjustment administration of the federal government, designed to boost the price level through production control.

Gov. Ruby Laffoon of Kentucky will make a brief talk and introduce Gov. Hill McAlister of Tennessee, who also will speak. Burley tobacco growers are expected here from Kentucky, Tennessee, Ohio, Missouri, and Indiana.

Holiday in North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 19.—(AP)—The burley tobacco marketing holiday spread to North Carolina today when Gov. Ehringhaus pledged this state's cooperation with the movement in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Although the state has only one market selling this type of tobacco—Asheville—Gov. Ehringhaus, in proclaiming a voluntary holiday in effect, declared it seemed advisable to cooperate pending consideration by government authorities of the present situation and the formulation of plans for its improvement.

No West Virginia Holiday.

Charleston, W. Va., Dec. 19.—(AP)—West Virginia tobacco markets will remain open for a time at least. Gov. Kump said "no request" has been made of me to declare a tobacco holiday, and the matter has not received any consideration."

I AM READY TO TRAIN SOME MEN TO MAKE MONEY IN THIS BUSINESS THAT HAS MADE SO MUCH FOR ME!

My name is T. N. Lind. For years I was a tool and die-maker, and they said I was a good one. But in all mechanical work, while wages run high per day, there are many unproductive days. I quit in boom times and got in this business without a lick of selling ability about it. Found I worked. I studied and did the best I could. Found I can doing better month by month. At the outset I did not make big money, but for the last two years my yearly income. It is seldom that I make under $4,000 a month—and I know that this position is permanent—and that I can keep on adding to my earnings. Not only that, but have helped many men here get into money—and elevate their mode of living, and get good cars and do things for their families that every honest man wants to do!

The company I am with is very powerful, and it helps the individual man more than any other business I believe you could name. It will do you good to meet the dozens of real winners we have up here. But first of all, if you are honest, earnest and can come with good references, and are a genuine worker looking for something permanent instead of just a lift over a bad spot, then give me an hour and a half of your time and I will go into this thoroughly. I want you to know all about it, and I want you to know that I am willing to give you my time and thought without cost or obligation on your part. Come here at 2:00 p. m., Wednesday, Dec. 20—or another time that will come more easily for you—and I will see you in Room 215 at 1046 Wilson avenue, just east of Broadway. Ask for T. N. Lind.

Miscellaneous.

GET INTO INCOME WITHOUT DELAY. DON'T WAIT FOR THE NEW YEAR!

A few more men are going to be selected in this business so that they will be in earnings before New Year's. These men will make from $135.00 up to $225.00 by the end of January. In February, the short month, they should make $250.00 to possibly $300. For 1934 these men ought to make from $3,250.00 to $4,800.00—and some might make more. Now and then a man goes outside of all averages and does the exceptional. We have had men who have made as much as over $250.00 their first two weeks—and there are men nationally in this business who are making from $750.00 up to and even beyond $1,500.00 a month—and they started perhaps with less expert assistance than you will have. But, like them, you will come in with character reference and a determination to work. No investment or deposit required—nothing to buy—no seasons or layoffs.

We do not want—cannot take—the man on relief, the floater or part-time or tide-over type of men. This big international business leads worldwide in its field. It has abundant working capital. It is a protector of the rights of its men—a maker of men. Therefore, we

SOLUTION TO DISCUSSING THE BURLINGAME CASE

The twins did actually marry each other. Of course, they were not married to each other. The twins were ministers of the gospel. They could, of course, have been men in other positions authorized to perform the marriage ceremony. Get it? March is the name of a town in England, approximately 120 miles from London.
